A Grateful "THANKS"

By Lester Spell, Jr., D.V.M.
Commissioner
Agriculture & Commerce

My family and I would like to extend our grateful "THANKS" to the people of our great state for their support and for the many wonderful friendships we have made over the years. It has been an honor and privilege to serve as your Commissioner of Agriculture & Commerce since January, 1996.

On January 5th, Cindy Hyde-Smith will be sworn in as Mississippi's Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce. This is indeed a history-making event because our state has never had a woman serve as agriculture commissioner, and prior to this year's general election only two women had been elected to statewide offices. My staff and I have been working closely with Cindy to help ensure a smooth and seamless transition, and I am confident that she will do a great job for the people of the state and for the department. The next issue of the Mississippi Market Bulletin will feature Cindy and give you much more additional information about her and her family.

Also retiring will be two of my colleagues and friends who have worked with me these last sixteen years - Candy Houck, my wonderfully capable secretary who always has a smile on her face and in her voice, and Rickey Gray, Deputy Commissioner, my trusted friend whose counsel and administrative skills have been immeasurably valuable to me. For their help and support and for their encouragement, I will be forever appreciative. Candy and Rickey love to travel, and both have grandchildren so I imagine their schedules will be busy even in retirement.

The Department of Agriculture and Commerce has undergone a great transformation since January, 1996, and is frequently used as an example of how a state agency should be managed to best serve the public in the most cost-effective manner. Early reorganization of the department, cross training of personnel, and full implementation of the latest computer technology, all coupled with a force of motivated and dedicated employees have made this possible. I offer my thanks to our dedicated employees for the efficient and professional manner in which they perform their duties. I could not have asked for a greater group of fellow employees. My family and I wish the very best to each of them and to their families.

Through these sixteen years my family members have all been great campaigners and encouragers. For their love, unwavering support, and encouragement, I am thankful. Most of all, I thank GOD for opening doors of opportunity in my life. I have tried through the years to follow the example of one of my earliest mentors by helping those who truly needed help when no one else could or would help them and to do it with an unselfish spirit.

May GOD bless you and your family in the years ahead. "THANK YOU"
Lester Spell, Jr., D.V.M.

USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service Announces Sign-Up Period For Conservation Stewardship Program

By Justin Fritscher
Public Affairs
USDA-NRCS Mississippi

USDA's Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) today announced that the ranking period cut-off date for the Conservation Stewardship Program (CSP) is January 13, 2012. Producers interested in CSP should submit applications to their local NRCS office by the deadline so that their applications can be considered during the first ranking period of 2012.

"CSP is one of our most popular conservation programs, and we expect to receive many applications," NRCS Chief Dave White said. "I encourage all farmers and ranchers who are interested in applying to contact their local NRCS office as soon as possible so they can meet the deadline."

CSP is offered in all 50 states, and the Pacific and Caribbean areas through continuous sign-ups. The program provides many conservation benefits including improvement of water and soil quality, wildlife habitat enhancements and adoption of conservation activities that address the effects of climate change. Eligible lands include cropland, pastureland, rangeland, nonindustrial private forest land and agricultural land under the jurisdiction of an Indian tribe.

A CSP self-screening checklist is available to help potential applicants determine if CSP is suitable for their operation. The checklist highlights basic information about CSP eligibility requirements, contract obligations and potential payments. It is available from local NRCS offices and on the CSP Web

As part of the CSP application process, applicants will work with NRCS field personnel to complete the resource inventory using a Conservation Measurement Tool (CMT). The CMT determines the conservation performance for existing and new conservation activities. The applicant's conservation performance will be used to determine eligibility, ranking and payments.

In 2010 alone, nearly 21,000 applicants enrolled in CSP, putting additional conservation on 25.2 million acres, about the size of the state of Kentucky, to improve water and soil quality, enhance wildlife habitat and address the effects of climate change.

Visit the NRCS National Web site, and connect with an NRCS office near you.

Avenue of Magnolias

Memorials & Honorariums

For over 40 years, thousands of Mississippians have participated in the Keep Mississippi Beautiful "Avenue of Magnolias" Program. Through their contributions, they have honored or remembered someone dear with a beautiful magnolia tree to be enjoyed and appreciated for many years to come. Founded in 1961, Keep Mississippi Beautiful is a non-profit organization made up of a cross section of concerned citizens dedicated to making Mississippi a more beautiful state for residents and visitors to enjoy. Keep Mississippi Beautiful's major project is the "Avenue of Magnolias", which calls for planting at strategic locations leading into Mississippi of the Magnolia Grandiflora, the state tree and flower.

Funding for the Avenue of Magnolias is through private contributions. A twenty-five dollar ($25) contribution will dedicate a specific newly-planted tree in honor or memory of your designee. Your contributions will not only help you take part in keeping Mississippi beautiful, but also to remember someone you love and respect. A permanent record of each contribution will be on display in Mississippi Department of Archives and History. Don't hesitate. Contribute toward planting a tree for someone you love today. You can contribute to the "Avenue of Magnolias" by completing and mailing the attached form. Thank you for your help in making Mississippi a more beautiful state in which to live and travel.

ADVERTISING GUIDELINES

The Mississippi Market Bulletin is published on the 1st and 15th of each month by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce. The Mississippi Market Bulletin is an important way for the Department to disseminate news and information about issues affecting Mississippi's agriculture industry and the Department's operations.

Through its classified advertising section, the Bulletin provides a forum for Mississippi residents to buy and sell agricultural related items while also giving statewide exposure to small farmers who might not normally have the economic resources for such widespread advertising. The Bulletin does not publish commercial or display ads and all items offered for sale must have been produced, raised, grown or operated on the seller's property. Businesses, corporations, dealerships, brokers or other commercial enterprises are not allowed to advertise in the Mississippi Market Bulletin.

Advertising rules and guidelines have been established for the Mississippi Market Bulletin in order to comply with regulations enforced by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce and to maintain the objectives of the publication. The staff of the Mississippi Market Bulletin reserves the right to edit, revise or reject any advertisement.

The Mississippi Market Bulletin assumes no responsibility for any notice appearing in the Bulletin nor for any transaction resulting from published notices. Advertisers are cautioned that it is against the law to misrepresent any product offered for sale in public notices or advertisements carried in any publication that is delivered by the United States Postal Service.

- In order to advertise in the Mississippi Market Bulletin you must be a subscriber. To place an ad, you must include your name, mailing address and account number that the subscription is listed under on each ad that you submit (this information will not be printed). Each subscriber is allowed to advertise two ads in the Bulletin, listing one ad per category.
- All listings must be agriculture related (raised, grown, produced or operated on your farm). At the top of your ad, write the category that the ad should be listed under. We reserve the right to edit, revise or reject each ad. Please print or type your ad.
- There is a 30-word limit for classified advertisements, this includes: price (on the item you are selling), your city, county and telephone number or name and complete address must be included in the ad if you do not list a telephone number. MSU Offers Therapy For Injured Animals

By Keri Collins Lewis
MSU Ag Communications

A whirlpool bath, oatmeal hair rinse, blow-dry and massage may sound like a day at the spa, but it is a physical rehabilitation session for Curly, a patient at Mississippi State University's College of Veterinary Medicine.

The Animal Health Center operated by CVM is one of a handful of veterinary programs across the United States with the qualified staff and financial support to operate a rehabilitation clinic.

"We're fortunate to have a certified veterinary rehabilitationist and the help of generous clients who have a passion for these special animals," said Dr. Jennifer Wardlaw, assistant professor and small-animal surgeon. "For patients suffering from chronic conditions, such as arthritis or dysplasia, or animals with acute injuries that have left them partially immobile, physical rehabilitation can be helpful."

Curly, a labradoodle with a disc herniation that left him unable to move his hind legs, is a regular patient at the clinic. His custom-fitted, two-wheeled cart elevates his hind legs so he can pull himself with his front legs.

"His owner drives him over from Alabama on Monday, and he stays through Wednesday," said third-year veterinary student Mel Whitfield. "He spends from 17 to 34 minutes on the underwater treadmill. I take him outside with his cart, and we play Frisbee. He jumps up and down and loves to run. He has so much energy."

Whitfield said the goal of these various therapies is to keep Curly's muscles from atrophying and to maintain his cardiovascular health.

"He has five or six sessions a day and gets more interaction whenever I have free time," she said. "I like to come down here and spend time with him whenever I can."

After one such rehabilitation session with Whitfield, Curly rested on a plush dog bed and looked like any other dog. But when rehabilitationist Ruby Lynn Carter walked into the center, Curly scrambled – dragging his hind limbs – to greet her. She and Whitfield put him in his harness and cart, and in moments he was running from person to person in the clinic.

Wardlaw, whose commitment to the physical rehabilitation unit resulted in restructuring office spaces to better accommodate the necessary equipment, said the animals are very motivated to participate in the program.

"If they weren't motivated, the rehabilitation wouldn't happen," she said. "They love Ruby Lynn, they love treats, and we try to make it fun for them. Their owners see that they enjoy it, and that is why we have several clients who come to us regularly."

Framed portraits of these patients hang on the wall. They include Lucky, who is nearly 17 years old, and Jack, a black Lab who uses a wheelchair for mobility after a fibrocartilaginous embolism. Third-year CVM student Kelley Comer explained the condition as a stroke to the spine that left Jack with partial use of his legs.

"Jack's owners, Dr. Bill Moore and his wife Caren, have donated an endless pool with a hoist so our bigger dogs, like Jack, can more easily use water therapies and swim," Wardlaw said. "When we have larger dogs such as Great Danes or Rhodesian Ridgebacks that need rehabilitation, having the hoist will be better for them and for the therapists and students. The deeper pool will help immensely."

In addition to on-site therapy, the staff at the Animal Health Center's rehabilitation clinic provides cart fittings, orthotic brace fittings, nutritional counseling and customized plans for home rehabilitation.

"While many of our patients come from the MSU clinic, we take patient referrals from veterinarians across the southeast," Wardlaw said. "We can design programs for owners to manage at home in case they can't come here for rehabilitation."

For special-needs dogs like Curly, Lucky and Jack, physical rehabilitation offers an improved quality of life.

"Seven years ago, people didn't know that physical rehabilitation for animals existed. Now that we're aware of how much it can benefit humans, it's easier to see the parallels in what it offers animals," Wardlaw said.

Junior FFA Retreat

By Harrison Lang, President
Mississippi FFA

Recently the Mississippi FFA held their annual Junior FFA retreat at the C.M. Brewer FFA Center in Raymond, Mississippi. In attendance were over ninety Junior FFA members from across the State of Mississippi, ranging from sixth to ninth grade.

Junior and senior FFA officers had the opportunity to share leadership and teambuilding skills through the theme "Fear is not a Factor." Not only did members have the opportunity to learn about these diverse topics to take back to their chapters, but they also had the opportunity to meet other members from across the state.

State officers also requested members bring snack food items to donate to the Blair E. Batson Children's Hospital in Jackson. The service project was a huge success with over 1,800 snack items donated. The snacks will be distributed to hospital patients in need of the items.

As state FFA President, I consider the retreat a huge success and feel that Junior FFA members had fun and had the opportunity to learn a lot to take back to their local FFA chapters. I know I thoroughly enjoyed having the opportunity to get to know so many young members from across our state.

This retreat is just one example of how the FFA is rising up to help prepare young people for the future whether it is in agriculture or not. As you can see, the FFA still holds the same mission it was founded upon in 1928, which is to prepare future generations for the challenges of feeding a growing population.

If you have any questions regarding the Mississippi FFA feel free to contact me, Harrison Lang, President of the Mississippi FFA Association at 601-951-2450 or email at halang@bellsouth.net.
