Celebrating 155 Years at the Mississippi State Fair

By Chaille Clements
Communications and
Marketing Specialist - MDAC

October marks the early days of fall and with that comes many seasonal endeavors including college football, cool weather, as well as a mainstay tradition here in Mississippi; the Mississippi State Fair. This tradition has truly withstood the test of time as this year marks the Fair's 155th anniversary.

Early generations of the State Fair incredibly date all the way back to the late 1830's. The first recorded fair began as a livestock show at Jefferson College near Natchez, MS, in 1939. "People naturally tend to be competitive; especially when it comes to animals they've raised themselves. They needed an arena where they could prove that their cows, goats, and pigs were bigger and better than others. And thus, the livestock show and fair was born," explained Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce and Chairman of the Mississippi Fair Commission, Cindy Hyde-Smith.

Eventually, additional forms of entertainment, exhibits, and competition were included, agricultural groups around the State organized, and the first official Mississippi State Fair was held in 1859. The intention of these early fairs was to exhibit improved livestock, agriculture, and crop equipment in order to motivate farmers to try innovative ideas and methods in operation efficiency. Even as other elements were added to this newly formed concept of a fair, livestock exhibitions continued to draw the largest crowds.

Livestock shows entered the fair scene as, and continue to be, a driving factor of the institution now known as the Mississippi State Fair. Each year, youth from 4-H and FFA groups around the State go to the Fair to exhibit in the junior livestock shows. Last year alone, the junior shows had over 1,400 animal entries with beef breeding and commercial meat goats constituting the largest categories. Champion winners walk away from competitions with a cash prize generally around 300 dollars and a shiny gold trophy. Not to mention, 2013 also marked the anticipated return of 4-H poultry shows for the first time in 30 years.

The Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce (MDAC) introduced the Mississippi State Fair mobile app in 2013, which was the first of its kind. In the app's inaugural year, it featured concert and event information, a map of all the attractions, mobile Fair Fun Guide, livestock schedule, Premium Book, weather alerts, and a parked car finder. New to the app this year is users' ability to receive real-time push notifications for livestock shows. "The push notifications give us a very convenient way to let the show participants and their parents know when their event is coming up so they can get ready. I am thrilled to have the capability of posting pictures of the winners because these kids work so hard, and this gives us another way to recognize their accomplishments," said Commissioner of Agriculture Cindy Hyde-Smith.

Although this is not his first state fair, this will be the first Mississippi State Fair for new Mississippi Fair Commission Executive Director Rick Reno. He brings years of experience and an added level of expertise to the organization.

The gates to the 155th Mississippi State Fair will open as Commissioner Hyde-Smith cuts the ceremonial ribbon at 5:00 p.m. on Wednesday, October 1. With last year's attendance reaching over 700,000 people, an expected record-breaking crowd is expected again this year. The Fair will be home to an impeccable lineup of entertainers including Thompson Square, Ginuwine, Blue Oyster Cult, MercyMe, Hinder, Marshall Tucker Band, and the Charlie Daniels Band. Fairgoers will also find thrilling rides and spectacles from around the world provided by North American Midway Entertainment as well as deliciously unique vendors with "fair food" ranging from giant turkey legs to doughnut-bunned hamburgers and fried cookie dough on a stick. Commissioner Hyde-Smith stresses, "Whether you come for the food, rides, music, and livestock shows, or the countless other forms of entertainment, we thank you for your support. For without you, this State Fair would not be possible."

Daily activities will take place in the TradeMart, the Kirk Fordice Equine Center, and all along the 100 acres of Mississippi Fairgrounds Complex. The Mississippi State Fair runs Wednesday, October 1 through Sunday, October 12, with a gate admission price of $5.00 per person. Children under the age of 6 are admitted free of charge. Enjoy free admission weekdays 10:00 a.m. until 1:00 p.m. For a complete Fair Fun Guide listing, see pages 14-16- in this issue, download the mobile app, or visit www.msfair.net.

Home Style Fair Food

Caramel Apples

6 apples – your favorite variety
1 14-ounce package individually wrapped caramels
2 tablespoons milk

Remove the stem from each apple and press a wooden craft stick into the top. Butter a baking dish. Unwrap each caramel and place them in a microwave safe bowl with the milk, and microwave 2 minutes, stirring once. Allow mixture to cool briefly. Roll each apple quickly in caramel sauce until well coated. Place on prepared sheet to set.

A Plus Fair Corn Dogs

1 quart oil for deep frying
1 cup all-purpose flour
2/3 cup yellow corn meal
1/4 cup white sugar
1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons bacon drippings
1 egg, beaten
1 1/4 cups buttermilk
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
2 pounds hot dogs
Wooden sticks

Heat oil in a deep fryer to 365° F. In a large bowl, stir together the flour, cornmeal, sugar, baking powder and salt. Stir in melted bacon drippings. Make a well in the center, and pour in the egg, buttermilk, and baking soda. Mix until everything is smooth and well blended. Pat the hotdogs dry with paper towels so that the batter will stick. Insert wooden sticks in the ends. Dip the hotdogs in the batter one at a time, shaking off the excess. Deep fry a few at a time in the hot oil until they are as brown as you like them. Drain the corndogs on paper towels or serve on paper plates.

Kettle Corn

1/4 cup vegetable oil
1/4 cup white sugar*
1/2 cup unpopped popcorn kernels

Heat the vegetable oil in a large pot over medium heat. Once hot, stir in the sugar and popcorn. Cover, and shake the pot constantly to keep the sugar from burning. Once the popping has slowed to once every 2 to 3 seconds, remove the pot from the heat and continue to shake for a few minutes until the popping has stopped. Pour into a large bowl, and allow to cool, stirring occasionally to break up the large clumps. *Use brown sugar in the place of the white sugar and the popcorn will taste like caramel corn.

Festival-Style Grilled Italian Sausage Sandwiches

4 4-ounce links hot Italian sausage
1 red bell pepper, halved and seeded
1 small onion, peeled and cut in half crosswise
2 teaspoons olive oil
Salt and pepper to taste
1 tablespoon olive oil
4 6-inch sandwich rolls, split and toasted

Preheat outdoor grill for medium heat. Lightly oil grate, and set 4 inches from the heat. Pierce the sausages in a few places with a fork, and set aside. Slice off the bottoms of the onion halves so they will sit flat on the grill. Brush the bell pepper and onion halves with 2 teaspoons olive oil. Place the sausages, onions and peppers on the preheated grill. Cook and turn the sausages until well browned and juices run clear. Cook vegetables until tender and peppers are slightly charred. Remove vegetables and sausages from the grill. Place the peppers in a paper bag, close, and cool slightly. Remove and discard the charred skin from the peppers; slice peppers into strips. Slice the onion halves. Place salt and pepper to taste, and 1 tablespoon olive oil in a bowl. Add the peppers and onion, and toss until evenly coated. To serve, place sausages in sandwich rolls, and top with the pepper and onion mixture.

Grilled Turkey Legs

1 2-liter bottle lemon-lime flavored carbonated beverage
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons hot sauce
1 tablespoon crushed red pepper flakes
1 tablespoon black pepper
1 large sweet onion, sliced
4 turkey legs
2 tablespoons honey
1 tablespoon steak seasoning

Preheat an outdoor grill for high heat, and lightly oil grate. In a large pot, mix together the lemon-lime flavored carbonated beverage, sugar, hot sauce, red pepper, black pepper, and onion. Place the turkey legs in the mixture and bring to a boil. Cook 30 to 45 minutes, until the turkey has reached an internal temperature of 180° F. Remove onion slices from the mixture, and arrange on the prepared grill. Place turkey legs over the onions. Drizzle with honey, and season with steak seasoning. Cook, turning once, 20 minutes, or until a crisp browned crust has formed on the turkey legs.

From the moment you step through the gate, that tempting tantalizing aroma of cotton candy, candy apples, burgers, pizza, catfish and chicken-on-a-stick will let you know you have arrived at the State Fair. So get ready for your favorite fair food, rides and games plus some of the best sounds of rock, pop, country and gospel music. The Mississippi State Fair is a tradition of family fun.

Don't miss it!

www.msfair.net

Dear Fairgoers,

I am honored to welcome you to the 155th Mississippi State Fair on behalf of the Mississippi Fair Commission and the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce.

The Mississippi State Fair means something different to each individual. To some, it is about entertainment like the carnival rides and concerts. For others, it means the opportunity to participate in one of the many competitions such as the livestock shows. No matter what makes this 12-day extravaganza special to you, the Mississippi State Fair has something to offer those of all ages. Over the years, the State Fair has evolved and expanded to enhance the fairgoers' experience, but it remains true to its strong agricultural heritage by continuing to offer fun-filled, family entertainment.

Visiting the Mississippi State Fair is an annual tradition for many families. I encourage you to make the most of your visit. This Fun Guide provides you with a schedule of activities and events that you will not want to miss. You can also download our State Fair app which is free for download from the Apple Store and Android Store directly to your smart phones, iPads, and tablets. If this is your first visit to the State Fair, take time to enjoy all that it has to offer. If you have attended in the past, experience something new this year. When you smell the aroma of fresh biscuits, you will know that you are close to the Biscuit Booth on the Midway where the employees of the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce will be serving complimentary biscuits made from scratch.

I welcome Rick Reno to the staff of the Mississippi Fair Commission as the new Executive Director. He brings years of experience and an added level of expertise to our organization. I look forward to many future accomplishments as we strive to enhance all of the events we enjoy throughout the year.

I hope that you enjoy your time at the 155th Mississippi State Fair. Thank you for supporting the Mississippi State Fair and for keeping the Mississippi tradition alive.

Sincerely,

Cindy Hyde-Smith
Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce
Chairman, Mississippi Fair Commission

Just a Spoon Full of Sugar

By Lise Foy, Director
MS Agriculture & Forestry Museum

I remember chewing on sugarcane as a little girl. It was good, but a lot of 'sugar for a dime' if you ask me. Chewing cane is kind of like eating a pomegranate. It tastes good, but you have all of this left over stuff in your mouth you have to spit out.

Cane syrup on the other hand is a different experience entirely. On a cool morning, there is just nothing better than a little syrup on a hot biscuit. And, we are approaching that season at the Ag Museum where we offer visitors this experience.

I read that sugarcane is the world's largest crop by production quantity. It is produced in more than 90 countries today. The world demand for sugar is the primary driver of sugarcane agriculture.

Cane accounts for 80% of sugar produced; most of the rest is made from sugar beets. Sugarcane predominantly grows in tropical and subtropical regions, and sugar beets predominantly grow in colder regions of the world.

I saw sugar beet production in Wyoming. It is also an interesting crop that kind of reminded me of sweet potato production.

Although sugarcane plantations in our part of the country have dwindled from past decades, many hobby-sized operations still exist. Most sugarcane for syrup production is grown in Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, and North Florida, a region that is known as the "Sugarcane Syrup Belt."

The process of making a jar of old fashioned cane syrup is an interesting one that we still practice once a year at the Ag Museum during Harvest Festival. One of the first things to note is that the variety is important. You cannot make syrup out of just any old sugarcane. Sugarcane varieties can generally be put into three categories based on their physical and chemical characteristics; chewing canes, crystal canes, or syrup canes.

Once the cane is harvested and stripped, the juice is extracted with a crusher, which can be powered by tractor or mule. The juice is strained and moved to a flat cooking pan. Then the juice is boiled over a fire for about three and half hours. The syrup forms as the juice cooks. It is a somewhat tedious process because, once it starts it has to be completed because any juice left over night will spoil.

In preparation for this year's syrup making process at the Ag Museum, we had our canemill chimney re-built this summer, incidentally, by the same gentleman who laid the original bricks 30 years ago. He came out of retirement just for us. We have our team of expert syrup cookers on ready.

But, this year, as is the gamble with any agricultural crop, the cold winter and cool, wet spring and summer did not provide the conditions needed to produce the crop in Mississippi. And, so, we are in the market for some sugarcane! Please call us if you have a source.

As a side bar to this story, the dense sugarcane thickets that used to be more prevalent in our part of the country, were referred to as canebrakes. The venomous pit vipers which favor this habitat derive their name, canebrake rattlesnake, from those thickets. My neighbor found one of these recently; a large specimen with several buttons on his rattler. He was pretty but scary!

The Ag Museum is located at 1150 Lakeland Drive in Jackson and is open Monday through Saturday from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. In addition to our gallery and exhibit spaces, the Ag Museum also has room for your event, whether it's a meeting, a wedding, or other special event. Call (601) 432-4500 for information.

State Fair Quilting Bee

Fall is finally here and with it the Mississippi State Fair. A long time tradition at the Fair is the annual Quilting Bee where quilters from all over the state come together to share ideas and to demonstrate this art to the general public. A quilt furnished by the Fair Commission will be set up in the Mississippi Trade Mart throughout the State Fair and all interested groups or individuals are invited to come in and quilt. Whether you are an experienced quilter or just interested in learning this craft, you are encouraged to come by and stitch with us.

A special invitation is extended to new participants and to old friends who have been unable to attend in recent years to come and join the fun, while helping to provide an educational experience for the people of Mississippi. Regular Quilting Bee hours are from 10:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday, although night or Sunday hours may be arranged for interested groups.

Anyone wishing to sign up to quilt at this year's Fair or who would like further information regarding the Quilting Bee, should contact Barbara Thum with the Mississippi Department of Agriculture & Commerce at 601-359-1199 or Barbara@mdac.ms.gov.

Advertising Guidelines

The Mississippi Market Bulletin is published on the 1st and 15th of each month by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce. The Mississippi Market Bulletin is an important way for the Department to disseminate news and information about issues affecting Mississippi's agriculture industry and the Department's operations.

Through its classified advertising section, the Bulletin provides a forum for Mississippi residents to buy and sell agricultural related items while also giving statewide exposure to small farmers who might not normally have the economic resources for such widespread advertising. The Bulletin does not publish commercial or display ads and all items offered for sale must have been produced, raised, grown or operated on the seller's property. Businesses, corporations, dealerships, brokers or other commercial enterprises are not allowed to advertise in the Mississippi Market Bulletin.

Advertising rules and guidelines have been established for the Mississippi Market Bulletin in order to comply with regulations enforced by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce and to maintain the objectives of the publication. The staff of the Mississippi Market Bulletin reserves the right to edit, revise or reject any advertisement.

The Mississippi Market Bulletin assumes no responsibility for any notice appearing in the Bulletin nor for any transaction resulting from published notices. Advertisers are cautioned that it is against the law to misrepresent any product offered for sale in public notices or advertisements carried in any publication that is delivered by the United States Postal Service.

- In order to advertise in the Mississippi Market Bulletin you must be a subscriber. To place an ad, you must include your name, mailing address and account number that the subscription is listed under on each ad that you submit (this information will not be printed). Each subscriber is allowed to advertise two ads in the Bulletin, listing one ad per category.
- All listings must be agriculture related (raised, grown, produced or operated on your farm). At the top of your ad, write the category that the ad should be listed under. We reserve the right to edit, revise or reject each ad. Please print or type your ad.
- There is a 30-word limit for classified advertisements, this includes: price (on the item you are selling), your city, county and telephone number or name and complete address must be included in the ad if you do not list a telephone number. Ads cannot be held over from one issue to another. You must submit them for each issue.
- Out-of-state residents are not eligible to advertise with the following exceptions: Out-of-state ads are allowed in the "Wanting To Buy" category. Out-of-state ads are allowed for individuals owning farm property within the state that is being offered for sale (consisting of 10 acres or more).

Mississippi Farms Kick-off Agritourism Season

By Paige Manning
Director of Marketing and
Public Relations - MDAC

Fall has always been my favorite time of year. Maybe it's the cooler weather, seeing cotton modules lining the edges of fields reminding me of growing up on a farm, or the changing leaves as they turn into brilliant hues of orange and red. Over the past few years, I have developed some new reasons to look forward to the fall months. These reasons come in the form of pumpkin patches, corn mazes, hayrides, and on-farm festivals. These are just a few of the agritourism activities that can be found on farms across Mississippi. While many agritourism operations offer activities year-round, the peak agritourism season is quickly getting underway, and many operations will be opening their farms to countless visitors over the next few months.

Agritourism is a combination of agriculture and tourism. It is a business on a working farm, ranch, or other agricultural enterprise that offers educational and fun experience for visitors while supplementing income for the owner. Agritourism generates approximately $150 million in the state and is one of the fastest growing sectors of both tourism and agriculture. Currently, sixty-one agritourism operations are registered with the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce as part of the Limited Liability Program. These farms are located in various locations across Mississippi, and the activities at each farm differ.

The farms that incorporate agritourism activities into their operations are playing a vital role in educating students, and adults alike, on the importance of agriculture. Today's population is three generations removed from the farm. This has led to a disconnect in consumers knowing where their food comes from, the steps involved in getting food from the gate to their plate, and the important role that agriculture plays in local and global economies. Farms offering agritourism activities are helping to bridge that gap. Visitors to these farms get a first-hand look at life on the farm and get the opportunity to see how their food is grown and raised.

While one may think that if they have visited one farm that they have seen them all, nothing is further from the truth. These farms are diverse in what they produce and the activities that they offer. These farms include row crop farms, fruit and vegetable farms, dairy farms, alpaca farms, Christmas tree farms, goat farms, ranches, and even demonstration farms. The activities offered at each farm are diverse and include attractions such as u-picks, petting zoos, pumpkin patches, hayrides, corn mazes, train rides, farmers markets, hay mazes, tours, horseback riding, educational activities, demonstrations, music, festivals, and much more. Many farms strive to add new activities to their farm each year, and being able to offer new attractions to returning visitors and expanding their operations is very important to these operations.

In celebration of October being Agritourism Month, the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce (MDAC) has launched a new mobile app to promote agritourism. The mobile app is an easy to use tool for discovering and locating agritourism operations in Mississippi. The app gives a description of the farms as well as locations and directions of how to navigate there. Mobile app users can also find events taking place at the farms and receive notifications when events are taking place near them, if they so choose. The app is available free for download from the Apple Store and Android Store directly to smart phones, iPads, and tablets.

A listing of agritourism operations registered with the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce is located on pages 24-25 in this issue. To discover more about the agritourism operations in Mississippi, visit www.msagritourism.org or download the mobile app.

FSA Director Urges Producers to Sign up for Cotton Transition Assistance Program

By Paige Manning
Director of Marketing and
Public Relations - MDAC

The United States Department of Agriculture's Farm Service Agency (USDA-FSA) State Executive Director, Michael Sullivan, urges Mississippi producers to enroll in the Cotton Transition Assistance Program (CTAP) before the quickly approaching deadline of October 7. "It is very important that farmers sign up. The deadline date is exactly that, a deadline, and there will not be any extensions. It is quite crucial for producers and landowners to enroll on time," said Sullivan.

The Cotton Transition Assistance Program is a temporary program created by the 2014 Farm Bill to provide interim payments to cotton producers during the 2014 crop year until the Stacked Income Protection Plan (STAX), a new insurance program designed specifically for cotton, is available. According to Sullivan, CTAP provides a safety net for farmers during the transition from the previous Direct and Counter-cyclical Payment Program (DCP) to STAX. This transition period allows crop insurance providers the time needed to develop crop insurance policies and to obtain approval from the USDA Risk Management Agency (RMA). STAX, an area-based revenue policy, will be administered by RMA.

CTAP is based on the farm's 2013 adjusted cotton base acres as of September 30, 2013. Since cotton is not eligible for participation in the Agriculture Risk Coverage (ARC) or the Price Loss Coverage (PLC) programs, cotton base acres for CTAP payments are calculated using the generic base acres. CTAP payments are calculated using the generic base acres and the direct payment yield of cotton established on the farm. For crop year 2014, payments will be calculated using 60 percent of the generic base acres. In counties where STAX is not available in 2015, crop payments for 2015 will be calculated for 36.5 percent of the generic base acres.

The eligibility requirements for CTAP are similar to that of other USDA farm programs. Payments are limited to $40,000 per person or entity annually. Persons or entities whose average adjusted gross income (AGI) exceeds $900,000 are not eligible to receive CTAP payments. The years used to calculate the AGI for 2014 CTAP are the 2010, 2011, and 2012 tax years. Compliance with land conservation and wetland conservation provisions are also required for participation. While farmers are not required to actually plant cotton, eligible producers must have an adequate share in enough cropland acres to cover their claimed base acres.

Sullivan stresses the importance of farmers and landowners having a good understanding of the CTAP and other programs provided by the new Farm Bill in order that the best decisions are made. Decisions regarding the reallocation of base acres and program choice are one time decisions that will remain throughout the life of the Farm Bill.

To assist farmers in making these decisions, the Mississippi State University Extension Service and Alcorn State University Extension Program are working to develop tools that will assist farmers.

Farm Service Agency offices across Mississippi are busy working with producers to implement the program changes brought about by the 2014 Farm Bill. Sullivan appreciates the patience shown by producers and asks that they have patience with employees as they are understaffed compared to years ago. "USDA has taken a large part of the budget cuts taking balancing the budget to heart. We do not have the personnel that we had years ago," said Sullivan.

For additional information about CTAP or other FSA programs, visit your local FSA office or visit FSA at www.fsa.usda.gov.
