Tips To Prepare For Spring Calving Season

By Southernstates.com

Benjamin Franklin said, "By failing to prepare you are preparing to fail." When it comes to calving the time to prepare isn't when the first cow starts calving, but rather weeks or months before the first calf is born. The more preparation put in prior to calving, the easier your calving season should be. Now is the time to make sure your spring calving herd is in good body condition, you have the right equipment on hand, and calving areas are prepared.

Importance of Body Condition

The ideal body condition score (BCS) for a spring calving brood cow is 5 (on a 10 point scale). "A BCS of 5 allows the cow to deliver the nutrition needed by the fetus to develop without "robbing" the cow herself of key nutrients," explains Mike Peacock, Southern States Livestock Feed Sales Manager.

"As a result, calves are born with more strength, including brown fat to sustain body heat, and stronger lifetime immune systems, including the ability to fight off causes of early calf mortality," adds Peacock.

Cows in higher body condition typically have more immunoglobulins in their colostrum than thinner cows, which gives the calves a greater level of disease protection.

If you have a cow with a BCS less than 5 it's not too late to improve her score. As the cows are in their last trimester of pregnancy, it's even more important to offer them high quality feeds at this point. If they have a score lower than 5, consider increasing their daily feed intake in addition to offering them a higher quality feed.

The time to try to improve your brood cow's BCS is prior to calving. Once she calves, it will be difficult to improve her score as nutrient needs during lactation are very high. Remember a good BCS not only makes calving easier, but it also helps your cow return to estrus sooner and breed back within an acceptable time period of less than 90 days post-calving.

Brood Cow Preparation

Of course the best way to prepare your brood cow for the upcoming calving season is through a comprehensive nutrition plan.; Organic trace minerals are an important component to any feed program.

Peacock comments, "They are the key components to aid digestion of coarse forages, the building blocks required for immunity, production of milk and required for ovulation, resulting in breed back."

Vaccinations are another critical aspect of any breeding operation. The goal of your vaccination program should be to utilize the cow's immune system, via colostrum, to protect the calf. As the calf is born without antibodies to protect against infections, colostrum is the source of antibodies for the calf. Consult with your vet and follow label recommendations to ensure your cows are on an appropriate vaccination schedule.

Farm Preparation

Now is the time to do a pre-calving walk-through of your pens, chutes and calving stalls if you use them. All equipment and calving areas should be clean and ready to use. It's always better to prepare these items in the light of day rather than scrambling to make them right at night when the first calf is on its way out.

Every cattle farmer needs the following supplies on hand during calving season: disposable obstetrical sleeves, obstetrical chains and handles, mechanical calf pullers, injectable antibiotics, lubricant, and disinfectant (Novalsan® or Betadine®). Other helpful items to have around are flashlights, old towels and even a bucket of non detergent soap and warm water. If possible, make up a portable kit so you can quickly move your supplies to wherever your cow is calving.

Preparation is Key!

Spending a little time preparing for calving now can pay dividends later. By ensuring your brood cows are at the appropriate BCS and have been vaccinated will help reduce calf mortality, calving difficulties and outbreak of diseases in calves. Have questions about preparing your brood cows or need new equipment for the upcoming season? Contact your local veterinarian or your local county Extension Service.

From Our Kitchen To Yours

Beef, It's What's For Dinner.

*****

BEEF STEAK SALAD WITH DRIED CHERRIES

- 1 beef top sirloin steak, cut 1-inch thick
- 4 small or 2 medium heads Boston lettuce, torn
- 1/2 cup dried cherries or dried cranberries
- 1/4 cup crumbled blue cheese
- 1/4 cup pine nuts or coarsely chopped walnuts, toasted
- Dressing:
  - 1/4 cup olive oil
  - 1/4 cup red wine vinegar
  - 1 clove garlic, minced
  - 1/2 teaspoon salt
  - 1/2 teaspoon pepper

Combine dressing ingredients in medium bowl. Remove and reserve 1/3 cup; cover and refrigerate. Cut steak lengthwise in half and then crosswise into 1/8 to 1/4 - inch thick strips. Add beef to remaining dressing; toss to coat. Cover and marinate in refrigerator 30 minutes. Remove beef from marinade; discard marinade. Heat large nonstick skillet over medium-high heat until hot. Add 1/2 of beef and stir-fry 1 to 2 minutes or until outside surface of beef is no longer pink. Remove from skillet and repeat with remaining beef. Combine lettuce and reserved dressing in a large bowl, toss to coat. Arrange beef over lettuce; sprinkle with cheese, cherries, and nuts as desired. Serve immediately.

TINY TACO BEEF TARTS

- 12 ounces ground beef (95% lean)
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1/2 cup prepared mild or medium taco sauce
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cumin
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- 2 packages (2.1 ounces each) frozen mini phyllo shells (30 shells total)
- 1/2 cup shredded reduced fat Mexican cheese blend
- Toppings: shredded lettuce, sliced grape or cherry tomatoes, guacamole, sour cream, sliced olives

Preheat oven to 350° F. Brown ground beef with onion and garlic in large nonstick skillet over medium heat for 8 to 10 minutes or until beef is no longer pink, breaking beef into small crumbles. Pour off drippings if necessary. Add taco sauce, cumin, salt, and pepper; cook, and stir 1 to 2 minutes or until mixture is heated through. Place phyllo shells on rimmed baking sheet. Spoon beef mixture evenly into shells; top with cheese and bake 9 to 10 minutes or until shells are crisp and cheese is melted. Top tarts with lettuce, tomatoes, guacamole, sour cream, and olives, as desired.

BEEF TENDERLOIN WITH WILD MUSHROOM GRITS

- 1 center-cut beef tenderloin roast (2 to 3 pounds)
- 3 tablespoons fresh thyme, chopped
- 4 teaspoons pepper
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 pound assorted wild mushrooms (oyster, cremini, shiitake), coarsely chopped
- Salt and pepper to taste
- Cooked grits

Preheat oven to 425°F. Combine thyme and pepper; reserve 1 tablespoon for mushrooms. Press remaining seasoning mixture evenly onto all surfaces of beef roast. Place roast on rack in shallow roasting pan. Insert ovenproof meat thermometer so tip is centered in thickest part of beef, not resting in fat; do not add water or cover. Roast in 425° oven 35 to 40 minutes for medium rare, 45 to 50 minutes for medium doneness. Remove roast when meat thermometer registers 135°F for medium rare and 150°F for medium. Transfer roast to carving board, tent loosely with aluminum foil. Let stand 15 to 20 minutes. Meanwhile melt butter in large nonstick skillet over medium heat. Add mushrooms and 1 tablespoon reserved seasoning; cook and stir about 7 minutes or until mushrooms are tender. Season mushrooms with salt and pepper as desired; keep warm. Carve roast into slices; serve over grits, as desired and top with mushrooms.

SWEET & TANGY SLOPPY JOES

- 1 pound lean ground beef
- 1 medium yellow, green or red bell pepper, seeded & chopped
- 3/4 cup finely chopped onion
- 1 can (11.5 ounces) regular or reduced-sodium spicy 100% vegetable juice
- 3 tablespoons packed brown sugar
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 4 whole or honey wheat hamburger buns, split

Heat large nonstick skillet over medium heat until hot. Add ground beef, bell pepper, and onion; cook 8 to 10 minutes, breaking up beef and stirring occasionally. Stir in vegetable juice, brown sugar, Worcestershire sauce; bring to boil. Reduce heat and simmer, uncovered, 7 to 9 minutes or until most of the liquid has evaporated and thickens slightly. Evenly place beef mixture on bottom half of each bun, and top with other half of bun.

This timber report contains aggregated individual timber sale stumpage data. Many variables, such as raw material demand, mill inventories, buyer competition, quality, topography and weather, play key roles in determining local prices. Pine Sawtimber prices are based upon a 14-inch Diameter-at-Breast-Height (DBH) log size. Pine Chip N Saw prices are based upon a 10-inch DBH log size. The stumpage prices shown here are reprinted with permission from the Timber Owner Market Guide; a bi-monthly publication of Forest2Market (www.forest2market.com).

Hinds Community College 2013 Bull Test Sale
Mississippi Beef Cattle Improvement Association
Spring 2013 Bull & Heifer Sale
Thu., Mar. 7, 2013 - 12 Noon

Hinds Community College Bull Sale Facility - Raymond, MS (Hinds Co.)

The Hinds Community College Bull Test and Mississippi Beef Cattle Improvement Association (BCIA) are offering an exceptional group of performance backed beef bulls and heifers in our 2013 Hinds Bull Test/Mississippi BCIA Spring Bull and Heifer Sales. Several different breeds of cattle will be available. This sale features prospective herd sires with complete expected progeny difference and ultrasound scan data. All bulls are screened for structural problems, disposition, and performance and are guaranteed as breeders. These bulls have passed breeding soundness examinations and met minimum growth and scrotal circumference requirements as well. Heifers will be confirmed pregnant and meet the requirements for the Miss Premium Heifer program. Bulls and heifers will be available for viewing starting on the afternoon of March 6. For more information or to request a catalog, contact: Kenny Banes (Hinds Test bulls) at 601-857-3351, Jane Parish (BCIA bulls) at 662-325-7466 or jparish@ads.msstate.edu, or Brandi Karisch (BCIA heifers) at 662-325-7465 or bkarisch@ads.msstate.edu. Sale information is also available at <http://msucare.com/livestock/beef/mbcia>. These sales will be preceded by the Mississippi Beef Cattle Improvement Association annual membership meeting on Wednesday, March 6, 2013 starting at 6:00 p.m. at the same location. A sponsored supper will be provided along with an educational program. Attendees will then have an opportunity to preview the sale cattle as part of this meeting. Please RSVP for the supper by contacting Mari Quinn at 662-325-3516 or mquinn@ads.msstate.edu.

USDA Finalizes New Microloan Program

By USDA

Microloans up to $35,000 aim to assist small farmers, veterans, and disadvantaged producers.

Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack announced a new microloan program from the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) designed to help small and family operations, beginning and socially disadvantaged farmers secure loans under $35,000. The new microloan program is aimed at bolstering the progress of producers through their start-up years by providing needed resources and helping to increase equity so that farmers may eventually graduate to commercial credit and expand their operations. The microloan program will also provide a less burdensome, more simplified application process in comparison to traditional farm loans.

"I have met several small and beginning farmers, returning veterans and disadvantaged producers interested in careers in farming who too often must rely on credit cards or personal loans with high interest rates to finance their start-up operations," said Vilsack. "By further expanding access to credit to those just starting to put down roots in farming, USDA continues to help grow a new generation of farmers, while ensuring the strength of an American agriculture sector that drives our economy, creates jobs, and provides the most secure and affordable food supply in the world."

The new microloans, said Vilsack, represent how USDA continues to make year-over-year gains in expanding credit opportunities for minority, socially-disadvantaged and young and beginning farmers and ranchers across the United States. The final rule establishing the microloan program will be published in the January 17 issue of the Federal Register.

Administered through USDA's Farm Service Agency (FSA) Operating Loan Program, the new microloan program offers credit options and solutions to a variety of producers. FSA has a long history of providing agricultural credit to the nation's farmers and ranchers through its Operating Loan Program. In assessing its programs, FSA evaluated the needs of smaller farm operations and any unintended barriers to obtaining financing. For beginning farmers and ranchers, for instance, the new microloan program offers a simplified loan application process. In addition, for those who want to grow niche crops to sell directly to ethnic markets and farmers markets, the microloan program offers a path to obtain financing. For past FSA Rural Youth Loan recipients, the microloan program provides a bridge to successfully transition to larger-scale operations.

Since 2009, USDA has made a record amount of farm loans through FSA—more than 128,000 loans totaling nearly $18 billion. USDA has increased the number of loans to beginning farmers and ranchers from 11,000 loans in 2008 to 15,000 loans in 2011. More than 40 percent of USDA's farm loans now go to beginning farmers. In addition, USDA has increased its lending to socially-disadvantaged producers by nearly 50 percent since 2008.

Producers can apply for a maximum of $35,000 to pay for initial start-up expenses such as hoop houses to extend the growing season, essential tools, irrigation, delivery vehicles, and annual expenses such as seed, fertilizer, utilities, land rents, marketing, and distribution expenses. As their financing needs increase, applicants can apply for an operating loan up to the maximum amount of $300,000 or obtain financing from a commercial lender under FSA's Guaranteed Loan Program.

USDA farm loans can be used to purchase land, livestock, equipment, feed, seed, and supplies, or be to construct buildings or make farm improvements. Small farmers often rely on credit cards or personal loans, which carry high interest rates and have less flexible payment schedules, to finance their operations. Expanding access to credit, USDA's microloan will provide a simple and flexible loan process for small operations.

Producers interested in applying for a microloan may contact their local Farm Service Agency office.

Invasive Weeds: Cogongrass in Jones & Covington Counties. Do you have it?

The Mississippi Forestry Commission is now accepting applications from private landowners in Jones and Covington Counties for free Cogongrass herbicide treatments*.

This program is made available by a USDA Forest Service grant and is time limited. Applications must be received by May 1, 2013. Treatments will occur until funds are exhausted.

Landowners can find applications online at www.mfc.ms.gov or at their local Mississippi Forestry Commission office, NRCS office, or Mississippi State Extension office.

There will also be educational meetings planned for both counties in the near future.

If you have any questions or need help identifying Cogongrass please contact Michael Mathis (601) 344-8599 or Bretta Walsh (601) 906-8479.

GARDENING TIPS

February Garden Calendar

By MSU Extension Service

Planning

- Decide on plants you would like to have in your spring garden and flower beds.
- Consider buying new plants that you have not tried before.
- Determine how many seed packets you need, remember to order extra seed if you are planning to replant for a second crop of flowers after the heat of the summer.

Equipment

- Check tools for rust. Clean rust from spades and hoes. Prevent future rust by coating tool heads with mineral oil or used motor oil.

Planting

- Plant cold weather annuals Nasturtiums, Pansies, Snapdragons, English Daisies, Sweet William, and Calendulas
- Start cold weather vegetables in cold frame Broccoli, Cauliflower, Onion sets, English Peas, Kale, Carrots, Collards, Beets, Radishes, Kohlrabi, and Chinese Cabbage.
- Plant Asparagus in prepared beds.
- Start seeds of Herbs indoors for transplant outdoors.
- February is an ideal time to set out Dogwoods. Planting site should be well drained and plants should be planted shallowly. Dogwood prefers acid soil.
- Broad-leaved Evergreens such as Magnolia, Holly, and Photinia can be set out at this time.
- Plant new roses, or move old roses soon after February 15.

Fertilizing

- Roses -- Apply top-dressing of organic fertilizer under thick layer of compost or rotted manure.
- Fertilize Trees and Shrubs (not spring flowering shrubs) if not fertilized in January.

Pest Control

- Spray garden with dormant spray. This will kill many eggs and spores of insects and diseases. Do not apply if temperatures will dip below freezing within 4 hours of application.

Pruning

- Prune evergreens for size and shape. Cut out dead wood of flowering shrubs. Dispose of clippings to prevent disease or insect spread.
- Prune Hydrangeas during the last week in the month.

Home Accent

- Winter blooming shrubs can be forced to bloom indoors by cutting stems when buds begin to swell and placed in water indoors. Warmer temperatures will stimulate blooming. Place sprays of Forsythia, Flowering Quince, Oriental Magnolia, or fruit trees in a vase in a sunny window.

In Bloom

- Crocus, early Daffodils, Helleborus, Hyacinth, Pansies, Scilla, Snowdrop, Snowflake, Violet, Camellia, Forsythia, Flowering Quince, Loropetalum, Pussy Willow, Thumbergia Spirea, and Winter Jasmine.

Effective Lawn Weed Management Begins Now

By Dr. Wayne Wells
Extension Professor &
Turfgrass Specialist - MSU

February is always a busy month of activities to remember for me with Ground Hog Day, the Super Bowl, Valentine's Day, and my wife's birthday.

For effective lawn weed management, February is also the month to take action in controlling existing winter weeds, such as clovers, wild garlic, henbit, chickweed, etc., with post emerge herbicides. Now is also the time to apply pre-emerge herbicides to prevent annual weeds, such as crabgrass, goose grass, spurge, etc., from infesting the lawn through spring and summer.

Pre-emerge herbicides must be applied prior to weed seed germination, therefore, the Super Bowl should be a reminder to get your pre-emerge herbicide purchased and Valentine's Day generally provides the perfect timing for applying it.

This is also an ideal time to apply post-emerge herbicides since most warm-season turf species are somewhat dormant and less likely to be injured by the herbicides. The winter weeds are actively growing and have not been mowed, so there is ample leaf area to absorb the herbicides for effective control. There is also some efficiency gained since both the post-emerge and pre-emerge herbicides can be applied in the same application.

With any pesticide, you should always READ THE LABEL carefully and completely before applying. The herbicide label will provide a list of where it can safely be applied and the weed species the active ingredient will control and at what rate.

Loropetalums Help Anchor Landscapes

By Gary R. Bachman
MSU Horticulturist
Coastal Research & Extension Center

Much of the state got a dose of winter weather last week. Seeing pictures of gardens and landscapes farther north covered in a blanket of snow made me thankful for living on the coast. Having lived in colder climates, I had enough of snow before coming to Mississippi.

All this cold weather is getting me ready for the warmer spring and summer months, and I know many other gardeners feel the same way.

The catalogs that seem to multiply in our mailboxes promote the latest and greatest flowering annuals and perennials. Dreaming about the colors and variety available soon makes it easy to ignore some of the shrubs that provide the backbone of our landscapes.

Loropetalum is one of the best landscape shrubs we can grow. There are many selections available that will fill any landscape need. I especially like the burgundy leaf varieties, and you may recall me writing in the past about my favorites that have red/burgundy/maroon-colored foliage.

The flowers of loropetalum are strap-like and reminiscent of witch hazel flowers. These start to bloom in early spring and then sporadically through the rest of the summer. The burgundy-leaved loropetalum varieties have pink to red flowers, while green varieties have white flowers.

Burgundy loropetalum was selected as a Mississippi Medallion Winner in 2001 and is still a landscape favorite. This selection will grow to 10 feet or more if left unpruned. Loropetalum tolerates pruning well if you want your plant to remain a certain size.

The foliage of this variety is reddish purple, although cooler temperatures in the fall can turn it a bright orange. The flowers have twisted straps and are hot pink in color and have a delicate fragrance.

One of the nicest varieties introduced in recent years is Purple Pixie loropetalum. The foliage is a deep purple/burgundy, and the plant is evergreen. I really like the growth habit, which is distinctly weeping. This feature makes Purple Pixie a good choice for the spiller plant in a combination container.

Consider using this loropetalum as a perennial, and then use annuals as thrillers and fillers, according to the season. As a ground cover plant, Purple Pixie will spread up to 4 feet wide and only about 1 foot tall.

To develop the best foliage color, always plant your loropetalum in the full sun. The burgundy-leaved loropetalum tolerates partial to full shade, but the foliage will have a lot more green in these situations.

Loropetalum's watering needs are lenient. This plant tolerates the drought conditions we frequently experience in our Mississippi gardens and landscapes.

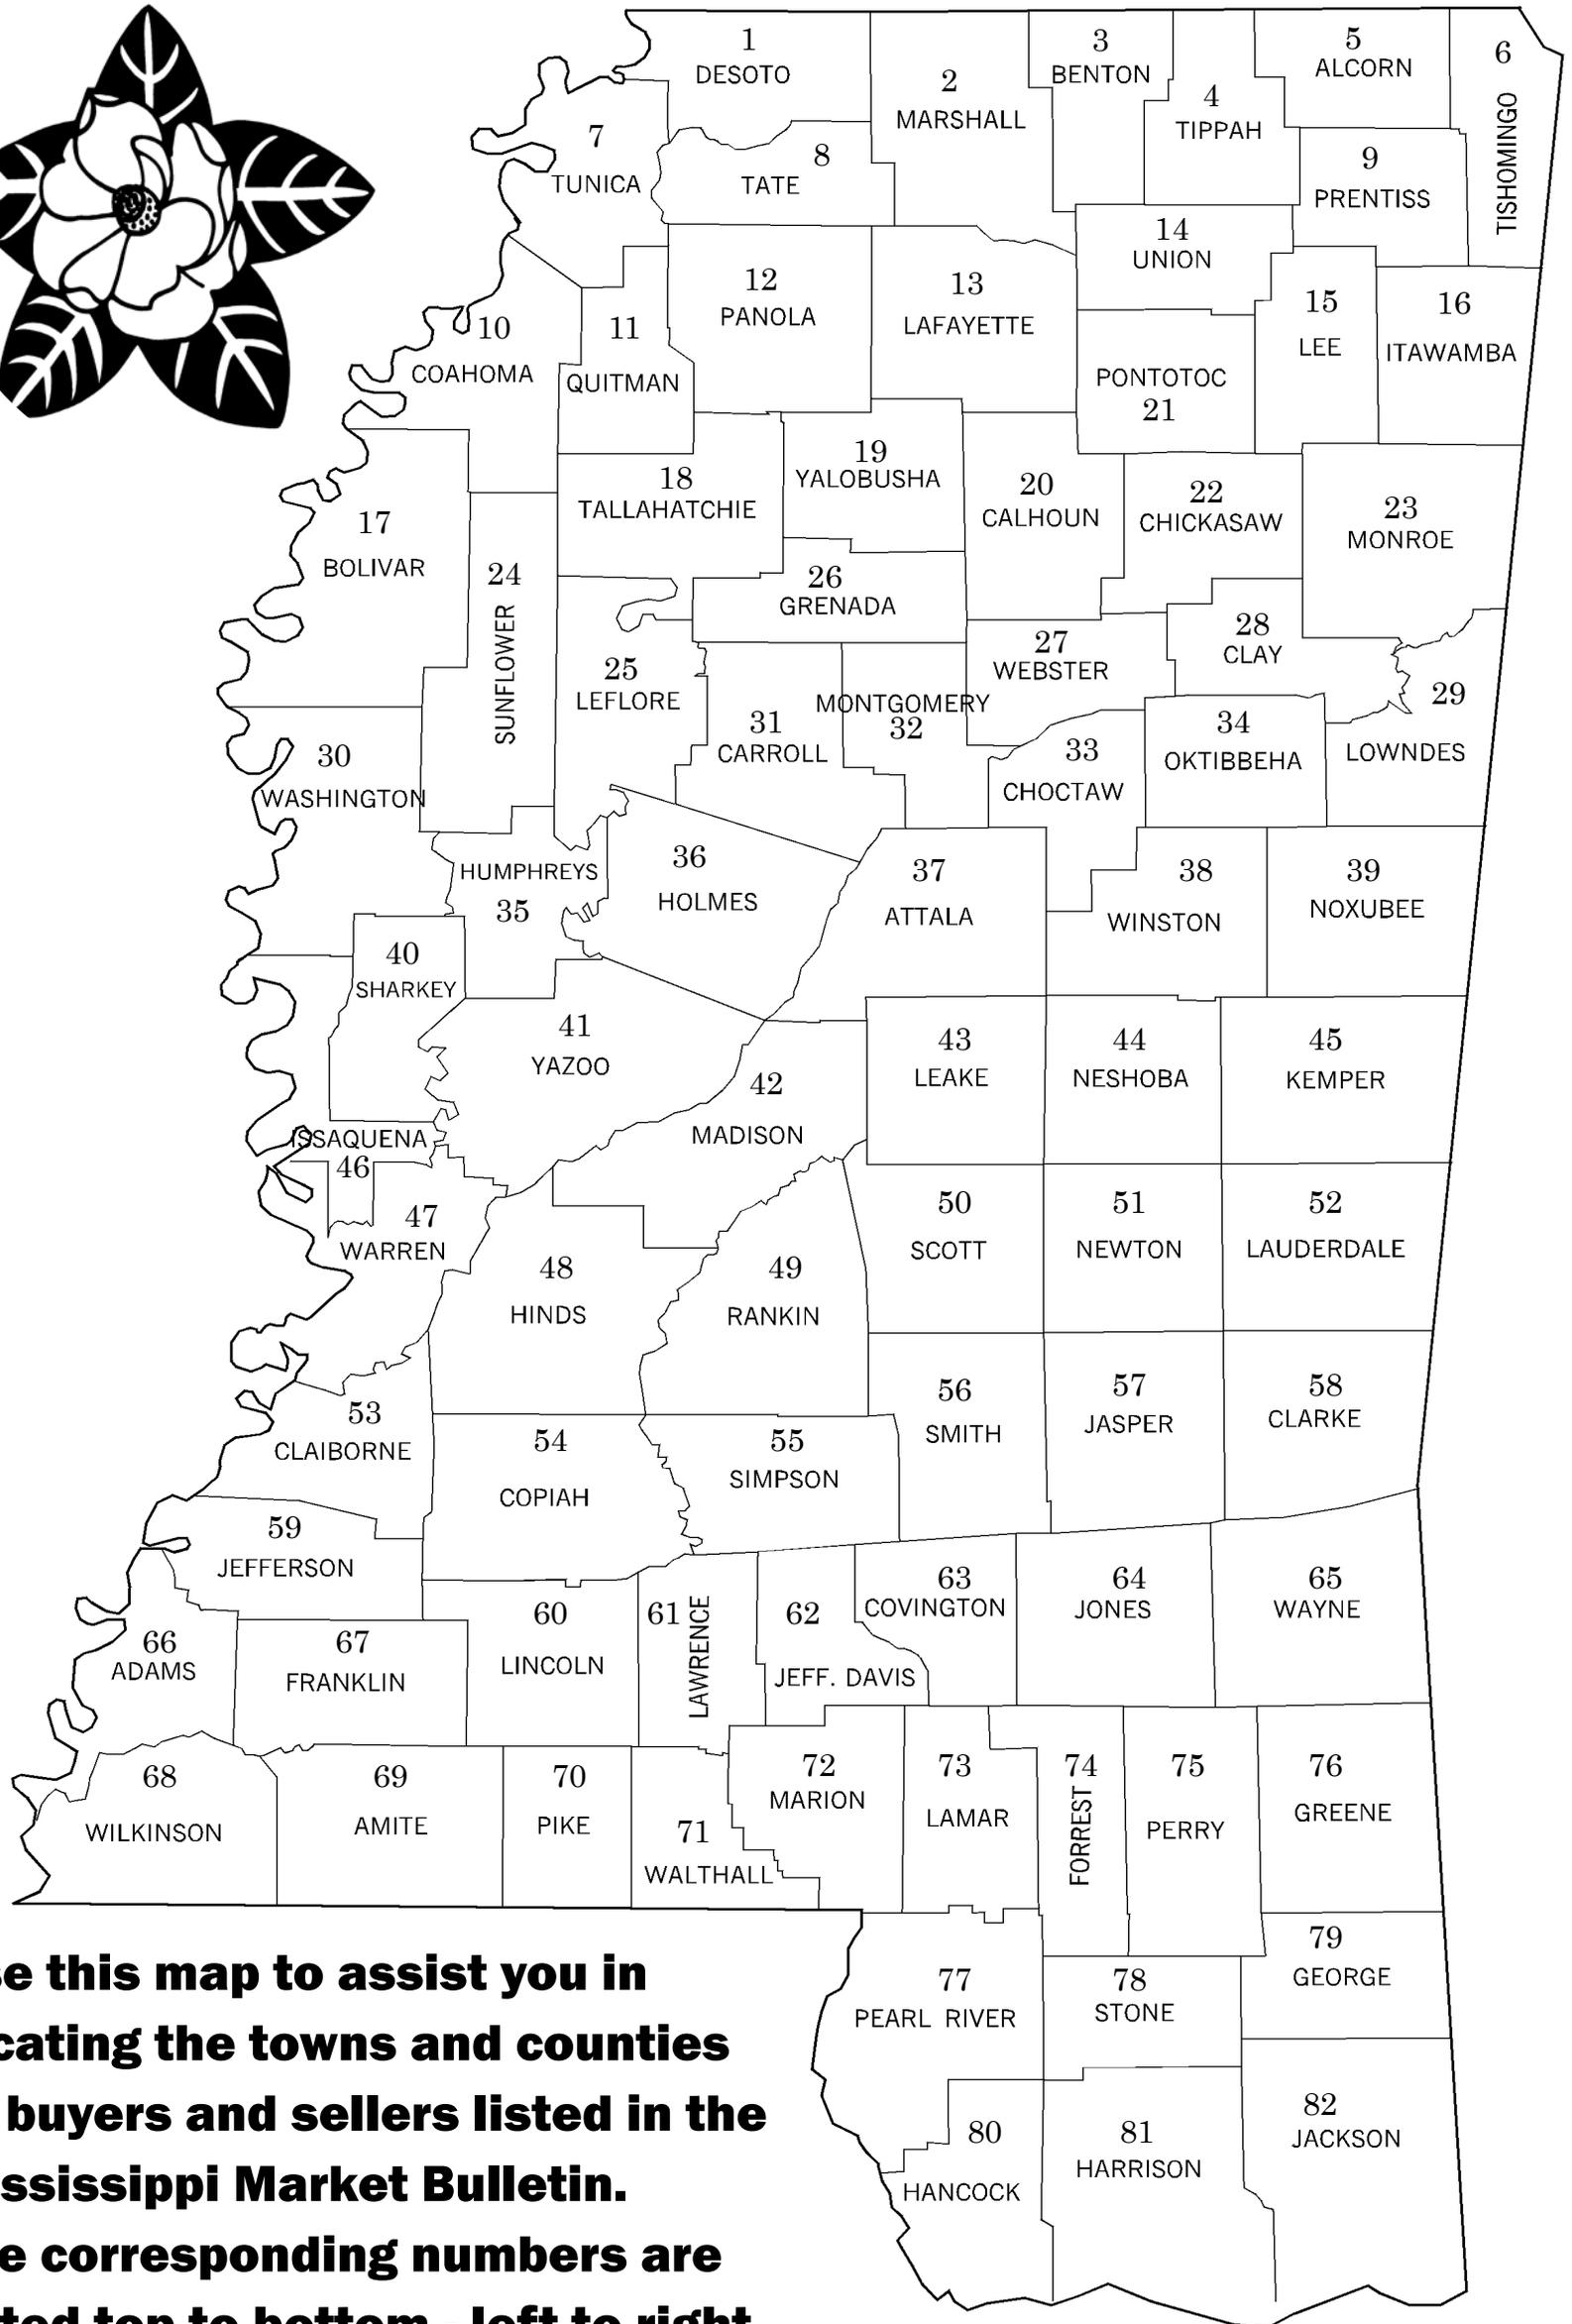

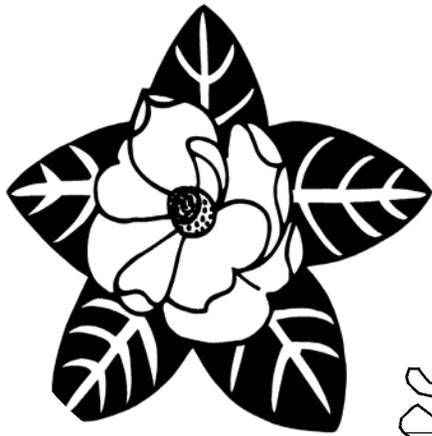

This shrub tolerates many landscape soil conditions, especially if you pay special attention to the plant's needs at planting. One of the most common mistakes gardeners make is planting loropetalum too deep. Never plant deeper than the top of the container and dig the hole at least twice as wide as the container.

Amend the native soil with good organic matter when you fill in the hole. This gives the loropetalum roots a good base to grow into. Finish off with a 2-inch layer of mulch to conserve soil moisture and inhibit weeds.

The strap-like flowers of loropetalum are reminiscent of witch hazel flowers. They bloom in early spring and sporadically through the rest of the summer. (Photo by MSU Extension Service/Gary Bachman)

Advertising Guidelines

The Mississippi Market Bulletin is published on the 1st and 15th of each month by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce. The Mississippi Market Bulletin is an important way for the Department to disseminate news and information about issues affecting Mississippi's agriculture industry and the Department's operations.

Through its classified advertising section, the Bulletin provides a forum for Mississippi residents to buy and sell agricultural related items while also giving statewide exposure to small farmers who might not normally have the economic resources for such widespread advertising. The Bulletin does not publish commercial or display ads and all items offered for sale must have been produced, raised, grown or operated on the seller's property. Businesses, corporations, dealerships, brokers or other commercial enterprises are not allowed to advertise in the Mississippi Market Bulletin.

Advertising rules and guidelines have been established for the Mississippi Market Bulletin in order to comply with regulations enforced by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce and to maintain the objectives of the publication. The staff of the Mississippi Market Bulletin reserves the right to edit, revise or reject any advertisement.

The Mississippi Market Bulletin assumes no responsibility for any notice appearing in the Bulletin nor for any transaction resulting from published notices. Advertisers are cautioned that it is against the law to misrepresent any product offered for sale in public notices or advertisements carried in any publication that is delivered by the United States Postal Service.

- In order to advertise in the Mississippi Market Bulletin you must be a subscriber. To place an ad, you must include your name, mailing address and account number that the subscription is listed under on each ad that you submit (this information will not be printed). Each subscriber is allowed to advertise two ads in the Bulletin, listing one ad per category.
- All listings must be agriculture related (raised, grown, produced or operated on your farm). At the top of your ad, write the category that the ad should be listed under. We reserve the right to edit, revise or reject each ad. Please print or type your ad.
- There is a 30-word limit for classified advertisements, this includes: price (on the item you are selling), your city, county and telephone number or name and complete address must be included in the ad if you do not list a telephone number. Ads cannot be held over from one issue to another. You must submit them for each issue.
- Out-of-state residents are not eligible to advertise with the following exceptions: Out-of-state ads are allowed in the "Wanting To Buy" category. Out-of-state ads are allowed for individuals owning farm property within the state that is being offered for sale (consisting of 10 acres or more).

30 Years of Preserving Mississippi's Agricultural Legacy

By Lise Foy
Director of Project Management
MS Agriculture & Forestry Museum

In 2013, 30 years after its opening in September of 1983, the Mississippi Agriculture and Forestry Museum will see some very positive changes. With some assistance from the Mississippi Department of Archives and History, the Museum will undergo a new master planning process that will include an updated artifact inventory, consultation on interpretation of artifacts, branding and marketing, signage and way-finding on the grounds.

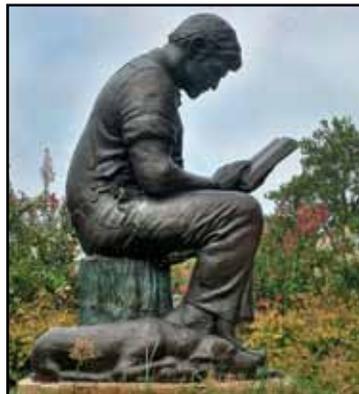

Commissioner Jim Buck Ross saw a need to preserve our Mississippi heritage and culture in a tangible way and he found strong support for the idea. The City of Jackson donated 39 acres at the intersection of I-55 and Lakeland Drive, the Mississippi State Legislature appropriated $1.5 million to construct the Heritage Center and the then newly formed Mississippi Agriculture and Forestry Museum Foundation raised an additional $1.5 million to construct permanent living history exhibits including a farmstead, an entire crossroads town and a forest study area.

Today your visit will include several attractions and exhibits added to the grounds since this initial investment. Located in the Heritage Center Gallery you will find the National Agricultural Aviation Museum which traces crop dusting from early biplanes to the aircraft of modern times and four model railroad layouts constructed and operated by the volunteer efforts of the Central Mississippi Model Railroaders Association and the Red Caboose Crew. As you venture outside to Small Town, Mississippi, you will find a complete replica of a 1920s era town including a blacksmith shop operated on a regular basis by members of the Mississippi Forge Council and the oldest operational cotton gin in the United States featured in the Delta Farm Press last fall when volunteers produced 10 bales of cotton.

Restoration of this cherished and vital asset to our state has already begun. The Nature Study Trail, through funding from the Mississippi Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, has undergone complete refurbishment of its boardwalks and awaits placement of new interpretive signage. The Epiphany Episcopal Church, circa 1844, located in Small Town has received a fresh interior paint job. And, the continuously used Sparkman Auditorium has a new floor!

The statue of the Agriculture Common Working Man is just one of the many great exhibits to see at the Ag Museum. The statue was created by Sam Gore of Mississippi College.

As we move through this exciting process of returning our Museum to its original splendor, we invite you to track our progress and help celebrate your Mississippi heritage; the story of the farmers, loggers, sawmill workers and agricultural aviators that used determination, creativity, experimentation and adaptability to build our great state.

Take a step back in time when you visit Small Town, Mississippi and experience what life would have looked like in the 1920s.

Tomato Short Course To Be Held March 5-6

By Susan Collins-Smith
MSU Ag Communications

Tomato growers from around the world will attend Mississippi State University's 23rd annual national Greenhouse Tomato Short Course March 5 and 6 at the Eagle Ridge Conference Center in Raymond, Mississippi.

The conference is open to current growers and those interested in starting a greenhouse tomato operation. Experts from MSU, Louisiana State University Ag Center, Auburn University, and the tomato industry will present information on greenhouse system components, greenhouse design and engineering, alternative heating options, marketing, budgeting, current research, plant nutrition, alternative crops, physiological disorders, plant diagnostics, disease identification and control, and pest management.

The event is a comprehensive workshop for the greenhouse tomato industry, designed to keep growers up-to-date on current research and help interested individuals determine whether the industry is right for them. The short course is the longest-running training in the United States for greenhouse tomato growers. In past years, this workshop has attracted participants from more than 25 states and around the world, including the Caribbean islands, Mexico and Latin America.

Exhibitors from throughout the United States and Canada will display their products. Advanced registration is $150 per person and must be received by February 22. Registration at the door is $175 per person.

Registration includes coffee, refreshments, three meals, educational materials and special promotional items. For a complete agenda, directions, a list of suggested hotels, or to register online, visit <http://www.greenhousetomatosc.com>.

For more information, visit the website or contact Rick Snyder at rick.snyder@msstate.edu or 601-892-3731.

Growers who preregister will receive the newest Greenhouse Tomato Short Course cap as well as a tomato coffee mug.

Miss Rodeo Mississippi Visits State Capitol

Miss Rodeo Mississippi, Paige Nicholson, of Lawrence, Mississippi, and Commissioner of Agriculture Cindy Hyde-Smith visited the Mississippi State Capitol during the Dixie National Livestock Show and Rodeo. Paige became the 39th young lady to have the distinct honor of wearing the crown of Miss Rodeo Mississippi. She will represent Mississippi at all Professional Rodeo Cowboy Association (PRCA) events statewide and abroad for one year and will compete for the title of Miss Rodeo America 2014 in Las Vegas, Nevada, in December 2013.
