Sweet Potato Growers Reap a Tasty Harvest

By Keri Collins Lewis
MSU Ag Communications

In spite of recent rains, the state's sweet potato growers have a lot to be excited about this harvest season.

"Growers set the majority of the crop back in late May and June under ideal conditions," said Stephen Meyers, sweet potato specialist with the Mississippi State University Extension Service. "We had good root set, which means the number of roots per plant has been good."

Although it takes longer to grow sweet potatoes to full size when there are a lot of roots, the time invested is worth it. Most of this year's crop so far is U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) No. 1 grade, which sells the best on the fresh market, Meyers said.

Yields per acre are averaging about 300 bushels per acre. The crop was 32 percent harvested by September 22, according to the USDA's September 23 Crop Progress and Condition Report.

MSU Extension agricultural economist Ken Hood said a 40-pound box of No. 1 grade sweet potatoes is bringing $17-18, which is up $2 per box over last year's price. Larger potatoes are also selling well.

"Jumbo-size potatoes are going for premium prices right now because they're scarce," Hood said. "That might change as the season goes on, because the longer they are in the ground the bigger they get. But a lot of people prefer the jumbos for home use because of their versatility."

Meyers said weeds are an issue every year because few herbicides can be used for control in this crop. Most growers pull weeds by hand twice a year.

"Insect pressure has been pretty light until recently, when we've seen an increase in army worms and cucumber beetles," he said. "End tip rot is a disease that shows up in storage, so we're keeping an eye out for it."

Wild animals have discovered an appetite for sweet potatoes, too.

"Deer are problematic for a number of our growers," he said. "They eat the foliage, but they know when the potatoes are ready, and the deer will start digging up the sweet potatoes. Wild hogs are becoming more of a problem as well."

Several Mississippi growers tried a new variety this year and so far are pleased with the results.

"We're seeing a lot more acres planted in a variety from Louisiana State University called Orleans," Meyers said. "In many ways it is like the Beauregard variety commonly grown here, but it is supposed to have a more uniform shape."

Benny Graves, executive director of the Mississippi Sweet Potato Council in Vardaman, said 104 growers planted 18,400 acres in sweet potatoes this year, down about 18 percent from last year.

"It's basic supply and demand," Graves said. "Market prices were down here and in other parts of the country, so some sweet potato growers switched to row crops, predominately soybeans. We've already seen a price increase for sweet potatoes this year because of that acreage reduction."

Like Meyers, Graves is optimistic about the potential for the Orleans variety and the crop in general.

"We're seeing good yields and good quality eating potatoes," Graves said. "The Orleans are consistent in size, shape, and texture. They're also consistent from field to field, and we like that in a new variety."

Graves said the industry is finding new ways to generate extra income, particularly through different types of packaging. Traditionally, shoppers select loose sweet potatoes from a large bin.

We want consumers to have more options," he said. "Bagged sweet potatoes are a hot item, such as 3-, 5-, and 10-pound bags. Another trend is shrink-wrapped individual potatoes. To meet buyers' increased focus on food safety, packing houses are being upgraded and certified. It's an exciting time in the industry."

Even with the decline in acreage this year, Mississippi ranks No. 2 nationally in sweet potato production, second only to North Carolina.

The annual Vardaman Sweet Potato Festival will start at 8 a.m. November 2 and is open to the public.

Mississippi Sweet Potatoes
Healthy Eating with Great Taste!

SWEET POTATO
PARTY PUNCH

- 1 quart cooked sweet potatoes, pureed
- 1 46-ounce can apricot nectar
- 1 46-ounce can pineapple juice
- 2 quarts orange sherbet
- 2 quarts cold ginger ale
- 1 16-ounce bottle 7-Up

Combine sweet potato puree and apricot nectar, mixing well. Chill everything. Just before serving, combine sherbet, sweet potato, and apricot nectar mixture in punch bowl. Gently stir in other ingredients.

SWEET POTATO
SAUSAGE BALLS

- 3 cups Biscuit mix
- 1 cup sharp cheddar cheese, shredded
- 2 cups cooked, mashed sweet potatoes
- 1 pound ground sausage

Mix together all ingredients until well combined. Roll into balls and place on greased cookie sheet. Bake at 350° for 20 minutes, until brown.

SWEET POTATO
BON-BON CANDY

- 1 pound dried apricots or peaches, finely chopped
- 4 cups coconut
- 2 cups chopped pecans, toasted
- 1 1/2 cups cooked, sweet potato puree
- 1 14-ounce can sweetened condensed milk
- 2 pounds powdered sugar

Mix all ingredients in a large bowl. Chill 2 hours or until firm enough to shape into 1-inch balls. These can be served with a pecan on top or dipped in chocolate to coat. Store tightly covered in refrigerator.

SWEET POTATO
CHEESE BALL

- 1 8-ounce package cream cheese, softened
- 1/2 cup cooked, mashed sweet potatoes
- 1 2.5-ounce package smoked beef, chopped
- 2 cups shredded sharp cheddar cheese
- 1/4 cup crushed pineapple, well drained
- 1 tablespoon chopped onion

Combine cream cheese and potato, mixing well. Stir in beef, cheddar cheese, pineapple, and onion; mix well. Form into a ball and chill. Serve with crackers.

SWEET POTATO FUDGE

- 3 cups sugar
- 1 1/2 teaspoon pumpkin pie spice
- 2 sticks butter
- 1 7-ounce jar marshmallow crème
- 1 small can pet milk
- 2 teaspoons vanilla extract
- 18 ounces butterscotch morsels
- 1 cup chopped nuts
- 1 cup cooked, mashed sweet potatoes

In heavy sauce pan, combine sugar, butter, milk, sweet potatoes, and spices; bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Continue boiling over medium heat, stirring constantly until mixture reaches 228° on a candy thermometer, about 10 minutes. Remove from heat, stir in butterscotch morsels. Add marshmallow crème, nuts, and vanilla, mixing until well blended. Quickly pour into buttered 9x13-inch pan, spreading just until even. Cool and cut into squares. Store tightly wrapped in the refrigerator.

RAW SWEET POTATO WITH CURRY DIP

- Desired amount raw sweet potatoes
- 1 cup mayonnaise
- 2 tablespoons curry powder
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 3 tablespoons ketchup
- Dash garlic salt
- 1 1/2 tablespoons grated or flaked onion
- Salt and pepper to taste

Peel and slice raw sweet potatoes in preferred shape, and place in cold, salted water; store in refrigerator until ready to serve. Mix all other ingredients together until well combined. Drain well the sweet potato slices and serve with dip.

This timber report contains aggregated individual timber sale stumpage data. Many variables, such as raw material demand, mill inventories, buyer competition, quality, topography and weather, play key roles in determining local prices. Pine Sawtimber prices are based upon a 14-inch Diameter-at-Breast-Height (DBH) log size. Pine Chip N Saw prices are based upon a 10-inch DBH log size. The stumpage prices shown here are reprinted with permission from the Timber Owner Market Guide; a bi-monthly publication of Forest2Market (www.forest2market.com).

Fall Forage Field Day Series

Extending the Grazing: Stockpiling and Winter Grazing Management
9:00 am to 12:00 PM

Southeast Mississippi Forage Field Day (Perry Co)
October 25, 2013
Simmons Farm
367 McKenzie Rd.
Petal, MS

Northwest Mississippi Forage Field Day (Panola Co)
November 1, 2013
Gordon Farms
1303 Curtis Rd.
Batesville, MS

Let's reduce hay supplementation and be more economically sustainable by extending the grazing season.

Come and join these events to learn more about grazing managements that can improve forage utilization as well as the nutritive value of stockpiled forages. The SW Mississippi field day will focus on stockpiling of warm-season grasses (bahiagrass and bermudagrass) to close the gap between summer grazing and annual ryegrass and help reduce hay supplementation. The NW Mississippi field day will focus on stockpiling tall fescue and how clovers could help mitigate fescue toxicosis. Grazing demonstrations will highlight these field days.

Producers interested in attending the event should register at <http://mississippiforages.com> or contact Ms. Kathy Johnson at (662) 325-2701 or kjohnson@pss.msstate.edu. The event is free to the public, but registration is required for meal planning. We look forward to seeing you at one of the Fall Forage Field Days.

Sponsored by Mississippi Forage & Grassland Council, MSU Forage Extension Program, Grazing Lands Coalition Initiative, Soil & Water Conservation Commission and Mississippi Cattlemen Association

Mississippi Beekeepers to Meet in Tupelo

(Workshop for Beginners Held in Conjunction)

The Mississippi Beekeepers Association will hold their annual convention at the Clarion Inn & Summit Center in Tupelo, MS on Friday-Saturday, November 15-16, 2013. Several speakers with substantial national and international stature will present either current research or topics important to beekeeping at the general session. These include Dr. Medhat Nasr (Provincial Apiculturist, Alberta, Canada); Dr. Jerry Hayes (Monsanto); Mr. Phil Craft (of the "Ask Phil" column in Bee Culture); Dr. Jeff Gore (Delta Research and Extension Center, Stoneville, MS); and Dr. John Adamczyk (USDA, ARS in Poplarville, MS). A banquet meal will occur Friday night, and there will also be a honey contest judged by Dr. Jeff Harris.

Preregistration is requested. A block of rooms have been reserved at the Clarion Inn (852 N. Gloster Street, Tupelo, MS 38804; 662-844-4343) to accommodate attendees. For copies of the agenda (in preparation), registration forms, and other details please contact Dr. Jeff Harris at 662-325-2976 or email jharris@entomology.msstate.edu.

Important deadlines:

Please reserve your hotel rooms by November 1, 2013 to secure the group rate ($79 + tax). Note that there will be a block of 25 rooms for two nights beginning on Thursday, November 14, 2013. These rooms will accommodate those who will attend the MBA Executive Board meeting on Thursday evening at 7:00 P.M. An additional 50 rooms will be blocked for Friday night.

Please pre-register for the convention and banquet meals by November 1, 2013 so that we can have an accurate head count for all activities.

Momma's Sweet Potato Pie

By Lise Foy, Director
 MS Agriculture & Forestry Museum

There is one sacred tradition in my family that has been passed to me. It is only because I took the time to figure out a recipe that Momma never wrote down. It was all done by 'the way it looks in the bowl' at one stage (and it was a particular bowl mind you) and 'how it tastes after you put in the sugar before you add the eggs.' It happened the first Thanksgiving that my husband and I spent as residents in Wyoming. We were just craving old fashioned Southern food, and the only way we were going to get it was to fix it ourselves. We had a feast for two that year, and it included my Momma's Sweet Potato Pie that she taught to make over the phone. I am now the 'bringer of the pie' to our friend and family gatherings.

Sweet potatoes rank number thirteen of agricultural commodities produced in Mississippi, and Mississippi ranks third in sweet potato production in the United States. It is a $79 million industry for our state.

In 1915, a few families from Martin, Tennessee, migrated to Vardaman, Mississippi. Their knowledge of the sweet potato and the distinct terroir (it's a French word that I will define below) of Calhoun County led to the production of some of the world's finest sweet potatoes. Terroir is the set of special characteristics that the geography, geology, and climate of a certain place, interacting with the plant's genetics, express in agricultural products such as wine, coffee, chocolate, tomatoes and tea. The word terroir, for me, is very hard to pronounce, but we definitely have it in Vardaman! Fourth and fifth generation growers from those original farm families are still farming sweet potatoes today. However, the typical 20-30 acre farm of the 1940's has grown to several hundred acres in most local farm family operations.

One of buildings included in the Fortenberry-Parkman Farmstead, a Mississippi Landmark located at the Ag Museum, is a potato house which was used for winter storage of sweet potatoes. The Farmstead is a fully intact Mississippi farm representative of the typical farmer from 1860 to 1960. All of the original buildings, with the exception of the chicken house, were preserved intact and restored to their 1920s appearance when it was relocated to the Ag Museum from its original location in Jefferson Davis County in 1981.

The potato house is the only building that was chinked with mud. To prevent the potatoes from freezing, clap board was put over the cracks inside, and mud was put between the logs from the outside. Sweet potatoes were arranged in layers with straw piled between each layer to keep the potatoes from touching. Sweet potatoes were one of the basic foods for early farm families.

Back to that pie...as our Thanksgiving dinners progressed each year that we lived in Wyoming, the crowd at the table grew to include some very special friends. It was an interesting table too, because we had food of German decent and authentic Mexican burritos next to my Momma's Sweet Potato Pie. One year there was a rather heated discussion because my pie was accused of being made from yams. It was like an excerpt from a Southern Girl Primer, because you know I had to lay it all out for the accuser.

Here is the answer to that debate according to the Mississippi Sweet Potato Council. Sweet potatoes and yams are both starchy, edible roots. True yams (Dioscorea genus) are native to Africa and are rough and scaly. They grow only in tropical climates since they require a longer growing season. True yams are low in beta-carotene, vitamin A, and vitamin C. They are popular in South and Central America, the West Indies, and parts of Asia. There are no true yams produced in the United States for food. Actually, all "yams" grown in the United States are sweet potatoes.

In general, usage in the U.S., however, the terms sweet potato and yam are used interchangeably.

That pie conjures Fall to me. And, Fall is by far the best time to visit the Ag Museum. October 9-12, 16-19, and 23-25 is the Pumpkin Adventure at the Ag Museum which includes a hay ride tour of the fall gardens, cookies and milk at the farmhouse, and your choice of a small pie pumpkin to take home. November 5-9 is our Harvest Festival when families can experience Small Town, Mississippi, as it comes to life with demonstrations in the blacksmith shop, saw mill, cane mill, cotton gin, and grist mill. Visitors also enjoy complimentary biscuits and syrup and live music.

I regret that I cannot share the recipe for the pie, because it is a closely guarded family secret. But, if you invite me over, I might bring you one.

The Ag Museum is located at 1150 Lakeland Drive in Jackson and is open Monday through Saturday from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. In addition to our gallery and exhibit spaces, the Ag Museum also has room for your event, whether it's a meeting, a wedding, or other special event. Call (601) 432-4500 for information.

Mississippi Farmers Market Begins Fall Schedule

By Paige Manning
Director of Marketing
and Public Relations - MDAC

The Mississippi Farmers Market has begun its fall operating schedule and is open on Saturdays from 8:00 a.m. until 2:00 p.m. The winding down of summer doesn't necessarily mean the winding down of fresh produce available at the Market. It just means that customers can expect to start finding more varieties of fall crops each week. Customers will find a variety of fresh produce including cherry tomatoes, squash, cucumbers, eggplant, sweet potatoes, greens, a variety of peppers, muscadines, pecans, and much more. Fresh milk and cheeses, yogurt, farm-fresh eggs, and honey are available year-round. The Market also provides an assortment of fresh baked goods, specialty foods, and unique Mississippi hand-crafted items.

The Mississippi Farmers Market, located at 929 High Street adjacent to the Fairgrounds, is open each Saturday from 8:00 a.m. until 2:00 p.m. The Market will celebrate the arrival of fall with a Thanksgiving Event on Saturday, November 2. The event will include cooking demonstrations from local chefs, children's activities, live music, a food drive to benefit Stewpot Community Services, and more. The Farmers Market will resume its three-days-per-week schedule in the spring of 2014. For more information about the upcoming event or to find out what's fresh each week, call (601) 354-6573, visit www.msfarmersmarket.com, or visit the Mississippi Farmers Market on Facebook.

Family Business Benefits From Cottage Food Law

By Keri Collins Lewis
MSU Ag Communications

Now that dozens of jars of jams, jellies, pickles, and vegetables gleam on his booth's shelves, it is hard to believe that eight years ago, Claude Jones refused to sell his wares at the Mississippi Farmers Market.

"I had come to the market to purchase some items, and I carried a bag of my peanut brittle with me," Jones said. "I was always handing it out to folks. I never intended to sell it. But I gave a bag to the market director, and a couple weeks later, he called me."

The market director invited Jones to set up a table and sell his candy, but Jones refused.

"I said, 'No, no no!' He said, 'What would it take?' But then before you know it, I was down there on Saturday with a card table and 12 little 7-ounce bags. I sold out in about an hour. I was glad, because I could leave and go home," Jones said.

The next week, Jones took 24 bags. The following week, he took 36 bags of brittle and some jelly he had canned.

"Bingo, it went," he said. "From there on, we started adding."

Jones, now 76 years old, and several family members work together for Old Fashioned Taste, their cottage-based food business.

"The ladies bake cakes, and most any kind of pies and candy, I can bake too, now, but my end is the canning," Jones said. "I make all kinds of homemade jams and jellies -- blackberry, mayhaw, plum, quince, crabapple -- plus pear, and fig preserves."

Jones's daughter, Cerilda, has taken several courses through the Mississippi State University Extension Service and displays her certificates on the refrigerator at their farmers market booth. She and her father can salsa, pickles, and other foods together.

Mississippi's new cottage food law went into effect July 13. Jones said he likes the convenience of canning at home instead of at the commercial kitchen available at the market. "This new law allows people to process 'low risk' foods in their home kitchens and to sell these products that have a low risk from a food-safety standpoint," said Byron Williams, food safety expert with the MSU Extension Service. "This includes items such as baked goods without cream, custard or meat fillings; spice mixes; dry baking mixes; jams and jellies; and breads."

Cottage food business owners do not have to have a licensed and inspected facility, but they are limited to $20,000 per year in gross annual sales. Business owners must keep accurate financial records for review to make sure they are in compliance with the income limits, Williams said.

All items must be produced and stored only in household kitchens and can be sold only directly to consumers.

"Vendors can't sell to retail or wholesale stores, over the Internet or through mail order," Williams said.

Williams teaches workshops across the state to help Mississippians with food-related businesses and to show them how to comply with food safety regulations. He said the restrictions in place are designed to protect both business owners and consumers.

He cautioned people making food products in home kitchens to use extra care in the sanitation and food processing steps to make sure their products are safe.

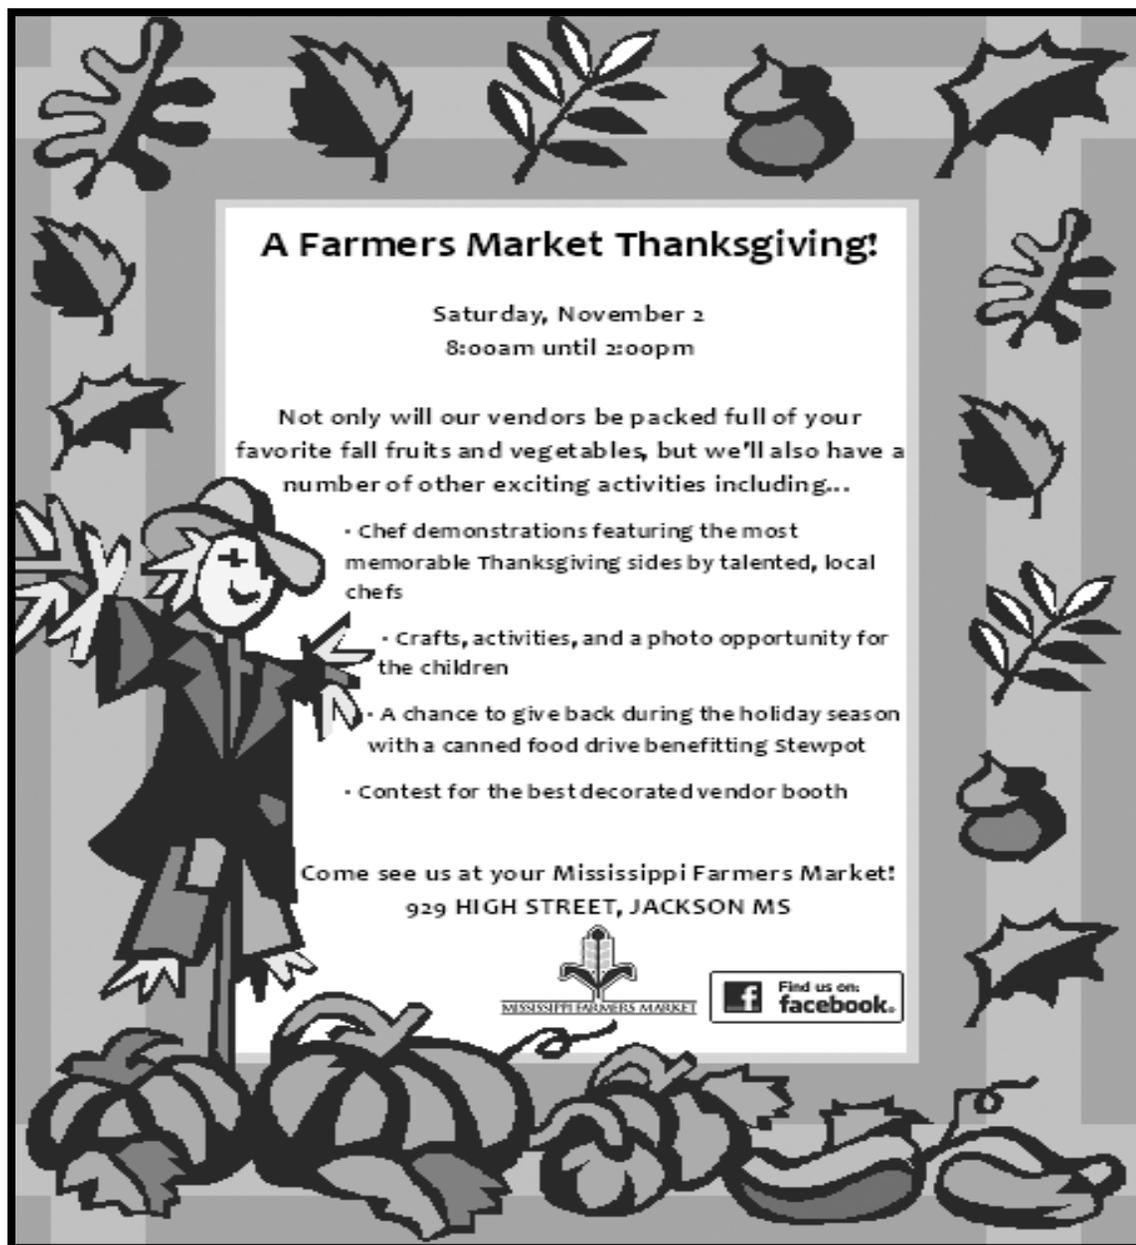

"Business owners want to deliver high quality, completely safe food products for their customers to eat. They should use approved methods to increase food safety," Williams said. "While the new cottage food laws do not require business owners to undergo inspections, we encourage all home food processors to go through the specialized training available and learn best practices for the success of their businesses and the health of their customers."

He also cautioned against making any type of product that is low acid or acidified without proper training and knowledge of the product's acid level, also known as the product's pH.

"Most of these foods require special processes, control measures, and regulatory agency oversight to be produced in the marketplace to keep consumers safe," he said.

For more information about the cottage food law and requirements for vendors, visit <http://1.usa.gov/17wcjHP>.

The Mississippi Farmers Market is open Saturdays 8 a.m. - 2 p.m. Located in Downtown Jackson next to the Fairgrounds.

Advertising Guidelines

The Mississippi Market Bulletin is published on the 1st and 15th of each month by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce. The Mississippi Market Bulletin is an important way for the Department to disseminate news and information about issues affecting Mississippi's agriculture industry and the Department's operations.

Through its classified advertising section, the Bulletin provides a forum for Mississippi residents to buy and sell agricultural related items while also giving statewide exposure to small farmers who might not normally have the economic resources for such widespread advertising. The Bulletin does not publish commercial or display ads and all items offered for sale must have been produced, raised, grown or operated on the seller's property. Businesses, corporations, dealerships, brokers or other commercial enterprises are not allowed to advertise in the Mississippi Market Bulletin.

Advertising rules and guidelines have been established for the Mississippi Market Bulletin in order to comply with regulations enforced by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce and to maintain the objectives of the publication. The staff of the Mississippi Market Bulletin reserves the right to edit, revise or reject any advertisement.

The Mississippi Market Bulletin assumes no responsibility for any notice appearing in the Bulletin nor for any transaction resulting from published notices. Advertisers are cautioned that it is against the law to misrepresent any product offered for sale in public notices or advertisements carried in any publication that is delivered by the United States Postal Service.

- In order to advertise in the Mississippi Market Bulletin you must be a subscriber. To place an ad, you must include your name, mailing address and account number that the subscription is listed under on each ad that you submit (this information will not be printed). Each subscriber is allowed to advertise two ads in the Bulletin, listing one ad per category.
- All listings must be agriculture related (raised, grown, produced or operated on your farm). At the top of your ad, write the category that the ad should be listed under. We reserve the right to edit, revise or reject each ad. Please print or type your ad.
- There is a 30-word limit for classified advertisements, this includes: price (on the item you are selling), your city, county and telephone number or name and complete address must be included in the ad if you do not list a telephone number. Ads cannot be held over from one issue to another. You must submit them for each issue.
- Out-of-state residents are not eligible to advertise with the following exceptions: Out-of-state ads are allowed in the "Wanting To Buy" category. Out-of-state ads are allowed for individuals owning farm property within the state that is being offered for sale (consisting of 10 acres or more).

Advertising Deadline Dates

NOVEMBER 1 ISSUE....DEADLINE MON., OCT. 14, 2013 • 12:00 NOON

NOVEMBER 15 ISSUE.....DEADLINE MON., NOV. 4, 2013 • 12:00 NOON

You must submit your ad for each issue. We do not hold ads over for multiple insertion.

Advertisement Submission Form

In order to advertise you must be a subscriber.

All classified ads must be 30 words or less.

We cannot run items for sale without a price.

U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Holds Town Hall Discussion in Jackson

By Paige Manning
Director of Marketing
and Public Relations - MDAC

Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce Cindy Hyde-Smith welcomed U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Tom Vilsack to Jackson on September 26, as he addressed local community and agriculture stakeholders during a town hall discussion at the Mississippi Agriculture and Forestry Museum. Secretary Vilsack stressed the importance of passing a Food, Farm, and Jobs Bill. He gave an update on the current status of the Farm Bill proceeded by various scenarios of potential impacts on both farmers and consumers if a new bill is not passed. The failure to pass a Farm Bill is critical as a number of United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) programs will be impacted as well as relations with trade partners.

During the town hall discussion, Secretary Vilsack also discussed the economic development efforts ongoing throughout the state and USDA's efforts to strengthen the rural economy. He also allowed those present the opportunity to ask questions and to voice any concerns. Prior to his visit to Jackson, Secretary Vilsack toured Mississippi State University. "I am so pleased that Secretary Vilsack chose to visit Mississippi," said Commissioner Hyde-Smith. "His visit was an incredible opportunity for our state as it allowed us to show him the importance of agriculture in Mississippi, and it also gave our farmers and others involved in agriculture the chance to voice their opinions and pose their questions," added Commissioner Hyde-Smith.

Annual Fall Fest: October 18-19 Thousands Will Converge on Flower Garden Show

By Linda Breazeale
MSU Ag Communications

Garden and landscape enthusiasts will flock to the Fall Flower and Garden Fest on October 18 and 19 at the Truck Crops Branch Experiment Station in Crystal Springs for plant and health recommendations.

The largest home-gardening event in the Southeast will focus on more than healthy plants during the "Healthy Living – Healthy Gardening" festivities. A 1-mile fun walk kicks off this year's event at 9:30 a.m. Friday, October 18. Free diabetes testing will be offered throughout the event.

The 35th annual fall fest will take place from 9 a.m. - 2 p.m. both days. Admission and parking are free.

Visitors can tour the 3-acre garden of vegetables, herbs and flowers. Additional gardens feature butterfly and hummingbird attractions, banana trials and shade-loving plants. Specialty crops, ornamental grasses, and both All-America Selections and Mississippi Medallion award-winning plants also highlight the grounds.

Master Gardeners, MSU specialists and others will conduct seminars throughout the fest. They will discuss managing ponds, beekeeping, composting and creating backyard wildlife habitats. Wagon-ride tours will be available all day. Walking tours on a variety of subjects -- flowers, vegetables, herbs, plant diseases, insect identification and high tunnels -- will be led by experts in these fields.

One of the most popular areas each year is the plant sales area west of the pond, where more than 60 vendors will have thousands of plants, garden tools and yard art available for purchase. Returning this year is the very popular plant swap, which will allow visitors to bring a plant or two to exchange with others. Those interested can bring a half-cup sample of their garden or lawn soil for free pH testing.

Smartphone users can download an app to view the complete schedule of events for both days. For instructions and to download the app, go to <http://guidebook.com/gfffest>.

For more information, contact Rick Snyder, event coordinator, at 601-892-3731 or visit <http://msu-cares.com/fallfest>.

Ag Museum Showcase Restored, Historic Carousel

By Paige Manning
Director of Marketing
and Public Relations - MDAC

Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce Cindy Hyde-Smith, along with Danny Huston, owner of North American Midway Entertainment, held a ribbon cutting ceremony to showcase the newly restored, historic carousel at the Mississippi Agriculture and Forestry Museum on Lakeland Drive in Jackson, Mississippi.

Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce Cindy Hyde-Smith stated, "We are very appreciative to North American Midway Entertainment for their support in making this restoration possible. The transformation of the carousel is amazing, and I can't wait to see children enjoying it. I am so proud that the Mississippi Agriculture and Forestry Museum is home to one of only five carousels in the state recognized by the National Carousel Association."

This classic American carousel, manufactured by the Allan-Herschell Company of North Tonawanda, New York, in 1928, has been located at the Mississippi Agriculture and Forestry Museum since 1988. Each horse, made of cast aluminum and built to accommodate small children, is unique with a different scene featured on the individual saddles. Solid brass poles rotate to give the appearance the horses are galloping. The carousel is outfitted with a custom canvas top, and the interior scenery has been repainted and retrofitted with 144 lights and 12 mirrors. The carousel also features two sleigh-style seats with new leather upholstery.

The restoration efforts were made possible by North American Midway Entertainment. Headquartered in Farmland, Indiana, North American Midway Entertainment has a regional office in Jackson, Mississippi. Most of the restoration efforts were completed by local, Mississippi craftsmen. "We are proud to be part of the Mississippi community. We have a deep commitment to the Mississippi Agriculture and Forestry Museum," said Mike Severs, Director of Business of Development for North American Midway Entertainment.

The Mississippi Agricultural and Forestry Museum, which features the National Agricultural Aviation Museum, portrays the important role that the agriculture and forestry industries have played in Mississippi's history and how these industries have shaped Mississippi's economy through the years through both indoor and outdoor exhibits. The Museum, located at 1150 Lakeland Drive in Jackson, is open Monday through Saturday from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. For more information about the Museum, call (601) 432-4500, visit www.msagmuseum.org, or visit the Mississippi Agriculture and Forestry Museum on Facebook.

Ambassadors with the Greater Jackson Chamber Partnership joined those from North American Midway Entertainment and the Mississippi Agriculture and Forestry Museum for the ribbon cutting ceremony showcasing the newly restored, historic carousel.
