Sale of Champions Sets New Record at Dixie National

By Susan Collins-Smith
MSU Ag Communications

The 2012 Dixie National Sale of Junior Champions was the most successful sale to date, bringing in almost $300,000.

The Dixie National Junior Livestock Show, held each February in Jackson, has concluded for the last 43 years with the sale of champion market animals. Philanthropic buyers have contributed more than $4.5 million throughout the history of the Sale of Junior Champions. In addition to money received for the 44 market steers, hogs, lambs, and goats, the Sales Committee awarded 25 scholarships worth $1,500, five premier exhibitors scholarships worth $2,000 each, and four supreme exhibitors scholarships worth $1,000 each to this year's top exhibitors.

"Having an animal in this sale is no accident," said Dean Jousan, Extension 4-H livestock specialist with Mississippi State University. "These kids and their families put a lot of planning and thought into raising these animals. Taking care of these animals is a lot of hard work."

The 2012 Sale of Champions included 44 steers, hogs, goats, and lambs and brought a preliminary total of $299,352.50, surpassing the previous record of $279,008.50.

Alexandra Pittman of Forrest County set a record with her reserve champion medium weight goat, which brought $100 per pound. Ronnie Herrington of Energy Group made the winning bid on the animal.

Pittman said she will donate her portion of the proceeds to a 7-year-old child with spina bifida who lives in her county. The preliminary total for the 82-pound goat was $22,900. Many donors added money after the auction ended, and the figure could increase once final calculations are complete.

4-H and other programs that educate youth about agriculture are critical to Mississippi's future.

"You can't be an underachiever and be here today," Governor Phil Bryant told the crowd gathered for the sale. "You are supporting the future. We need their leadership if Mississippi is going to be an agri-business leader."

Commissioner of Agriculture Cindy Hyde-Smith added, "With a record sale this year, we would like to thank all the buyers for showing their support to these hardworking, young boys and girls whose interest in agriculture is so very important to our state."

Buyers also recognize the importance of supporting the youth.

"I do this because of the kids,"

Herrington said after placing the winning bid. "I want to support these kids, who will feed our families and our country in the future. These programs teach our kids to provide for themselves and their families, and they place an emphasis on family morals."

Preliminary figures indicate steers brought a total of $79,992.50 at an average of $8.82 per pound. Hogs brought a preliminary total of $75,156.50 at an average of $23.80 per pound. Goats brought a preliminary total of $50,329 at an average of $52.00 per pound, and lambs brought a preliminary total of $67,024.50 at an average of $31.13 per pound.

Thirty-five scholarships, totaling $51,500, were given.

The 2012 Dixie National Livestock Show included 1,600 4-H and FFA youth and 2,300 head of livestock.

Tractor Supply Company Supporting FFA

By Harrison Lang, President
Mississippi FFA

When Commissioner Cindy Hyde-Smith took office in January, two of her immediate goals included increasing subscribers to the Mississippi Market Bulletin and helping the Mississippi FFA Association in any way she could. Using a little ingenuity, she found a way to help both programs simultaneously. The Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce has partnered with the Mississippi FFA Association and Tractor Supply Company to develop a Mississippi Market Bulletin Fundraiser.

FFA Members across the state will have the opportunity to sell subscriptions to the Mississippi Market Bulletin to raise money for their FFA Chapter. Thanks to Tractor Supply Company and their strong support of the FFA, the top-three Chapters selling the most subscriptions will split $1,000 in gift cards to Tractor Supply Company, and the top salesperson will receive a $100 gift card to Tractor Supply Company.

With a gift card from Tractor Supply Company and the wide selection of merchandise which they have to offer, FFA Chapters will be able to purchase items for their shops, greenhouses, livestock projects, classrooms, and more.

If you have any questions, please contact Harrison Lang, Mississippi FFA State President at 601-951-2450 or harrison@mdac.ms.gov.

4-H'er Overcomes Obstacles To Excel

By Susan Collins-Smith
MSU Ag Communications

Placing first at the Southern Regional Horse Show might not seem like a great feat to some, but for former Bolivar County 4-H'er Jamie Mangum, it meant overcoming difficult obstacles.

Mangum is no ordinary 4-H'er. Though he was born with cerebral palsy, a disorder affecting the ability to control movement, he has never let his disability control him.

"Jamie has made great strides in his ability to show horses independently," said Laura Giaccaglia, Mississippi State University Extension Service Bolivar County Director, who also has 4-H responsibilities in the county. "He has gone from needing assistance in the ring to being able to do everything on his own."

Mangum underwent two surgeries on each of his legs in 2004 and 2005 followed by physical therapy, which allowed him to gain the strength he needs to show his halter horses on his own.

Even when he needed assistance, Mangum was an award-winning competitor.

"Every year since 2003, when I came to Bolivar County, Jamie has won either champion or reserve champion in the halter horse class," Giaccaglia said. "This year, his final year in 4-H, was really special. My job during the Southern Regional Horse Show was to hand out trophies and ribbons, and I was able to present Jamie with his first-place trophy. I have watched Jamie endure the surgeries and physical therapy and get to the point of showing on his own, so presenting his trophy was pretty special for me."

Being able to show independently has allowed Jamie, now 19, to start showing halter horses in the American Quarter Horse Youth Association, which does not allow any kind of assistance in the show ring. At the recent Youth World Show of the American Quarter Horse Youth Association in Oklahoma City, Jamie finished in the top 10, at seventh place overall.

"I go all over the place doing this," Mangum said. "We show in Mississippi, Louisiana, Oklahoma, and Texas a lot and some in Alabama. I try to haul once a month."

Showing horses is just a way of life for Mangum and his family, according to Mangum's mom, Angie Mangum.

"We all show horses in my family," Angie Mangum said. "I was in 4-H, and Jamie's dad was in 4-H.

I got Jamie involved when he was 8 years old because I think 4-H is a good way to get started showing horses and for kids to learn other life skills as well."

Giaccaglia believes 4-H had a hand in helping Jamie overcome his disability.

"I think his love for horses developed his determination and helped him to get to the point he's at now – being able to show his horses without any assistance," Giaccaglia said. "He loves his horses, and because of that passion, he has the drive to work and strive to be the best he knows he can be."

Mangum's dedication and the support he receives from his family have positively impacted his progress.

"Our horse trainer, Monty, and his wife, Anna, have worked with Jamie for about two years," Angie Mangum said. "They, along with my father, have spent countless hours with Jamie practicing."

Jamie Mangum said the love and support of his family has been a driving force of his advancement.

"My dad, my whole family, everybody has helped me a lot," he said.

Now he wants to return the favor.

"I just signed up to be a 4-H volunteer," Jamie Mangum said. "I have done 4-H so long, and this way I can still be a part of it. I will be helping Laura do horse club, and I hope we can get kids interested in horses."

Mangum graduated from high school in May. He is a student at Mississippi Delta Community College in Moorhead and has a mowing business. His said his goal is to one day own a farm.

MILC Payments Expected to Begin

The USDA is expected to begin paying MILC payments to dairy producers. MILC payments are triggered when the Boston Class I (BCI) milk price falls below $16.94 per hundredweight, after adjustment for the cost of dairy feed rations. While the BCI milk price has remained above the trigger level, feed prices have increased. As a result, MILC payments are expected for fiscal year 2012.

In order to qualify for MILC payments, dairy producers should stop by their local FSA office to:

- Make sure verifiable production evidence has been/ is being received
- They are in compliance with adjusted gross income requirements
- Review their CCC-580 or change their production start month by the 14th of the month prior to their start date.
- Review and/or update their farm operating plan

If you have any questions, please contact the Lamar County Farm Service Agency at 601-794-5600.

Advertising Guidelines

The Mississippi Market Bulletin is published on the 1st and 15th of each month by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce. The Mississippi Market Bulletin is an important way for the Department to disseminate news and information about issues affecting Mississippi's agriculture industry and the Department's operations.

Through its classified advertising section, the Bulletin provides a forum for Mississippi residents to buy and sell agricultural related items while also giving statewide exposure to small farmers who might not normally have the economic resources for such widespread advertising. The Bulletin does not publish commercial or display ads and all items offered for sale must have been produced, raised, grown or operated on the seller's property. Businesses, corporations, dealerships, brokers or other commercial enterprises are not allowed to advertise in the Mississippi Market Bulletin.

- All listings must be agriculture related (raised, grown, produced or operated on your farm). At the top of your ad, write the category that the ad should be listed under. We reserve the right to edit, revise or reject each ad. Please print or type your ad.

Fend Off Spring Fever With Blooms, Events

By Gary R. Bachman
MSU Horticulturist
Coastal Research & Extension Center

Like every gardener in Mississippi, I get spring fever this time of year. Seed catalogs are piling up higher every day. When visiting garden centers, I'm tempted by the racks of vegetable transplants available. I've even seen tomatoes on a warmer weekend. What's a gardener to do?

To help hold us over until spring really arrives, African daisies and Senetti pericallis are perfect additions for landscape color. Both like the cooler early spring temperatures and can be used exactly like the mums we used last fall.

African daisies have that familiar center disk and colorful petals ranging from white to yellow to bluish-purple. Selections with spoon-shaped petals add more visual interest. The color palette of the Senetti pericallis is more in the blue to purple range. Bicolor selections have attractive white centers.

Both of these plants work well as single container plants or as colorful additions to combination containers. The flower colors work very well when combined with golden yellow Lysimachia, commonly called Creeping Jenny, spilling out over the container edge.

Water consistently to keep these plants healthy. Overwatering will lead to crown rot problems, especially in the cooler early spring. Use a water-soluble fertilizer to keep nutrient levels up. When the flowers start to fade, cut the plants back by about 50 percent to encourage a flowering encore.

There is good news for the gardeners who are still hunkering down until warmer weather arrives. In the next month, at least four gardening events are scheduled across Mississippi:

- Jackson Garden and Patio Show, March 16-18 in Jackson
- Everything Garden Expo, March 24-25 in Starkville
- New Albany Home and Garden Show, March 30-31 in New Albany

These events are great opportunities for home gardeners to be inspired to add the newest trees, shrubs, and flowering annuals and perennials to the home landscape and garden. Local garden centers and landscape professionals will have vendor displays, many of which will include display gardens. Don't miss the chance to see how these beautiful plants could look in your landscape.

All of these events will feature presentations by some of the Southeast's leading horticulture and landscape professionals.

(top) The color palette of the Senetti pericallis is in the blue to purple range and includes bright magenta blooms to brighten the final weeks of winter.

Dixie National Antique Tractor Show Well Attended

By Billy Williams
MDAC Staff

The Dixie National Antique Tractor Show, held in conjunction with the Dixie National Farm Expo, was a popular attraction for attendees.

Thirty-nine antique tractors from every major manufacturer were on display at this year's show.

The two oldest tractors on display were a 1927 Fordson F owned by Wesley Williamson of Loranger, LA and a 1935 Landini owned by Robert Burney, Jr. from Terry, MS.

A special attraction was a visit from Commissioner of Agriculture Cindy Hyde-Smith. The Commissioner enjoyed seeing a Farmall Cub tractor like the one she first learned to drive. The tractor is owned by Orlando Duncan from Vicksburg, and was restored by Mr. Duncan and his good friend, Joe Richardson, also from Vicksburg.

Many visitors enjoyed a trip down memory lane, some commenting that a particular tractor was just like one that my grandfather owned, or like the one they drove as a child.

The Dixie National Livestock Show and Rodeo would like to thank all the antique tractor owners who brought their tractors to the Trade Mart and thanks to the many visitors who came by to view tractors representing over 85 years of farm history.

Livestock Brand Renewal

The State Brand Registrar has announced that in July of 2012 the new five year Livestock Brand Book for the state of Mississippi will be published. This is done on a five year cycle. All livestock brands which are registered with the state must be re-registered by July in order to be in the brand book and to be a valid brand.

Renewal notices were mailed on March 1st; anyone who has a registered brand and has not received a notice should call the State Registrar, Linda Gabbert, at 1-800-678-2660 or 601-359-1121. Anyone interested in obtaining a new livestock brand should also call the same number.

Mississippi Code 69-29-105 outlines the process for registering or transferring a livestock brand and the penalty for branding livestock with a brand which has not been registered. The registration fee for a five year period is $5.00.
