No Shortage of Bacon, but Prices Expected to Rise

By Jim Suhr
Associated Press

Bacon lovers can relax. They'll find all they want on supermarket shelves in the coming months, though their pocketbooks may take a hit.

The economics of the current drought are likely to nose up prices for bacon and other pork products next year, by as much as 10 percent. But U.S. agricultural economists are dismissing reports of a global bacon shortage that lent sizzle to headlines and Twitter feeds last week. Simply put, the talk of scarcity is hogwash.

"Use of the word 'shortage' caused visions of (1970s-style) gas-line lines in a lot of people's heads, and that's not the case," said Steve Meyer, president of Iowa-based Paragon Economics and a consultant to the National Pork Producers Council and National Pork Board.

"If the definition of shortage is that you can't find it on the shelves, then no, the concern is not valid. If the concern is higher cost for it, then yes."

Fears about a scarcity of bacon swept across social and mainstream media last week after a trade group in Europe said a bacon shortage was "unavoidable," citing a sharp decline in the continent's pig herd and drought-inflated feed costs. The report caused much consternation over a product that used to be merely a breakfast staple, but nowadays flavors everything from brownies to vodka.

The alarm was quickly dismissed by the American Farm Bureau Federation as "baloney."

"Pork supplies will decrease slightly as we go into 2013," Farm Bureau economist John Anderson said. "But the idea that there'll be widespread shortages, that we'll run out of pork, that's really overblown."

The stubborn drought in the U.S., the world's biggest supplier of feed grains, undeniably will affect pig production. The Corn Belt's lack of moisture twice has prompted the U.S. Agriculture Department to slash its forecast for this year's corn output. The government now expects U.S. production of the grain to amount to 10.8 billion bushels, the least since 2006.

Those lowered expectations sent prices of corn -- also used in ethanol, further squeezing supply -- to record highs through much of the summer. Feed generally makes up about 60 percent of the expense of raising a pig. Rather than absorb the higher costs, swine and beef producers often have culled their animals by sending them to slaughter.

As of September 1, the nation's inventory of hogs numbered 67.5 million head, up slightly from a year earlier, the USDA reported. But

The stubborn drought in the U.S., the world's biggest supplier of feed grains, undeniably will affect pig production.

Rumors of a looming pork shortage have been greatly exaggerated.

the USDA suggested that pork supplies will tighten next year as the nation's breeding stock and intended farrowings -- birthings of litters of pigs -- likely will drop due to high feed costs.

"I think we're going to (still) see pretty substantial liquidations" of livestock, Meyer said, guessing that three percent of the nation's breeding pigs could be sent to slaughter by next March. "And by my estimation, that's a big move."

The USDA said the breeding inventory of sows and boars stands at 5.79 million head, down slightly from last year and off one percent from the previous quarter.

Such liquidations could mean a temporary glut of pork on the U.S. market, depressing pork prices before the oversupply eases and the volume of pork drops again next year, causing hog prices to rebound, said Ron Plain, an agricultural economics professor at the University of Missouri in Columbia. Consequently, he estimates, the higher costs will be passed along to consumers, who could end up paying 10 percent more for their bacon.

The USDA said a pound of sliced bacon cost an average of $4.05 at the nation's supermarkets, down 22 cents from a week earlier.

Pig producer Phil Borgic is banking on high prices. With 3,400 sows near Nokomis in central Illinois, Borgic figures he's had to spend $2 million more this year for the 600,000 bushels of corn he feeds his pigs. Rather than sell off animals on the spot market, the 56-year-old farmer is hedging his bets by contracting them out for slaughter over a staggered period in coming months -- what he sees only as a break-even proposition.

"The previous couple of years have been good to us," he said. "Then the drought changed the ballgame on a worldwide level."

He waves off the concerns about consumers facing shortages.

"The U.S. has plenty of pork, and we won't run out here," he said. "We'll have some price inflation, but we have plenty of supply."

HAM & CHEESE MUFFINS

- 2 cups flour
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 egg
- 1 cup buttermilk
- 1/4 cup vegetable oil
- 8 ounces ham steak, boneless, diced
- 1 1/2 cups cheddar cheese, grated

Preheat oven to 400° F. Lightly grease and flour 12-count muffin tin. In a large bowl stir together flour, baking powder, and salt; set aside. Whisk together the egg, buttermilk, and oil in a small bowl. Stir in the ham and cheese. Using a rubber spatula, stir the egg mixture into the dry ingredients just until combined. Do not over mix. Spoon into each of the prepared muffin tins approximately 3/4 full. Bake until golden brown, about 20 minutes. Remove from muffin tin and let cool. Note: Consider bacon or crumbled sausage in place of the ham.

ONE-SKILLET PORK WITH WILD RICE AND HERBS

- 1 pound pork tenderloin, lean, cut into bite-sized pieces
- 1 8-ounce package sliced white mushrooms, or brown mushrooms
- 1 1/2 cups chicken broth, reduced-sodium
- 1 cup uncooked white and wild rice blend
- 1 tablespoon Italian herbs, herbs de Provence or other dried herb blend
- 1 1/2 cups frozen mixed vegetables, thawed
- Salt and black pepper

Combine pork, mushrooms, broth, rice, and herbs in a large skillet or sauté pan with tight-fitting lid over high heat. Bring to boil, reduce to simmer, cover and cook 15 minutes. Stir in mixed vegetables and continue to cook until liquid has absorbed, rice is tender, and pork is cooked through, about 5 minutes. Season with salt and pepper to taste, and serve.

GRILLED PORK PANINI

- 3 cooked pork chops, thinly sliced
- 8 slices Italian bread
- 1/2 cup pesto
- 4 1-ounce slices Provolone cheese
- Olive oil

Spread one tablespoon pesto on each slice of bread. Top four slices of bread with sliced pork chops and cheese; top each sandwich with remaining bread. Lightly brush outer surface of sandwiches with olive oil; grill in a medium-hot skillet until toasted on each side.

BACON AND MUSHROOM
BITE-SIZE QUICHE

- 8 slices bacon
- 1/4 pound fresh mushrooms, chopped
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1/3 cup green onion, chopped
- 1 2/3 cups Swiss cheese, shredded
- Pastry for double-crust pie (homemade or purchased)
- 5 eggs
- 1 2/3 cups sour cream

Preheat oven to 375° F. On a lightly floured board, roll out the pastry dough 1/16-inch thick. Using a 3-inch cutter, cut out 42 circles; re-roll scraps as needed. Fit circles into bottoms and slightly up sides of lightly greased 2 1-inch muffin pans. Meanwhile, fry bacon slices until crisp, drain; crumble or chop. Chop mushrooms, and sauté in butter until limp and liquid evaporates. Combine bacon, mushrooms, green onion, and cheese. Divide filling equally among muffin cups. In a large bowl, beat together eggs, add sour cream and stir until smooth. Spoon about 1 tablespoon into each muffin cup. Bake until puffed and light brown, 20-25 minutes. Cool in pans 5 minutes; carefully lift quiche out. Serve warm or let cool on wire rack. If made ahead, wrap cooled quiches airtight, and refrigerate overnight. Reheat, uncovered, in a 350° F. oven for about 10 minutes.

MEDITERRANEAN PASTA SALAD

- 3/4 pound cooked pork roast, cut into thin strips
- 12 ounces penne pasta, or ziti pasta, cooked and drained
- 1 small cucumber, diced
- 6 ounces feta cheese, crumbled
- 1 cup cherry tomatoes, halved
- 1/2 cup fresh mint, chopped
- 1/2 cup Greek vinaigrette dressing

In a large bowl, gently toss all ingredients with dressing. Serve on shallow salad bowls or dinner plates.

Advertising Guidelines

The Mississippi Market Bulletin is published on the 1st and 15th of each month by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce. The Mississippi Market Bulletin is an important way for the Department to disseminate news and information about issues affecting Mississippi's agriculture industry and the Department's operations.

Through its classified advertising section, the Bulletin provides a forum for Mississippi residents to buy and sell agricultural related items while also giving statewide exposure to small farmers who might not normally have the economic resources for such widespread advertising. The Bulletin does not publish commercial or display ads and all items offered for sale must have been produced, raised, grown or operated on the seller's property. Businesses, corporations, dealerships, brokers or other commercial enterprises are not allowed to advertise in the Mississippi Market Bulletin.

Advertising rules and guidelines have been established for the Mississippi Market Bulletin in order to comply with regulations enforced by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce and to maintain the objectives of the publication. The staff of the Mississippi Market Bulletin reserves the right to edit, revise or reject any advertisement.

The Mississippi Market Bulletin assumes no responsibility for any notice appearing in the Bulletin nor for any transaction resulting from published notices. Advertisers are cautioned that it is against the law to misrepresent any product offered for sale in public notices or advertisements carried in any publication that is delivered by the United States Postal Service.

- In order to advertise in the Mississippi Market Bulletin you must be a subscriber. To place an ad, you must include your name, mailing address and account number that the subscription is listed under on each ad that you submit (this information will not be printed). Each subscriber is allowed to advertise two ads in the Bulletin, listing one ad per category.
- All listings must be agriculture related (raised, grown, produced or operated on your farm). At the top of your ad, write the category that the ad should be listed under. We reserve the right to edit, revise or reject each ad. Please print or type your ad.
- There is a 30-word limit for classified advertisements, this includes: price (on the item you are selling), your city, county and telephone number or name and complete address must be included in the ad if you do not list a telephone number. Ads cannot be held over from one issue to another. You must submit them for each issue.
- Out-of-state residents are not eligible to advertise with the following exceptions: Out-of-state ads are allowed in the "Wanting To Buy" category. Out-of-state ads are allowed for individuals owning farm property within the state that is being offered for sale (consisting of 10 acres or more).

Ag Museum Celebrates Harvest Festival November 6-10

By Judy Smith

 VisitSouth.com

Just in time for the season of harvest and Thanksgiving, the Mississippi Agriculture and Forestry Museum presents its annual Harvest Festival. The festival runs from November 6 through 10, 2012. You are invited to journey back in time and experience Mississippi as it was many years ago before technology took over almost every aspect of our lives.

Visitors will get to experience how life was like for their grandparents and great grandparents. Festival-goers will also get to see a close-up look at life on the farm. Demonstrations in the practices of days of yore are given each day from 9:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. Guests to Harvest Fest will get to see how cotton gins, cane mills, and grist mills were run years ago. Another plus to the demonstrations will be that visitors will get to sample some of the products they get to see produced. There's nothing like hot, fresh biscuits right from the oven, and did we mention they were free? Children and adults will be intrigued to see the inner workings of an actual blacksmith shop and a print shop. The practices are much different from those of today and will give visitors a greater appreciation for our elders and the work that they endured to make our world a better place.

While touring the museum, visitors will get to see exactly how agriculture has changed and formed the state into what it is today. It is fascinating to see how much agriculture has changed and evolved throughout the years. Everyone will love looking at the antiquated methods of farming and the equipment used by farmers years ago. Before tractors and electronic equipment took over the field of agriculture, horses and mules reigned supreme, and the exhibits will give a glimpse of that time. Guests will love to see how farming has progressed from the days of our ancestors.

In addition to agriculture, festival goers can experience the world of flying and its historical connection to agriculture in the exhibit featured in the National Agricultural Aviation Museum. Don't miss out on the model train exhibit inside the museum to learn more about what life was like along the rails in Mississippi.

There's always fun for everyone at the Harvest Festival from good music to good food. Train and wagon rides are available each day from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. for $1 per rider. You'll have to stop by the old time General Store to pick up a few souvenirs from your day at the festival.

On Saturday, you'll get a special treat. There will be a special display of antique tractors and hit-and-miss engines.

Admission is $5 for adults, $4 for senior adults, 60 and over, $3 for children ages 5-18, and $1 for children ages 3-4. The Harvest Festival is supported by Monsanto.

For more information, contact the Museum at (601) 432-4500 or 1-800-844-8687. The Mississippi Agriculture and Forestry Museum is located at 1150 Lakeland Drive in Jackson.

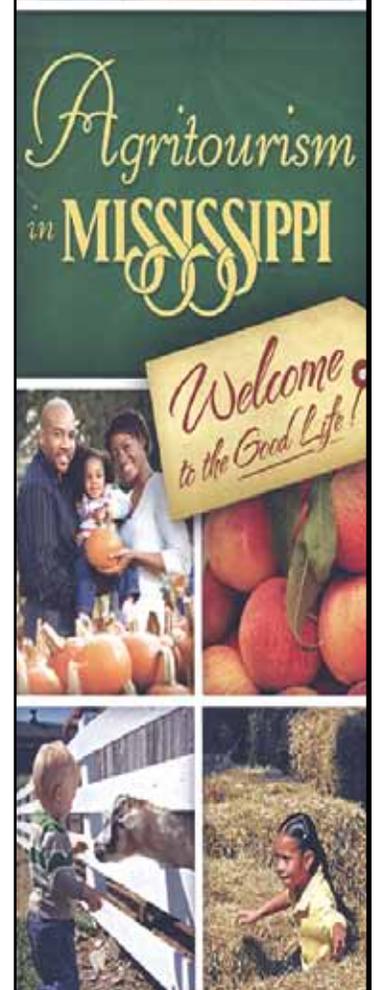

Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce Launches Agritourism Registration Program

Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce Cindy-Hyde Smith announced that the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce (MDAC) has launched its new Agritourism Registration Program. This program is part of the recently passed Senate Bill 2439, which was enacted to provide limited liability to persons engaged in agritourism activities.

Under state law, those agritourism operations registered with MDAC and having met certain signage requirements advising visitors of the inherent risks of participating in agritourism activities will be provided with limited liability.

To become eligible to register with the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce, certain criteria must be met and adhered to. Warning signs with specific language, as defined by law, must be clearly posted and maintained in visible entrance and activity locations. Additionally, upon application for registration, the landowner must pay an annual fee of fifty dollars. MDAC will promote the registered agritourism operations through its website and other media outlets.

Agritourism is about outdoor fun, education, and entertainment on a working farm. It also provides our farmers and landowners with a unique opportunity to demonstrate the importance of Mississippi's largest industry—agriculture. For more information about the Agritourism Registration Program or to obtain an application, visit www.msagritourism.org or contact Donna West at (601) 359-1118 or donna@mdac.ms.gov.
