Celebrate Dairy During Northeast Mississippi Dairy Day

By Southeast Dairy Association

Local dairy farmers, Mississippi Farm Bureau, and Scruggs Farm, Lawn and Garden Store are partnering to celebrate dairy during Northeast Mississippi Dairy Day on June 16, 2012. Last year's Northeast Mississippi Dairy Day was moo-rific! And in honor of June Dairy Month (JDM) and the hard work and dedication of dairy farmers, this year's celebration won't disappoint.

Local dairy farmer Carla Taylor has partnered with Scruggs Farm, Lawn and Garden Store to help showcase dairy and educate the public on its health benefits. This year's celebration features Jersey cows, a question and answer segment with dairy farmers, ice cream, milk provided by Dairy Farmers of America (DFA), and FREE promotional giveaways.

For more information contact Carla Taylor, Taylor Jersey Farm, Inc., at 662-416-1743.

Milk Income Loss Contract Program Payment Rate Announced

By USDA-FSA

The Farm Service Agency (FSA) has announced that the March payment rate for the Milk Income Loss Contract (MILC) Program is $0.8262432 per hundredweight. This follows a payment rate of $0.3895043 per hundredweight for February, 2012 production. While milk prices have remained above the $16.94 base used in the MILC calculation, the increase in feed prices has triggered payments because of the feed ration component.

MILC payments are triggered when the Boston Class I milk price falls below $16.94 per hundredweight, after adjustment for the cost of dairy feed rations. MILC payments are calculated each month using the latest milk price and feed cost.

The 2008 Farm Bill authorized the MILC Program through September 30, 2012. Producers must meet the Average Adjusted Gross Income requirement and provide marketing data to the FSA County Office in order to qualify. New dairy operations or dairy operations not previously signed up in the program may apply for program benefits, but cannot qualify for retroactive payments.

Additional information about the MILC program can be found at http://www.fsa.usda.gov/Internet/FSA\_File/milc2011.pdf, or by visiting your local FSA Service Center.

Grazing Land Conservation Field Day

GRAZING LANDS CONSERVATION INITIATIVE (GLCI)

The Grazing Land Conservation Initiative (GLCI), a nationwide partnership, is a voluntary effort to enhance private grazing lands through Natural Resources Conservation Service technical assistance.

There are approximately 5.5 million acres of private grazing lands in the US. America's private grazing lands represent about 45 percent of the total rural areas of the US—the largest single land use in the country. Mississippi has 1 million acres of private grazing land.

Privately owned grazing lands of the US are truly a national treasure. There are many uses and values that make them extremely important, not only to the landowners, but also to the entire nation. The GLCI was founded to provide high quality technical assistance on privately owned grazing lands on a voluntary basis and to increase the awareness of the importance of grazing land resources.

Low Cost Gelding Program

By Stephanie Billingsley
Mississippihorses.org

In an effort to help reduce the number of unwanted and inconvenient horses being bred in Mississippi, the "I Care for Animals" Grant Program and Operation Mississippi Horses are sponsoring low cost geldings for horse owners who would like the option but can not afford it.

Veterinarians and equine rescue organizations across the state are donating their time to assist with the campaign. Owners interested in the program must qualify through an application process on a first come first serve basis. Those who are eligible will pay only $30 to the participating veterinarian who normally earns a fee in excess of $120 for this procedure. Once the procedure is performed, the veterinarians will receive a voucher from the Low Cost Gelding Program to help cover their expenses.

"Any veterinarian can participate in this clinic, and I encourage all my colleagues throughout the state to take advantage of it if they have clients who need but can't afford to geld their stallions. As veterinarians, we need to recognize that many unwanted horses come from uncontrolled breeding, and it's time for us to help get this problem under control," said J. Donald Vice, DVM of Dixie Equine Medicine and Surgery in Madison.

These Peruvians were part of a herd of 20 that were abandoned by their owner before being taken in by Coyote Hills Horse Rescue in Lauderdale County. This is a typical case of abuse and neglect escalated by leaving mares and stallions in the same pasture. Eight foals were born after the herd was rescued bringing the total to 28 to be placed into qualified homes. The low cost gelding program hopes to raise awareness of the problem of equine overbreeding in Mississippi and offer assistance to owners who would like the option but can not afford it.

Thousands of horses are born every year as a result of poor breeding techniques and mismanagement of mares and stallions. As a result, animal shelters and equine rescue organizations in Mississippi have become overwhelmed with unwanted and neglected horses. The program encourages the public to geld their stallions to help reduce the number of unwanted horses but to also produce a safer and gentler animal. The gelding of a stallion increases the horses' value by making them easier to handle, easier to maintain, and easier to sell.

Operation Mississippi Horses is a joint effort of Mississippihorses.org and the Mississippi Animal Rescue League. For more information go to Mississippihorses.org or call 601-201-8522.

New National Water Quality Initiative Targets Three Watersheds in Mississippi

By USDA-NRCS

Acting State Conservationist Al Garner announced the launch of a new National Water Initiative committed to improving three impaired waterways in Mississippi. USDA's Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) will manage the initiative by making funds available to farmers, ranchers, and forest landowners in the selected watersheds.

"Water is one of our greatest natural resources and nothing can survive without it," Garner said. "The Water Quality Initiative will further NRCS partnership efforts to improve water quality using voluntary actions on private lands. This initiative is a focused approach in areas facing significant natural resource challenges. It bolsters the positive results of landscape conservation initiatives NRCS and its partners already have underway."

Through this effort, eligible producers in select watersheds of the Pearl, Big Sunflower, and Tippah rivers will invest in voluntary conservation actions to help provide cleaner water for their neighbors and communities. The selected watersheds were identified with help from state agencies, partners, and the NRCS State Technical Committee.

Using funds from the Environmental Quality Incentives Program, NRCS will provide funding and advice to producers to install conservation practices such as cover crops, filter strips, and terraces in watersheds with impairments where the federal investment can make a difference to improve water quality.

"American farmers are good stewards of the environment, especially when they have the tools they need to protect or improve fish and wildlife habitat and water quality," NRCS Chief Dave White said. "We look forward to collaborating with producers in key watersheds to help them have a positive impact on streams with impaired water quality."

The three watersheds chosen in Mississippi include Ashlog Creek, a tributary of the Pearl River; Porter Bayou, a tributary of the Big Sunflower River; and North Tippah Creek, a tributary of the Tippah River.

NRCS accepts applications for financial assistance on a continuous basis throughout the year. Remember to check with your local NRCS office to see if you are located in a selected watershed. All applications for funding consideration during this fiscal year must be received by June 15, 2012. This summer NRCS will notify all applicants of the results and begin developing contracts with selected applicants.

Mississippi Club Goat Association Announces Show Circuit Winners

By Kipp Brown
Area Agent
MSU Extension Service

The Mississippi Club Goat Association held its annual meeting at the Montgomery County Extension Service office April 28, 2012. Officers elected for the coming year are Jessie Cornelius, President; Jeff Aldridge, Vice President; and Jennifer Owen, Secretary/Treasurer.

The association remained strong in numbers of breeder and junior members this past year with breeders purchasing over five hundred ear tags to support the Mississippi Bred Program. All tag money went back to the exhibitors of Mississippi Bred goats as class premiums at the Mississippi State Fair and the Dixie National Junior Round Up. The association also sponsors the Mississippi Bred awards and champion belt buckles to exhibitors at the Mississippi State Fair and Dixie National Junior Round Up.

Each year members of the Mississippi Club Goat Junior Show Circuit (MCGJSC) program earn cash and prizes for the top five exhibitors placing in three showmanship categories as well as the top five market goats and the top five commercial does. Points are earned on Mississippi bred goats at a dozen MCGJSC sanctioned shows held throughout the state, plus double points at the Mississippi State Fair and Dixie National Junior Round Up. The highest six point earning shows of each exhibitor are counted toward year end totals along with the State Fair and Junior Round Up points. This year first place winners received trophy belt buckles while second through fifth place winners were awarded cash and a custom designed chair. Sponsors of the year-end awards were C4 Club Goats and Sandy Ford Ranch.

Market Goat

1. Mikayla Shelton. 2. Nicole Abrams. 3. Will Cornelius. 4. Will Cornelius. 5. Kylee Killebrew.

Commercial Doe

1. Mikayla Shelton. 2. Will Cornelius. 3. Will Cornelius. 4. Lacy Raines. 5. Mikayla Shelton.

Junior Showmanship

1. Mallory Causey. 2. Dakota Rogers. 3. Lyndsey Hill. 4. Tyler Owen. 5. Shelby Abrams.

Intermediate Showmanship

1. John Robert Bishop. 2. Mikayla Shelton. 3. Kylee Killebrew. 4. C. J. Weddle. 5. Logan Raines.

Senior Showmanship

1. Carley Pettigrew. 2. Taylor Causey. 3. Miranda Stevens. 4. Shania Farrow. 5. Cole Amason.

Plans for additional MCGJSC awards were discussed for the coming year. A committee was set up to solicit sponsorships, as expanding opportunities for young people exhibiting MS Bred goats continues to remain a top priority.

Establishing a website to promote the association and its membership has been a MCGA goal for several years. Alene Robinson volunteered to put a site together that will feature a listing of members, the various forms needed, and information on MCGA, including the MCGJSC program. The new website can be found at www.msclubgoatassociation.com.

Freeze Branding Basics

By Anna Tillotson,
Mississippi Agricultural and Livestock Theft Bureau
& Dr. Jane Parish,
Extension Beef Cattle Specialist
Mississippi State University

The Old West days are long gone, but cattle producers still need to take steps to prevent the theft of livestock by modern-day cattle rustlers. One of the oldest forms of individual animal identification is branding. Brands are a form of permanent identification of livestock that serve as a theft deterrent. Branded livestock are less likely to be stolen since they can be traced more easily by law enforcement.

Commissioner Cindy Hyde-Smith agreed, "At today's prices, cattle identification is such an important safeguard for cattlemen to hedge against possible livestock theft, and freeze branding, along with other identification tools, is an excellent, cost effective method to utilize."

While plastic ear tags and hot iron branding are found to be the most common forms of herd identification in the U.S., freeze branding is the process of using a super cold branding iron to alter the color pigment producing cells. The result is that white or colorless hair, instead of colored hair, grows at the brand site.

Freeze branding is a quick and permanent identification.

In the past few years, freeze (cryogenic) branding has become very popular because it creates an attractive brand and is recommended in place of hot iron branding as part of Beef Quality Assurance practices. Freeze brands are legible, permanent, and difficult to alter. Research results out of Texas and Canada have shown that freeze branding results in less discomfort to livestock than hot iron branding. While hot iron branding is used to make a neat, legible scar on the surface of the hide, the goal with freeze branding is to convert hair pigmentation to white in a legible manner. Freeze branding destroys the natural pigments in hair, producing white hair growth. Freeze brands typically become legible about six to eight weeks after branding. Also, hides are an important by-product of beef production, and freeze branding is a good alternative to hot iron branding for reducing hide damage.

Another distinct advantage of freeze branding is that a freeze brand remains clearly visible and easy to read even in wintertime, when many hot brands (which are not as easily seen as a freeze brand at any time of year) are made nearly illegible by a long winter hair coat.

Robert Jordan, Director of the Mississippi Agricultural and Livestock Theft Bureau, said an average of about 250 head of Mississippi livestock are stolen each year. Although mostly cattle, some horses are stolen.

"Thefts are most often in remote areas with easy access. Occasionally, (thieves) will cut a fence and bring panels to round up the animals, but they are usually in pastures with a catch pen handy."

Jordan added that the law enforcement may be able to relocate about half of the stolen animals. "The vast majority of stolen cattle are not branded and are hard to identify," he said.

Claude Nash, of Brandon, MS, recently learned first hand how to freeze brand his cattle by reading articles and obtaining information on freeze branding.

"I've always thought freeze branding would be very complicated, expensive, and time consuming, but I was wrong," said Nash.

"With cattle prices being at an all time high, I had decided it was time to sell all of my older Brangus cows and replace them

Step 1. Place iron in liquid nitrogen or dry ice with denatured alcohol.

Step 2. Clip desired area to receive brand.

Step 3. Clean and spray pure denatured alcohol on the clipped area.

Step 4. Begin timing when the iron first contacts the hide.

Step 5. The end result is a very legible brand that typically becomes readable and produces white hair in about six to eight weeks after branding. (Photos by Robert Jordan).

FINAL REMINDER For Livestock Brand Renewal

The State Brand Registrar has announced that in July of 2012 the new five year Livestock Brand Book for the state of Mississippi will be published.

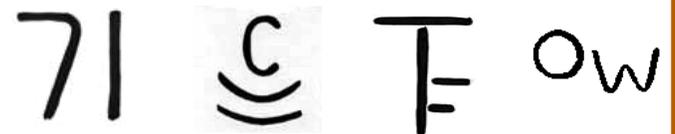

This is done on a five year cycle. All livestock brands which are registered with the state must be re-registered by June 30, 2012, in order to be in the 2012 brand book and to be a valid brand.

Renewal notices were mailed on March 1st; anyone who has a registered brand and has not received a notice should call the State Brands Registrar, Anna Tillotson, at 1-800-678-2660 or 601-359-1121.

Anyone interested in obtaining a new livestock brand should also call the same number.

Mississippi Code 69-29-105 outlines the process for registering or transferring a livestock brand and the penalty for branding livestock with a brand which has not been registered.

The registration fee for a five year period is $5.00.

with two-year-old bred Brangus heifers. I've always used ear tags for identification, but with this new group of cattle, I wanted to freeze brand," added Nash.

Nash said the first thing he had to do was check with the Mississippi Agricultural and Livestock Theft Bureau to register his brand, which only costs $5.00 for five years. Once his brand was registered, he placed an order with L & H Branding Irons in Mandan, North Dakota, to customize a four-inch copper alloy freeze branding iron using his initials (CN).

Listed below are the step-by-step instructions that Nash used during his freeze branding procedure.

- Get your livestock facility completely and properly set up.
- Use plastic or Styrofoam (not metal) ice chest to put your branding iron in the liquid nitrogen or dry ice with ninety-nine percent pure denatured alcohol.
- Let the irons cool for 20 minutes before first use in liquid nitrogen or dry ice and denatured alcohol.
- Clip the area to be branded. Nash used Oster clippers with surgical/freeze brand blade set to prepare the hide to receive the brand.

- Brush or wipe the shaved area clean.

- Spray a liberal coat of ninety-nine percent pure denatured alcohol on the clipped surface. This forms a layer that helps transfer the cold temperature of the iron to the hide.

- Apply the branding iron for the predetermined amount of time. Since he was using liquid nitrogen, he started his timer for 25 seconds, which is the time that L & H Branding Irons recommends for freeze branding cattle. Dry ice and denatured alcohol takes 50-60 seconds.

"Once I started freeze branding my cattle, I realized that it was not taking any more time for branding than it does when I regularly vaccinate them. Freeze branding is a relatively simple procedure. It only takes a little preparation and patience during the process," said Nash.

For more information on freeze branding, contact your veterinarian or your local County Extension Service, or go to Mississippi State University Extension Service website at: <http://msucare.com/pubs/publications/p2464.pdf>.

To register a brand, contact Anna Tillotson with the Mississippi Agricultural and Livestock Theft Bureau at 601-359-1121.
