Midseason Showers Help Soybean Fields

By Linda M. Breazeale
MSU Extension Service

July rains hold a special place in soybean growers' hearts – and in their pocketbooks.

"July is typically a very hot, dry month, but it's also one when soybeans still need water to grow and fill out pods," said Trent Irby, soybean specialist with the Mississippi State University Extension Service. "There have been some exceptions, but most growers have been lucky to get some showers to help their crops along.

"It's difficult to put an exact value on timely rains, but during this part of the season, they can mean the difference between reaching yield goals

Irrigated or not, most Mississippi soybeans are growing well in the mid-season weeks thanks to timely showers. These Noxubee County soybeans are part of the state's 2.05 million acres on July 21, 2016. (Photo by MSU Extension Service/Kevin Hudson) and seeing drastic reductions," he said.

Rains made planting season a challenge, especially for corn fields, where some growers had to switch to soybeans that can be planted later. Mississippi growers planted slightly more soybeans than originally planned, about 2.05 million acres for 2016.

Growers were set to decrease their soybean acreage primarily because of market prices before planting. Extension agricultural economist Brian Williams said prices are not rallying much as the season progresses.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's July 25 crop progress report rated the U.S. soybean crop as 71 percent good or excellent condition, which points toward a bumper crop come harvest time.

Williams said soybean prices have been trading for just over $10 per bushel, which is about the same as they were a year ago. Soybeans have trended down the last weeks of July, mostly due to favorable growing conditions nationally.

"The one bright spot for soybeans comes on the international front," he said. "South America's soybean crop was smaller than expected, and exports for U.S. soybeans have been very strong. That has helped to limit some of the surplus that we have here domestically."

Extension entomologist Angus Catchot said as soybeans approach the home stretch, growers will need to scout intensely for insect pests.

"In mid-July, we started receiving reports of bollworm moths and small larvae in soybeans," he said. "MSU entomologists have removed all pyrethroids from our control guide for bollworms in cotton and soybean because of the widespread tolerance and poor performance in recent years. While some growers still want to use pyrethroids, they need to remember: the most expensive product is the one that does not work."

Catchot said armyworms have been a major challenge this year in numerous crops, creating an urgent problem in soybeans.

Catchot cautioned growers to scout the grasses before applying any herbicide. Look for the white etching or window-paning on key grasses such as signal grass, brown-top millet and crabgrass.

"Part the grass back and look on the ground for worms," he said. "If numbers exceed four or five per square foot, then add an insecticide into the herbicide application. As long as it is the grass-strain fall armyworm, growers can obtain good control with pyrethroids."

Extension plant pathologist Tom Allen said reports of disease in the soybean crop have been light for the most part, but foliar diseases are picking up throughout the state due to the frequent rain showers over the past two weeks.

"As soybeans reach more advanced reproductive growth stages, the stem and root diseases tend to be more frequently observed," he said. "In addition, over the past several weeks, reports of root-knot nematodes in soybean fields have increased. Scout and sample now to aid in decisions for next season."

HARVEST PERMITS

As we enter the harvest season for many different crops, the Mississippi Department of Transportation (MDOT) reminds everyone to have their Harvest Permits for hauling agricultural products.

Harvest Permits entitle a vehicle to haul sand, gravel, fill dirt, agricultural products, or unprocessed forestry products at an authorized maximum gross weight NOT to exceed 84,000 pounds.

The cost for a Harvest Permit is $25 per truck. No Harvest Permit(s) will be issued without a valid tag or a valid receipt showing proof of purchase for tag.

For more information on Harvest Permits contact MDOT at 1-800-844-9309 or www.gomdot.com

Discover the Versatility of Soy

*****

Blueberry Soy Muffins

- 1 cup soy flour
- 3 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon cream of tartar
- 2/3 cup granulated sugar
- 2/3 cup vegetable shortening
- 2 tablespoons powdered sugar
- 1 1/2 cups blueberries, fresh or frozen (do not thaw)
- 8 egg whites
- 2 cups orange juice

Preheat oven to 400° F. Spray muffin pans with non-stick cooking spray. In a large bowl, combine flours, baking powder, baking soda, salt, cream of tartar, and granulated sugar. Stir until well blended. With a pastry blender, cut in shortening until evenly distributed. Rinse and drain fresh blueberries, pat dry. Toss with powdered sugar and set aside. If using frozen blueberries, do not rinse. In a small bowl, beat egg whites and orange juice until blended. Add liquid to dry ingredients, stirring only until moistened. Fold in blueberries. Spoon batter, 1/4 to 1/3 cup per muffin, into prepared pans. Bake at 400° for 20 to 25 minutes. Turn out of pan immediately. Cool right side up on wire rack.

Banana-Oat Pancakes with Soy

- 1/2 cup rolled oats
- 1/2 cup unbleached flour
- 1/4 cup soy flour
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- 1 1/2 cups plain soymilk
- 2 bananas, thinly sliced

In a large bowl, combine rolled oats, unbleached flour, soy flour and baking powder. Add soymilk, blend. Fold in bananas. Pour 1/4 cup batter onto hot nonstick griddle or pan. Cook for about two minutes or until bubbles appear on the surface. Turn and cook for another minute. Serve with maple syrup, fruit spread or applesauce. Makes 12 pancakes.

Soybean, Rice and Lentil Salad

- 15 ounces whole soybeans, drained and rinsed
- 1 cup brown rice, cooked according to package directions
- 1 cup canned kidney beans, drained and rinsed
- 1/2 cup canned lentils, drained and rinsed
- 1/4 cup lite honey mustard salad dressing
- 1/3 cup red onion, chopped
- 1/4 teaspoon black pepper
- Salt to taste
- 4 cups red leaf lettuce, torn

Combine ingredients in a large bowl, except lettuce. Let mixture set at room temperature for 30 minutes. Serve over lettuce.

Ginger Soy Dressing

- 1/2 cup soybean oil
- 1/4 cup rice vinegar
- 1/4 cup water
- 2 tablespoons reduced sodium soy sauce
- 1/4 cup fresh green onion, chopped
- 1 1/2 teaspoons fresh ginger, minced
- 1 teaspoon fresh garlic, minced

Place all ingredients in food processor or blender. Process until smooth; cover and refrigerate. Serve with your favorite salad greens.

Edamame Hummus

- 2 cups edamame, shelled and cooked according to package directions
- 1/4 cup soybean oil
- 3 tablespoons lemon juice
- 2 teaspoons garlic, chopped
- 3/4 teaspoon cumin, ground
- 1/2 teaspoon salt

Puree edamame, oil, lemon juice, garlic, cumin and salt in food processor for 30 seconds, scraping sides twice, until almost smooth. Cover and refrigerate until ready to serve. Serve with pita triangles, crackers, baguette or raw vegetables.

Chocolate Monkey Peanut Shake with Soy

- 1 cup vanilla soymilk
- 1 banana, sliced and frozen
- 1/2 cup ice cubes
- 2 tablespoons chocolate syrup
- 1 tablespoon creamy peanut butter

Blend all ingredients in blender on high speed for 30 seconds or until smooth. Serve immediately. Serving tip: Drizzle chocolate syrup in a swirl down the inside of clear glasses. Pour shake into glasses and top with an additional swirl of chocolate.

DOGS

Only HERDING & HUNTING dog breeds will be published. All dogs must be purebred. Mix breed dogs will not be allowed to advertise. Each subscriber is allowed to advertise only two dog breeds. We cannot accept ads from any individual who is engaged in any type of puppy mill operation or acts as a dealer, broker, buncher, or agent in the business of buying and selling dogs and/or bred solely for profit rather than protection of breed integrity (as defined by the United States Department of Agriculture). We do not list ads for any type of dogs at stud service. Only in-state residents are allowed to advertise within this category.

The Herding & Hunting dog breeds list utilized by the Mississippi Market Bulletin is endorsed by the Mississippi State Veterinarian and the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce.

It is the sole discretion of the Mississippi Market Bulletin to accept or reject any dog ad for submission.

Advertising Guidelines

The Mississippi Market Bulletin is published on the 1st and 15th of each month by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce. The Mississippi Market Bulletin is an important way for the Department to disseminate news and information about issues affecting Mississippi's agriculture industry and the Department's operations.

Through its classified advertising section, the Bulletin provides a forum for Mississippi residents to buy and sell agricultural related items while also giving statewide exposure to small farmers who might not normally have the economic resources for such widespread advertising. The Bulletin does not publish commercial or display ads and all items offered for sale must have been produced, raised, grown or operated on the seller's property. Businesses, corporations, dealerships, brokers or other commercial enterprises are not allowed to advertise in the Mississippi Market Bulletin.

Advertising rules and guidelines have been established for the Mississippi Market Bulletin in order to comply with regulations enforced by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce and to maintain the objectives of the publication. The staff of the Mississippi Market Bulletin reserves the right to edit, revise or reject any advertisement.

The Mississippi Market Bulletin assumes no responsibility for any notice appearing in the Bulletin nor for any transaction resulting from published notices. Advertisers are cautioned that it is against the law to misrepresent any product offered for sale in public notices or advertisements carried in any publication that is delivered by the United States Postal Service.

- In order to advertise in the Mississippi Market Bulletin you must be a subscriber. To place an ad, you must include your name, mailing address and account number that the subscription is listed under on each ad that you submit (this information will not be printed). Each subscriber is allowed to advertise two ads in the Bulletin, listing one ad per category.
- All listings must be agriculture related (raised, grown, produced or operated on your farm). At the top of your ad, write the category that the ad should be listed under. We reserve the right to edit, revise or reject each ad. Please print or type your ad.
- There is a 30-word limit for classified advertisements, this includes: price (on the item you are selling), your city, county and telephone number or name and complete address must be included in the ad if you do not list a telephone number. Ads cannot be held over from one issue to another. You must submit them for each issue.
- Out-of-state residents are not eligible to advertise with the following exceptions: Out-of-state ads are allowed in the "Wanting To Buy" category. Out-of-state ads are allowed for individuals owning farm property within the state that is being offered for sale (consisting of 10 acres or more).

Advertising Deadline Dates

Longest-running, Live, In-Wood Equipment Show August 26-27

By Karen Brasher
College of Forest Resources

The newest technology and machinery used to advance the South's timber industry will be demonstrated August 26-27 at the Mid-South Forestry Equipment Show.

The event will run from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday and 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday. Held at the John W. Starr Memorial Forest off of Highway 25 south of Starkville, the show is sponsored by Mississippi State University's College of Forest Resources, Hatton-Brown Publishers Inc., the Mississippi Loggers Association and the Mississippi Forestry Association.

The biennial event is the longest-running live, in-wood demonstration of forestry equipment in the South.

A record 90 vendors and exhibitors will participate in the event. Attendees can compete for prizes in the skidder contest sponsored by John Deere and Stribling Equipment and the loader contest sponsored by Tigercat and B&G Equipment. Exhibitors have many special offerings planned, some of which will benefit the Log-A-Load for Kids charity.

The show will also feature a children's area with games such as the Little Folks Skidder Contest, the Log Rolling Contest and the Sawdust Pile of Prizes.

Loggers, landowners and professionals can receive training and earn continuing education credits by attending courses in timber improvement, technology and equipment financing, among others.

The Mississippi Loggers Association is sponsoring two $1,000 door prize drawings on Saturday. All paid attendees will be automatically entered in the drawings and must be present to win.

Admission is $15 for those who pre-register prior to August 14 and $20 at the gate. Spouses and children under 18 are admitted free with a paid attendee. To view a schedule of events or pre-register, visit www.midsouthforestry.org.

Artemisia is a Perfect Option for Low-maintenance Landscapes

By Dr. Gary R. Bachman
MSU Extension Service
Extension/Research Professor

Gardeners are always looking for landscape plants that provide interest, and they primarily concentrate on the colorful flowers. But in my experience, even the most floriferous garden plant will need some help to maintain garden beauty.

This is where foliage plants come to save the day, and coleus is usually the first choice. But Artemisia is an alternative landscape plant that doesn't get enough attention.

Known commonly as Dusty Miller, Artemisia is one of the most beautiful supporting cast members of garden plants. The gray foliage appears to be a dusty silver from the soft fuzziness of the leaves. The silvery color seems to intensify and enhance the colors of other garden plants.

There is a wide variety of Artemisia on the market. A favorite of mine in the past was Powis Castle, but this selection grows up to 30 inches tall and is very vigorous.

I recently found a new -- and I think much more useful -- variety: Quicksilver. What I really like is that Quicksilver only grows to about 10 inches tall with a 24-inch spread, making it a great choice for use as a groundcover or border location. I like growing it in a container where the spread shoots can start to spill over the container edge.

I really like pairing the silver foliage with anything purple. Those two colors together make for a winning landscape combo. Try combining the feathery, silver foliage with purple-leaved alternanthera, such as the Mississippi Medallion winner Little Ruby or the newer Purple Prince. A tried-and-true combination would be with the purplish-maroon Purple Heart. Underplanting the Mississippi Medallion winner All-Around Purple gomphrena with Quicksilver would give the appearance of a silvery carpet.

All Artemisia requires is full sun and a well-drained planting bed. These plants are perennial across Mississippi, and a light spring pruning to remove woody stems will ensure a tight-growing plant. The plants can be divided in either spring or fall to share with neighbors and friends. Be sure to water well to get the plants established. After that, take advantage of the heat and drought tolerance.

On the rare occasion when the plant might get unruly, simply pinch the offending shoots back to maintain the desired form. These are truly among the best low-maintenance plants we can grow in our landscapes.

Go ahead and give Artemisia a try in your landscape. I'll bet you'll always have silver growing with the green from now on.

Produce Preferences Help State Truck Crop Market

By Robert Nathan Gregory
MSU Extension Service

Favorable weather and a steady consumer appetite for local produce are keeping Mississippi's truck crop industry strong.

The state now has more than 80 farmers markets, compared to 52 in 2010. These markets make up the main avenue through which truck crop growers sell their goods, but local produce can be found with more frequency on grocery store shelves during the growing season. This trend reflects the shift in consumer preference.

Jeff Wilson, a regional horticulture specialist at the Mississippi State University North Mississippi Research and Extension Center in Verona, said current concerns among growers are excessive heat and dry weather. All signs now point to a successful season due to good growing conditions in the spring.

"I go to multiple farmers markets a week, and the vendors and growers I've spoken to have reported high yields with both fruits and vegetables," he said. "Conditions are hot and dry now, but that is to be expected. Spring was cool and wet, which is also normal. We saw some disease pressures in spring, but those mostly went away when temperatures increased."

The MSU Division of Agriculture, Forestry and Veterinary Medicine categorizes fruits and vegetables, along with other produce found at farmers markets, as horticultural crops. Value of production estimates for that commodity totaled $112 million in 2015 and $114 the year before. This value accounts for about 2 percent of the state's agricultural economy.

Most truck crops in Mississippi are grown during the spring and summer because many fruits and vegetables grow best in warmer weather. As farmers markets open in new places, more growers are entering the truck crops market for the first time to gain supplementary income. However, high up-front costs and intensive labor are roadblocks for some producers who might otherwise be interested in entering the business.

Extension fruit specialist Eric Stafne said there is still room for more potential growers to enter the market, depending on what they want to produce.

"Interest in sustainable and organic production is still trending up," he said. "Newcomers to truck crop growing can succeed if they grow crops that have not saturated the market. We have a lot of people growing blueberries right now, but there is room for growers of niche produce. We'd like to see more organic farmers. Crops such as blackberries and tree fruits could be grown more than they are."

Weather timing dictates the quality and quantity of fruit crop yield.

"Rain can be good or bad, depending on when it falls," Stafne said. "Rain during tree fruit bloom harms the crop because pollination is inhibited. Last winter was very mild, so some areas didn't receive enough chilling hours required to break bud. We saw erratic bloom in places because a certain amount of time with cold temperatures is required."

MSU supports truck crops agriculture statewide with research plots at the North Mississippi Research and Extension Center in Verona, the Horticulture Unit in Beaumont and the Truck Crops Branch Experiment Station near Crystal Springs.

The Mississippi Department of Agriculture has a list of state farmers markets posted at <https://www.mdac.ms.gov/bureaus-departments/farmers-market/markets-mississippi/>.
