State's Pecan Crop, Prices Look Good

By Keri Collins Lewis
MSU Ag Communications

With prices and demand for the state's pecans high, this year's predicted average to above-average yield is good news for growers.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates the 2012 crop will yield 2.5 million pounds of pecans. While this yield is down significantly from the 5 million pounds harvested in 2011, it is more in line with the state's historical average of 2.42 million pounds.

David Ingram, plant pathologist with the Mississippi State University Central Research and Extension Center in Raymond, said higher prices encouraged people to harvest what they can.

"I think the reason our yield is going to be slightly higher than average this year is that we have a tremendous number of small orchards, 100 trees or less, and those people have gotten interested in trying to pick up those pecans and sell them," Ingram said.

Ingram said harvest for this year's crop is just beginning, but the quality looks good.

"November is usually our heaviest harvest month," he said. "Sometimes harvest will run into December, and if it stays dry, pecans will still be falling off in January."

Ingram said pecans are grown all over the state, but most are grown along the I-20 corridor and into the Delta. Growers avoided damage from Hurricane Isaac, which blew through the Southeast in late August.

"Through the years, hurricanes on the Gulf destroyed a lot of pecan trees in the southern part of the state," he said. "The two biggest growers are just south of Raymond and around Clarksdale."

Pecan prices have been increasing over the past three to four years.

"China and India are buying a lot of our U.S. pecan crop," Ingram said. "We've convinced them they're a healthy food to eat."

John Michael Riley, agricultural economist with MSU's Extension Service, said U.S. exports are projected to be up again this year to 64.63 million pounds, a 14 percent increase over 2011.

Mississippi's forecasted 2.5 million pounds is just under 1 percent of the U.S. production of 308.6 million pounds.

"The current forecast is also well short of last year's production of 5 million pounds - a 50 percent decrease, but last year's production was rather high compared to normal," Riley said.

Georgia remains the largest pecan grower, followed by the Southwestern states of Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Texas.

"The drought that plagued the Southwest last year helped push prices higher in 2011," Riley said. "The drought is still intact but is less severe in the Southwest and Georgia, so prices have fallen back from the first half of the year. They are currently in the neighborhood of $6 per pound shelled."

Riley said consumers anticipating holiday baking can expect to see prices rise late in the year as demand increases. Buy early to avoid the increase.

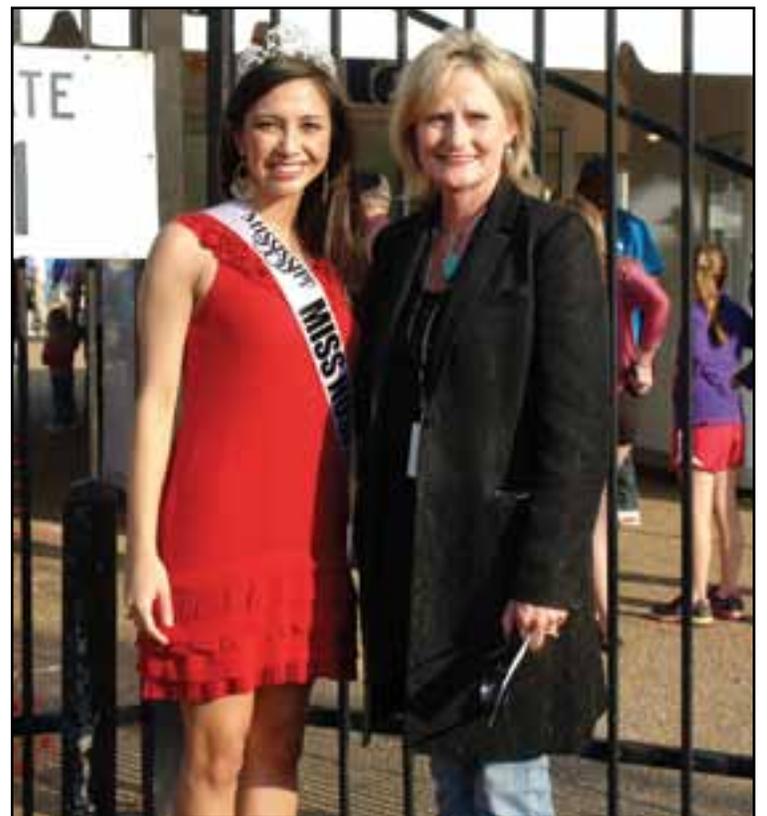

Randolph Smith, who has grown pecans for 35 years, leases his 450 acres of pecans to River Bend Pecan Farm. In-shell pecans are selling for $4.50 to $5.25 per pound, and shelled mammoth halves sell for $12.50 per pound.

"We've got a full crop, and the quality is good too," Smith said. "We're selling fresh pecans right off the tree and have five different varieties. The crop is early this year and available now."

Smith said their Mississippi pecans are available at the farm store in Raymond and at the Bass Pecan retail outlets in Lumberton and Canton.

153rd MS State Fair

Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce Cindy Hyde-Smith and Miss Hospitality 2012 Chandler Llana welcomed hundreds of fairgoers as they officially cut the ribbon for the opening of the 2012 Mississippi State Fair in Jackson on October 3. For 12 days, the combination of excellent weather, first rate entertainment, mouthwatering fair food, and exciting rides helped boost an attendance crowd of 656,298.

Beat egg white until foamy. Dip pecan halves in egg white, then gently press one into each ball. Bake at 375° for 10-12 minutes or until golden brown. Cool for 2 minutes before removing to wire racks. Yield: about 4 dozen.

World Champions Coming to Rankin County

By Cotton Yancey
Rankin County Multi-Purpose
Pavilion

The Rankin County Multi-Purpose Pavilion in Brandon, Mississippi, will play host to two of the most recognized multi-year champions in the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association (PRCA) and the Women's Professional Rodeo Association (WPRA).

Charmayne James, 11-time world champion barrel racer recently paid us a three day visit and shared her vast knowledge of horsemanship and barrel racing. Barrel racers of all ages and from all over the country showed up in Brandon on October 26-28 for Charmayne's barrel racing seminar/clinic.

Charmayne James, World Champion Barrel Racer.

Charmayne's record speaks volumes. In 1984, at the age of 14, she joined the WPRA and earned her first title as World Champion Barrel Racer. It was a title she continued to hold for the next 10 years. She earned National Finals Rodeo (NFR) qualifications for 19 consecutive years and was NFR average champion seven times. She was inducted into the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame in Fort Worth, Texas, in 1992 and won her 11th World Title in 2002.

Charmayne conducts barrel racing clinics nationwide that are booked years in advance. In fact, you can put October 25-27, 2013, on your calendar, because she will be back in 2013, giving the folks in this area another chance to benefit from all her years of success in and out of the arena.

On November 19-20, 2012, four-time Team Roping World Champion and 30-time Nationals Finals qualifier Allen Bach and his staff will hold a team roping clinic here at the Rankin County Multi-Purpose Pavilion in Brandon.

Allen Bach is known as one of the very best team roping trainers in the business. He has had students win world championships. Starting with youth rodeo all the way to pro rodeo, Allen has been a successful coach at all ages and levels. No matter what issues you might be having, he seems to know what to look for, how to fix the problem, and help you improve your roping so you can start cashing more checks.

Bringing world class champions and athletes like Charmayne James and Allen Bach is only part of the ongoing goal to establish quality annual events like these at the Rankin County Multi-Purpose Pavilion in Brandon. We are blessed and proud to have a history of great producers producing a variety of great events through the years such as 4-H Livestock Shows, High School Rodeos, Concerts, Dog Agility, Cowboy Mounted Shooting, Rankin County Riding Club, Little Britches Rodeo, Mississippi Western Horse Show Association, and some of the best barrel racing in the Southeast.

Visit the Rankin County website <http://www.rankincounty.org/MP/> for upcoming scheduled events. Thanks to all who consider the Rankin County Multi-Purpose Pavilion for their next event.

Equestrian Team Saddles up for Sixth Season at Mississippi College

By Andy Kanengiser
University News Coordinator
Office of Public Relations
Mississippi College

Horses with names like Stainless Steel, Highland Laddie, Forever Young, and Hale Bopp are a big part of Mississippi College's (MC) equestrian team.

The horses are among the favorites for riders on the MC squad that begins its sixth season this fall.

Another vital part of the team is new head coach Tina Davey. The 27-year-old California native is optimistic about prospects for a successful season with a fast-growing roster of 25 MC students in September. "We have a strong team this year made up of some fantastic riders," said Davey.

Davey is also pumped because Mississippi College will host an October 6 horse show on its home turf, Providence Hill Farm. All levels of competition will be showing from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. Team members will compete and be on hand to sell food and beverages to benefit Alex's Lemonade Stand, an organization fighting childhood cancer. Named for a young cancer patient Alex Scott, who died in 2004, the Pennsylvania-based organization has raised $55 million nationwide to battle childhood cancer in recent years.

"Come support the team and Alex's Lemonade Stand," Davey says. More information on the cause can be found by going to the website www.alexlemonade.org.

Returning riders, like MC seniors Leah Katynski of Orlando and Kathryn Cawthon of Brandon, junior Courtney Evans of Ridgeland, and sophomore Katherine Mooney of Jackson, are coming back on the heels of a successful 2011-2012 season. The MC team traveled to competition in states like Tennessee and Kentucky last season.

The team captain studying biology/pre-med on the Clinton campus, Mooney practically grew up riding at Providence Hill Farm. "She's a shoe-in for the regionals in the novice division," Davey said of the Jackson Academy graduate.

Katynski is MC's talented open division rider. Cawthon is likely to compete for a spot in the regionals next spring in the novice flat and over the fences division. After taking a semester off to study in London, Evans is expected to land in the regionals in the intermediate over the fences and flat division. She's a Madison-Ridgeland Academy graduate.

Newcomers who should make a difference include 2012 Pearl High graduate Rachel Wilson, an MC freshman, and Erica Reynolds of Keller, Texas, who will compete in the intermediate division.

The Mississippi College riders come from Florida, Mississippi, Texas, Tennessee, South Carolina, California, Alabama, Arkansas, and North Carolina. One of the team members is Sarah Yost who learned to ride in Kenya when she lived there with her parents on a mission trip.

Among the area riders on the MC squad this year is Wesley Perry of Clinton and Hannah Daly of Madison. Nursing student Natalie Angel of South Carolina is thrilled to be on the equestrian team for the third year in a row. "I love the girls, the horses, and the barns. It's therapeutic to ride and exercise and be with the horses."

Stephanie Brislin, a nursing major and rider from Ocean Springs, says she hopes to see many of her MC classmates supporting the team at the Providence Hill Farm show.

Members of MC's equestrian team also participated in a Mississippi horse show in Canton October 13-14 before they traveled to other states for more events later this year.
