Ag High School Celebrating Over 100 Years

By Claude Nash, Editor

and Glynda Phillips, Editor

The Forrest County Agricultural High School (FCAHS) in Brooklyn, Mississippi, was established in 1911 by the State Legislature to eliminate an educational gap not filled by the average rural school, and this year it is celebrating its 101 Anniversary. The original purpose of the FCAHS was to offer boys and girls a school for training in the areas of agriculture and vocational education as well as prepare them to be useful citizens and community builders. In offering courses in vocational and technical work, it was not the aim of the school merely to give technical training, but to teach the dignity of labor, to train the hand and mind, and to develop men and women who are fitted for the lives they are to live with the ability to enjoy it to the fullest extent.

Many changes have occurred throughout the one-hundred-year history of FCAHS. The campus has grown to include many new buildings and, most recently, the new technology building. Students continue to excel in all areas, and advanced placement offerings are a challenge to the most academically talented. In 1998, the school was ranked 7th in the state on ACT scores. The school still enjoys an invaluable reputation in academics and athletics.

While approximately 600 students busily prepare themselves for the future, what is unique to this high school campus scene is its farm setting of 320 acres, including a pine plantation, hay field, pastures, recreational fields, and the main campus. The main campus is home to a greenhouse, a small poultry house, and a hog barn. It also includes an educational learning center focused entirely on agricultural education and training. The Davis Barnes Agricultural Building houses state of the art computers as well as a learning shop area that includes welding tools and carpentry equipment, among other trade skill equipment. Farm equipment for learning purposes that includes tractors, hay equipment, and chemical application equipment is also available for students to use on the farm and for demonstration purposes.

The livestock and pasture component of the school farm at FCAHS is the largest segment of the operation. The school manages a commercial cow-calf operation on campus as a teaching tool for their agricultural classes. Currently, thirty head of Angus cross brood cows are maintained, and a Horned Hereford bull is being used as the herd sire. Hay equipment is used to round-bale Argentine bahiagrass and surplus Pensacola bahiagrass from the pasture. A small flock of hair sheep has been added, made up of Dorper and Katahdin crosses.

Curriculum for Agricultural Department classes includes an "Introduction to Agri-science" course and the career skills classes of "Agri-science I and II" as well as "Agriculture and Natural Resources I and II." The horticulture program is the newest addition to the offering of the agriculture classes at FCAHS.

The Legislature mandated a report on consolidating the three Mississippi agricultural high schools during the 2012 session after turning back efforts to merge them. Lawmakers could still seek to abolish them. The State Board of Education approved a report recommending the closure of Hinds Agricultural High School in Utica and the restructuring of Coahoma Agricultural High School north of Clarksdale, leaving FCAHS to operate as it is currently structured.

Senator Billy Hudson, Republican, 45th District, a 1956 graduate of FCAHS, is a former Forrest County Supervisor and cattle rancher who at one time ran as many as 600 crossbred cows on his farm in Forrest County. Today he serves as the Chairman of the Senate's Agriculture Committee. His children and grandchildren have all graduated from FCAHS and are involved in agriculture.

"This is where I got my education, and I'm so proud of it," he said. "If it wasn't for the FCAHS, I would not have been involved in agriculture or Chairman of the Senate Ag Committee."

Senator Hudson recently invited

Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce Cindy Hyde-Smith, along with other local and state officials, to tour the school.

Commissioner Hyde-Smith said, "FCAHS offers not only the basic curriculum that all students must acquire, but they offer additional real world education for the students of the future."

"Such an education is becoming harder to find. It's very unique, and it's very worthwhile," she said. "Agriculture remains an important part of Mississippi's economy, with one in four jobs in the state related to agriculture. Teaching youth about it is just as important," she added.

Senator Hudson said he believes the school should serve as a model for other schools across the state.

"What the FCAHS does is prepare kids for college or those who want to enter the work force directly after they graduate. It also teaches them skills they can use to make a living without a college degree. Kids who are not interested in college should have a way to pursue another dream," Hudson said.

From Our Kitchen To Yours

20-Minute Dinner Recipes

*****

MARMALADE CHICKEN

1 cup reduced-sodium chicken broth
2 tablespoons red-wine vinegar
2 tablespoons orange marmalade
1 teaspoon Dijon mustard
1 teaspoon cornstarch
1 pound chicken tenders
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon freshly ground pepper
6 teaspoons extra-virgin olive oil, divided
2 large shallots, minced
1 teaspoon freshly grated orange zest

Whisk broth, vinegar, marmalade, mustard, and cornstarch in a medium bowl. Sprinkle chicken with salt and pepper. Heat 4 teaspoons oil in a large skillet over medium-high heat; add the chicken and cook until golden brown, about 2 minutes per side. Transfer to a plate and cover with foil to keep warm. Add the remaining 2 teaspoons oil and shallots to the pan and cook, stirring often, until the shallots begin to brown, about 30 seconds. Whisk the broth mixture and add it to the pan. Bring to a simmer, scraping up any browned bits. Reduce heat to maintain a simmer; cook until the sauce is slightly reduced and thickened, 30 seconds to 2 minutes. Add the chicken, and return to simmer. Cook, turning once, until the chicken is heated through, about 1 minute. Remove from the heat and stir in the orange zest. Serve with brown rice.

GNOCCHI WITH ZUCCHINI RIBBONS & PARSLEY BROWN BUTTER

1 pound fresh or frozen gnocchi
2 tablespoons butter
2 medium shallots, chopped
1 pound zucchini (about 3 small), very thinly sliced lengthwise
1 pint cherry tomatoes, halved
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon grated nutmeg
Freshly ground pepper, to taste
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1/2 cup chopped fresh parsley

Bring a large saucepan of water to a boil. Cook gnocchi until they float, 3 to 4 minutes or according to package directions; drain. Meanwhile, melt butter in a large skillet over medium-high heat. Cook until the butter is beginning to brown, about 2 minutes. Add shallots and zucchini and cook, stirring often, for about 2 to 3 minutes or until softened. Add tomatoes, salt, nutmeg, and pepper, and continue cooking, stirring often, until the tomatoes are just starting to break down, 1 to 2 minutes. Stir in Parmesan and parsley. Add the gnocchi and toss to coat. Serve immediately.

CHILI-RUBBED STEAKS & PAN SALSA

8 ounces 1/2-inch-thick steaks, such as rib-eye
1 teaspoon chili powder
1/2 teaspoon salt, divided
1 teaspoon extra-virgin olive oil
2 plum tomatoes, diced
2 teaspoons lime juice
1 tablespoon chopped fresh cilantro

Trim steaks of fat and cut into 2 portions; sprinkle both sides of steak with chili powder, and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Heat oil in a medium skillet over medium-high heat. Add the steaks and cook, turning once, 1 to 2 minutes per side for medium-rare. Transfer the steaks to a plate, cover with foil, and let rest while you make the salsa. Add tomatoes, lime juice, and the remaining 1/4 teaspoon of salt to the pan and cook, stirring often, until the tomatoes soften, about 3 minutes. Remove salsa from the heat, stir in cilantro and any accumulated juices from the steaks. Serve the steaks topped with the salsa. Sweet potato fries and vinegary coleslaw can round out the meal.

QUICK PASTRAMI HASH & EGGS

2 tablespoons extra-virgin olive oil
1 16-to 18-ounce package pre-cooked diced potatoes (peeled or unpeeled)
1 large onion, quartered and thinly sliced
1 medium green bell pepper, diced
1 teaspoon paprika
1/4 teaspoon plus a pinch of salt, divided
1/4 teaspoon plus a pinch of freshly ground pepper, divided
5 ounces deli pastrami, diced (about 1 generous cup)
4 large eggs

Heat oil in a large skillet over medium-high heat. Reduce heat to medium and add potatoes, onion, bell pepper, paprika and 1/4 teaspoon each salt and pepper. Stir to combine, and then spread in an even layer in the pan and cook, undisturbed, for about 3 minutes. Stir in pastrami, and spread back into an even layer and cook undisturbed again until a crust starts to form on the bottom, about 5 minutes more. Remove from the heat and cover to keep warm. Just after you add the pastrami to the hash, coat a large nonstick skillet with cooking spray and place over medium heat. Crack each egg into a small bowl and slip them, one at a time, into the skillet, taking care not to break the yolks; season with the remaining pinch of salt and pepper. Reduce heat to medium-low, cover and cook undisturbed for about 2 minutes for soft-set yolks. Divide the hash among 4 plates and top each serving with an egg. Serve with rye toast and sautéed spinach.

Every Quilt Tells A Story

By Lise Foy
Director of Project Management
MS Agriculture & Forestry Museum

The 'Crazy Quilt' hanging on permanent display in the Mississippi Agriculture Museum Gallery is dated August 13, 1890. It is embroidered with the initials of the six ladies who made it for their friend for her 72nd birthday gift. It is believed that some of the scraps used in this quilt date back to the 1830's and would have been dyed using natural items like roots, leaves, flowers, and berries. Imagine the stories that were told around that quilt as they stitched it together.

Quilt making in Mississippi was common in the late 18th and early 19th centuries. It is said that the economic means of the maker can be judged by the materials used in the quilt. If all the colors matched, chances are that it was made by a well to do family who had the money to buy fabric specifically for the quilt. Poor families made quilts from what they had, like feed sacks and old clothes that were beyond the point of mending.

Roughly parallel to the development of American quilting was American weaving. Woven cotton and woolen coverlets, also known as overshot quilts, were created on large looms. While the process of making these 'quilts' is entirely different from the traditional stitching together of three layers of fabric, it no less interesting and important to the folk art story of Mississippi. The one on display at the Ag Museum was made by Mrs. Isabelle Rafferty Bishop during the Civil War era.

Many women in rural areas during this era did not have many social activities outside of church and so quilting became a 'social' event. This tradition lives on today. I remember fondly staying with my grandmother when she had the quilt frame up in the living room. Her friends and neighbors would stop by to stitch a while and gossip about the goings on of North Union Street or watch their 'stories' together.

My grandmother's quilts were very utilitarian, made from what she had. Not because she was poor; she was frugal. Her quilts have pieces of a dress I wore as a child, leftovers from a shirt she had made my grandfather or other items her five grandchildren can point to today and say I remember that! Her patterns were usually 'Around the World' or 'Nine Patch' and always pieced and quilted by hand.

Gone are the days when quilting was only a cottage industry, when quilts were only made out of necessity. Today, it is a $3.58 billion industry in the United States with 21.3 million quilters, nationwide, according to a 2011 article in the Deseret News. Mississippi has 53 recognized quilting guilds who meet regularly, still to socialize, but also to create some of the most intricate and beautiful works of art in the modern crafting world.

Three times a year the Mississippi Quilt Association (MQA) sponsors a quilter competition. The fourteen winning quilts chosen from the current competition are on temporary display in the Heritage Center Gallery. This season's theme is 'Log Cabin' quilts. The exhibit will hang through May 2013.

From June through October each year, visitors will be able to view winning quilts from the Mississippi Outstanding Quilter competition honoring quilters age sixty-five and older. The Mississippi Quilt Legacy Committee, formed in 2005 by the MQA, seeks to identify and document the works of Mississippi's quilters through this competition. The project records the nominated quilter's collection of quilts from everyday quilts to Sunday quilts.

I don't personally own any Sunday quilts, but I love that there are such things!

The third competition, focused on Christmas themed quilts, is hung during November and December each year. Nomination forms for the competitions are now available at the front desk of the Ag Museum or at www.mississippiquilt.org.

The most modern quilt on permanent display at the Ag Museum is the commemorative wall hanging located in the main gallery of the 4-H Museum and Learning Center. The quilt depicts a map of Mississippi and includes 82 squares designed by members of the Mississippi Volunteer Leaders Association representing commodities from each county. The project, designed by Alma Hopper of Alcorn County and quilted by the Yocona Homemakers of Lafayette County, was completed in 2007 to celebrate the 100th anniversary of 4-H in Mississippi.

The 'Crazy Quilt' is just one of the several quilts on display at the Ag Museum in Jackson.

SBA Stands Ready to Assist Mississippi Residents Affected by Severe Storms, Tornadoes and Flooding

By Mark C. Ihenacho
Lead Public Affairs Specialist
U.S. Small Business Administration

U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) Administrator Karen G. Mills issued the following statement after the announcement of the Presidential disaster declaration due to severe storms, tornadoes and flooding beginning February 10, 2013 in Southern Mississippi:

“The U.S. Small Business Administration is strongly committed to providing the people of Mississippi with the most effective and customer-focused response possible to assist homeowners, renters, and businesses with federal disaster loans. Getting businesses and communities up and running after a disaster is our highest priority at SBA.”

The disaster declaration covers Forrest and Lamar counties in Mississippi, which are eligible for both Physical and Economic Injury Disaster Loans from the SBA. Small businesses and most private non-profit organizations in the following adjacent counties are eligible to apply only for SBA Economic Injury Disaster Loans: Covington, Jefferson Davis, Jones, Marion, Pearl River, Perry, and Stone in Mississippi.

Disaster loans up to $200,000 are available to homeowners to repair or replace disaster damaged or destroyed real estate. Homeowners and renters are eligible up to $40,000 to repair or replace disaster damaged or destroyed personal property.

Businesses and private non-profit organizations of any size may borrow up to $2 million to repair or replace disaster damaged or destroyed real estate, machinery and equipment, inventory, and other business assets. The SBA may increase a loan up to 20 percent of the total amount of disaster damage to real estate and/or leasehold improvements, as verified by SBA, to make improvements that lessen the risk of property damage by future disasters of the same kind.

For small businesses, small agricultural cooperatives, small businesses engaged in aquaculture and most private non-profit organizations of all sizes, the SBA offers Economic Injury Disaster Loans to help meet working capital needs caused by the disaster. Economic Injury Disaster Loan assistance is available regardless of whether the business suffered any physical property damage.

Interest rates are as low as 1.688 percent for homeowners and renters, 2.875 percent for non-profit organizations and 4 percent for businesses with terms up to 30 years. Loan amounts and terms are set by the SBA and are based on each applicant's financial condition.

Applicants may apply online using the Electronic Loan Application (ELA) via SBA's secure website at <https://disaster-loan.sba.gov/ela>.

To be considered for all forms of disaster assistance, applicants should register online at www.DisasterAssistance.gov or by mobile device at m.fema.gov. If online or mobile access is unavailable, applicants should call the FEMA toll-free Helpline at 800-621-3362. Those who use 711-Relay or Video Relay Services should call 800-621-3362. The toll-free telephone numbers will operate from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. (local time) seven days a week until further notice.

Additional details on the locations of Disaster Recovery Centers and the loan application process can be obtained by calling the SBA Customer Service Center at 800-659-2955 (800-877-8339 for the deaf and hard-of-hearing) or by sending an e-mail to disastercustomerservice@sba.gov.

The filing deadline to return applications for physical property damage is April 15, 2013. The deadline to return economic injury applications is November 13, 2013.

Advertising Guidelines

The Mississippi Market Bulletin is published on the 1st and 15th of each month by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce. The Mississippi Market Bulletin is an important way for the Department to disseminate news and information about issues affecting Mississippi's agriculture industry and the Department's operations.

Through its classified advertising section, the Bulletin provides a forum for Mississippi residents to buy and sell agricultural related items while also giving statewide exposure to small farmers who might not normally have the economic resources for such widespread advertising. The Bulletin does not publish commercial or display ads and all items offered for sale must have been produced, raised, grown or operated on the seller's property. Businesses, corporations, dealerships, brokers or other commercial enterprises are not allowed to advertise in the Mississippi Market Bulletin.

Advertising rules and guidelines have been established for the Mississippi Market Bulletin in order to comply with regulations enforced by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce and to maintain the objectives of the publication. The staff of the Mississippi Market Bulletin reserves the right to edit, revise or reject any advertisement.

The Mississippi Market Bulletin assumes no responsibility for any notice appearing in the Bulletin nor for any transaction resulting from published notices. Advertisers are cautioned that it is against the law to misrepresent any product offered for sale in public notices or advertisements carried in any publication that is delivered by the United States Postal Service.

- In order to advertise in the Mississippi Market Bulletin you must be a subscriber. To place an ad, you must include your name, mailing address and account number that the subscription is listed under on each ad that you submit (this information will not be printed). Each subscriber is allowed to advertise two ads in the Bulletin, listing one ad per category.
- All listings must be agriculture related (raised, grown, produced or operated on your farm). At the top of your ad, write the category that the ad should be listed under. We reserve the right to edit, revise or reject each ad. Please print or type your ad.
- There is a 30-word limit for classified advertisements, this includes: price (on the item you are selling), your city, county and telephone number or name and complete address must be included in the ad if you do not list a telephone number. Ads cannot be held over from one issue to another. You must submit them for each issue.
- Out-of-state residents are not eligible to advertise with the following exceptions: Out-of-state ads are allowed in the "Wanting To Buy" category. Out-of-state ads are allowed for individuals owning farm property within the state that is being offered for sale (consisting of 10 acres or more).

Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce Showcases New Agriculture Magazine

By Paige Manning
Director of Marketing and Public Relations - MDAC

Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce Cindy Hyde-Smith showcased the premier issue of Mississippi Agriculture, a comprehensive guide to the state's farms, food, and commerce at the Capitol.

Joined by several of those who contributed to the magazine, Commissioner Hyde-Smith said, "Mississippi Agriculture gives us the opportunity to show how food gets from the farm to the table from the perspective of those who are responsible for feeding the world's growing population." Hyde-Smith added, "The process of taking an agriculture product from the farm to the table is often complex and involves the work of many. From input suppliers to processors and transporters, numerous jobs exist because of agriculture. Twenty-nine percent of Mississippi's workforce is employed by jobs related to agriculture making it an economic driver across the state in communities, both large and small."

The annual publication, sponsored by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce, utilizes a combination of original photography, reader-friendly graphics, and farmer profiles to tell the story of Mississippi agriculture from the perspective of those that live it each day. Mississippi Agriculture will serve as an educational tool to increase awareness of the important role that agriculture plays in the local, state, and global economy. The magazine will also promote the state's largest industry to a growing number of consumers concerned about their families' food source.

The digital version of Mississippi Agriculture is available online at www.msagriculture.com. In addition to featuring the magazine, the website contains hundreds of farm-to-fork recipes, gardening ideas, farmers market guides, nutrition information, and agriculture stats and facts.

Mississippi Agriculture is available to the public at no charge. This magazine is supported through advertisements and at no cost to the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce. A copy of the magazine can be obtained at the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce, the Mississippi Farmers Market, and the Mississippi Agriculture and Forestry Museum.
