Sale of Champions Rewards Kids for Diligent Work

By Susan Collins-Smith
MSU Extension Service

Alex Deason made members of his 4-H livestock judging team a deal they could not resist.

"I told them if any of them could get a hog in the Dixie National Sale of Junior Champions, they could shave my head," said Deason, 4-H agent with the Mississippi State University Extension Service in Sunflower County.

The 4-H'ers took this wager seriously. They not only got one hog in the sale. Team members got four hogs in the sale. And Deason? He has a freshly shaven head.

Sarah Thomas Smith, Sherman Timbs and Anna Grace Rowland's champion hogs were among 700 hogs judged on Feb. 7 and chosen for the sale. Rowland and Smith each had one hog in the sale, while Timbs had two.

The Sale of Junior Champions brings together generous buyers who pay much more than market price for livestock raised by members of 4-H and the National FFA Organization, formerly known as Future Farmers of America. The sale began in 1970 as a way to encourage students to continue putting effort into livestock projects.

Deason said the bet was a lot of fun, but his goal was to build interest in the livestock judging team. Rowland, along with six other Sunflower County 4-H'ers, now want to join the team. Members of the team learn to recognize show-worthy animals, but, more importantly, they also build crucial reasoning and public speaking skills.

Smith, who wants to be a veterinarian, said she expects to hone her communication abilities as a member of the team.

"Being on the team helps me understand better what the judges are looking for in each animal," Smith said. "But having to present my reasons for judging an animal a certain way helps me become more comfortable with talking in a public setting."

During the weeklong 2016 Dixie National Livestock Show in Jackson, judges selected 14 hogs, 12 lambs, nine goats and eight steers for the sale. They brought in a preliminary total of $348,987.

Dean Jousan, MSU Extension Service 4-H livestock specialist, said participants often use the funds generated from their champion animals for college or to invest in next year's animal.

"Our youth spend countless hours during the year getting their animals ready for this livestock show," Jousan said. "The show is the culmination of a year of hard work. It is the ultimate reward. We appreciate the buyers, contributors, sale committee, Extension staff members and other supporters who help us make this sale a success."

Animals purchased at the sale are donated to charitable organizations such as Stewpot, Methodist Children's Home, Salvation Army and French Camp Academy.

Preliminary figures indicate steers generated a total of $95,950. Hogs earned a preliminary total of $120,387. Goats produced a preliminary total of $60,700. Lambs reaped a preliminary total of $71,950.

Each year, the sale's promotional committee also raises educational scholarship funds. Six premier exhibitors won $2,000 scholarships, and 29 other exhibitors won $1,500 scholarships.

This year's livestock show included 1,568 4-H and FFA members and 2,298 head of livestock.

1/4 teaspoon salt
2 cups (8 ounces) shredded smoked Cheddar cheese
2 cups (8 ounces) shredded smoked Gouda cheese
1/2 (8.5 ounce) jar sun-dried tomatoes in oil, drained and chopped
14 bread slices (sourdough and dark wheat)

Stir together cream cheese, mayonnaise, paprika and salt in a large bowl until blended. Add shredded cheeses and sun-dried tomatoes, and stir together until combined. Spread cheese mixture on half of bread slices (about 1/3 cup on each); top with remaining bread slices.

Open-Faced Sweet Potato-Mushroom Sandwiches

1 cup mashed sweet potatoes
3 ounces crumbled goat cheese
1/2 teaspoon ground chipotle chili pepper
12 (3-inch) square, toasted rye bread slices
3 thick bacon slices
1/2 cup sliced sweet onion
5 ounces sliced shiitake mushrooms
1/2 teaspoon chopped fresh thyme
Fresh thyme sprigs

Stir together mashed sweet potatoes, goat cheese, and ground chipotle chili pepper. Spread mixture on toasted rye bread slices. Cook bacon in a skillet over medium heat 4 to 5 minutes or until crisp. Remove bacon, drain on paper towels, reserving 1 tablespoon drippings in skillet. Crumble bacon and set aside. Sauté onion in hot drippings until caramelized. Add mushrooms and chopped fresh thyme; sauté 2 minutes. Stir in bacon; spoon over sweet potato mixture. Place sandwiches on a baking sheet. Bake at 425° for 8 minutes. Top with fresh thyme sprigs.

Muffuletta Calzones

2 tablespoons olive oil, divided
1 cup jarred mixed pickled vegetables, rinsed and finely chopped
1 (7-ounce) package shredded provolone-Italian cheese blend
8 thin slices Genoa salami, chopped (about 1/8 pound)
1/2 cup diced cooked ham
1/4 cup sliced pimiento-stuffed Spanish olives
1 pound bakery pizza dough
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

Preheat oven to 425°. Stir together 1 tablespoon olive oil, pickled vegetables, provolone-Italian blend cheese, salami, ham, and olives. Place dough on a lightly floured surface. Cut dough into 4 equal pieces. Roll each piece into a 7-inch circle. Place 2 dough circles on a lightly greased baking sheet. Spoon vegetable mixture evenly on top of circles; mound the mixture, and leave a 1-inch border. Moisten edges of dough with water, and top with remaining 2 dough circles. Press and crimp edges of the dough to seal. Cut small slits on tops to allow steam to escape. Brush with remaining 1 tablespoon olive oil, and sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Bake at 425° for 20 to 24 minutes or until golden brown.

Sautéed Greens, Smoked Turkey and Provolone Panini

1 tablespoon olive oil
1/4 teaspoon crushed red pepper
2 large garlic cloves, minced
5 ounces chopped kale
2 tablespoons water
4 ounces thinly sliced reduced-fat provolone cheese
8 (3/4 -ounce) slices ciabatta bread
4 ounces thinly sliced smoked turkey breast
Cooking spray

Heat a large cast-iron skillet over medium heat. Pour oil in the pan; swirl to coat. Add red pepper and garlic, and cook 1 minute, stirring frequently. Add kale and water; cook 4 minutes or until kale wilts, stirring occasionally. Divide half of cheese evenly among 4 bread slices. Top evenly with smoked turkey and kale mixture. Distribute the remaining half of cheese and remaining bread slices. Heat a grill pan over medium-high heat. Lightly coat both sides of sandwiches with cooking spray. Arrange sandwiches in pan. Place cast-iron skillet on top of sandwiches; press gently to flatten. Cook sandwiches 2 minutes on each side or until cheese melts and bread is toasted (leave skillet on sandwiches while they cook). Cut each sandwich in half and serve.

Open-Faced Sandwiches with Ricotta, Arugula and Fried Egg

4 (2-ounce) slices whole-wheat country bread
Cooking spray
2 cups arugula
1 tablespoon extra-virgin olive oil, divided
1 1/2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon salt, divided
1/2 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper, divided
4 large eggs
3/4 cup part-skim ricotta cheese
1/4 cup (1 ounce) grated fresh Parmigiano-Reggiano cheese
1 teaspoon chopped fresh thyme

Preheat broiler. Coat both sides of bread with cooking spray. Broil 2 minutes on each side or until lightly toasted. Combine arugula, 2 teaspoons oil, lemon juice, 1/8 teaspoon salt, and 1/4 teaspoon pepper; toss gently. Heat remaining 1 teaspoon oil in a large nonstick skillet over medium heat. Crack eggs into pan; cook 2 minutes. Cover pan and cook an additional 2 minutes or until whites are set; remove from heat. Combine 1/4 teaspoon salt, ricotta, Parmigiano-Reggiano, and thyme; spread over bread slices. Divide salad and eggs evenly over bread. Sprinkle with remaining 1/8 teaspoon salt and remaining 1/4 teaspoon pepper.

Basic Beekeeping: This course is designed for anyone who wants to start keeping bees or for anyone who is just thinking about keeping bees. Come and find out what the buzz is about!

The objective of the course is to prepare beginning beekeepers to set up hives, work their bees and keep their bees healthy and alive. Subjects to be taught during this course include: How to prepare, inspect and manage the bee colony; Cost of bees & Equipment; Bee Pests, Diseases & Remedies

No previous education or training in handling bees is required. The program will take place at the Adams County Extension Office, 75A Carthage Point Rd, Natchez, MS 39120 on March 5th, 2016, from 8:00 am -5:00 pm (lunch will be provided). Weather permitting there will be an afternoon session in a bee yard.* Registration fee is $10.00 per person in advance and $20 at the door.

Where History Lives

By Lise Foy
Contributing Writer

The Mississippi Agriculture and Forestry Museum is an 'open air' facility. Open air is defined as 'the unconfined atmosphere, outside buildings.' In the loosest sense, an open-air museum is any institution which includes one or more buildings in its collections, including farm museums, historic house museums, and archaeological open-air museums.

The term open-air museum is applied to museums which specialize in the collection and recreation of multiple, old, buildings at large outdoor sites, usually in settings of re-created landscapes of the past and often include living history. Common to all open-air museums, is the teaching of the history of everyday living by people from all segments of society.

According to Wikipedia, the first museum of this type was Henry Ford's Greenfield Village in Dearborn, Michigan, which he opened in 1928. Ford intended his collection to be "a pocket edition of America." Colonial Williamsburg, known by most for its quality and authenticity, opened not long after in 1934.

There are many open air living history museum and interpretive sites across the country. Some seem to 'speak' louder to me than others. I have visited Williamsburg, This is the Place Heritage Park in Salt Lake City, Utah, and more recently Buffalo Bill Ranch State Park, also called Scout's Rest, located in North Platte, Nebraska.

These come to my mind quickly, because they did such a great job of telling the story and engaging me, the visitor, into the time and place I was there to learn about. There were interpreters dressed in period costume doing period crafts and everyday work. The objective is immersion into a specific culture, environment or historical period.

Small Town, Mississippi, is just this kind of experience. Not only does the Ag Museum have a huge collection of early Mississippi tools and equipment, it has a collection of buildings brought from across the state to represent a small, cross-roads town in 1900 Mississippi. During special program days, the town 'lives' when the blacksmiths fire up the forge, the school teacher gives a lesson in the school house, or the homesteader churns butter on the porch of Main House.

The Ag Museum has begun a new series this year called "Meet the Museum." This is your chance to experience the museum like never before! Classes are scheduled to teach people about the ways of life the Museum was designed to interpret. This year, visitors have the opportunity to participate and learn crafts and historic methods of work for themselves! As a lover of all things old, and doing things by hand, this is just exciting to me!

There is an Association of Living History, Farm and Agricultural Museums. ALHFAM, for short, serves those involved in living historical farms, agricultural museums and outdoor museums of history and folklife. It was formed in 1970. There are six regions defined within the association, grouping those with similarity by region of the country. There are three regions in Canada and an International region. I did not count all of the individual member institutions, but my point here is that there are MANY people out there who love old things, farm history, and hand crafts.

It is a good thing too, in my opinion, that there are a bunch of us. It is my belief that those of us who take the time to learn about trades and skills that can be performed with no electricity, iPhone or computer are a good back up to have around in case somebody needs to know how to make a pan of cornbread without a trip to the Kroger.

We recently watched the movie Interstellar. There is some crazy sci-fi stuff in there about bending time and going through a worm hole in a spaceship, but one of the important parts of story line was that the farmers were the most important people left on the Earth. The population had grown to point of starvation on the planet and blight had caused basically all crops but corn to disappear. Yes. I know it is fiction, but nobody knows what tomorrow might bring. I for one am glad I can grow corn and season a black skillet!

Think about it. Could you survive life in the 1900's? Sign up for a Meet the Museum class and put YOUR skill to the test. Email amie@mdac.ms.gov or call (601) 432-4500 to reserve your spot.

The Ag Museum is located at 1150 Lakeland Drive in Jackson and is open Monday through Saturday from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. In addition to our gallery and exhibit spaces, the Ag Museum also has room for your event, whether it's a meeting, a wedding or other special event. Call (601) 432-4500 for information.

Forest Management Plan/Conservation Activity Plan Initiative

By Kavanaugh Breazeale
USDA-NRCS

The United States Department of Agriculture/Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) will offer financial and technical assistance to Mississippi farmers, agricultural producers and private forest landowners who want to better manage their forest land resources.

The Forest Management Plan/Conservation Activity Plan (CAP) initiative will allow the development of a systematic plan that details the best approach to restore timber stands and manage forest lands. This plan will also address serious resource concerns such as declining native wildlife species, plants and critical habitat.

"Many landowners in Mississippi forget that their forestlands are a potential source of additional income," stated Alan Holditch, NRCS State Forester. "A good forest management plan is a great investment toward addressing the resources for maximum financial production."

CAP is funded through the Environmental Quality Incentive Program (EQIP) and allows land owners to contract with a certified Technical Service Provider (TSP) to develop a Best Management Practice plan specific for their location and need, helping to manage forests. Registered foresters provide an essential service to landowners by developing forestry management plans and are encouraged to sign-up as a Technical Service Provider (TSP).

All NRCS financial-assistance programs offer a continuous sign-up, however to be considered for CAP funding in the 2016 fiscal year, applications must be received by March 18, 2016.

For additional information on becoming a TSP visit the NRCS TSP website: <http://techreg.usda.gov>.

Technical and financial assistance is available through the Environmental Quality Incentives Program.

NRCS financial assistance covers part of the cost to implement conservation practices. Interested landowners are encouraged to contact their local USDA service center.

DIXIE NATIONAL

2016

Every year, for one week in early February, youth who raise livestock and participate in the 4-H & FFA livestock programs in Mississippi head to Jackson for the annual Dixie National Junior Round-Up Livestock Shows. These youth bring show entries from their junior livestock projects to compete for champions of their individual categories. The Dixie National is the showcase for the 4-H & FFA livestock programs and livestock industry; it is also the site of the largest junior market livestock shows in Mississippi. The Champion and Reserve Champion of the Junior Steer Show, Junior Market Lamb Show, Junior Market Swine Show, Junior Market Goat Show, and Overall Champion Mississippi Bred steer, lamb, and hog are singled out for a special tribute at the Dixie National. The exhibitors purchased many of these animals last spring, and these young exhibitors with champions have worked long and hard to raise their outstanding animals.

First, boys and girls exhibit their animals at one of the five district shows within the State. If they receive a blue ribbon on their animal at the district show, they can then participate in the Dixie National. There were over 1,600 market animals at the five district shows and over 1,100 ended up at the Dixie National Junior Round-Up, from which the champions were selected. These champion animals were sold to the highest bidder at the Sale of Junior Champions auction. Each year, the sale's promotional committee also raises educational scholarship funds. Six premier exhibitors won $2,000 scholarships, and 29 other exhibitors won $1,500 scholarships. This year's livestock show included 1,568 4-H and FFA members and 2,298 head of livestock. During the weeklong 2016 Dixie National Livestock Show in Jackson, judges selected 14 hogs, 12 lambs, nine goats and eight steers for the sale. They brought in a preliminary total of $348,987.

Experienced growers and experts with the Mississippi State University Extension Service, Mississippi Agricultural and Forestry Experiment Station, the University of Tennessee Extension Service and Auburn University will present seminars on all aspects of production during the 26th annual workshop.

The course will be held at Eagle Ridge Conference Center at 1500 Raymond Lake Road in Raymond.

Topics include lessons growers will learn in their first year, understanding greenhouse design and engineering, properly controlling the greenhouse environment, using social media to benefit the business, best cultural practices for greenhouse vegetables, plant nutrition for tomatoes and lettuce, an overview of the latest varieties, a cost analysis of production, market development, and alternative crops.

An in-depth pest management workshop will include information on diagnosing plant problems, insect and plant disease identification and control, and physiological disorders.

Participants will tour a successful greenhouse operation that produces tomatoes, cucumbers and lettuce.

The workshop is the longest running course of its kind in the United States and attracts participants from more than 20 states, Latin America, the Caribbean and sometimes Canada and Mexico.
