Timely Rains, Few Issues Indicate Good Yield For Peanuts

By Susan M. Collins-Smith
MSU Extension Service

With few problems this year, Mississippi's peanut growers should see a good crop.

"Overall, peanuts are doing very well," said Jason Sarver, Mississippi State University Extension Service peanut specialist. "Peanuts in south Mississippi received consistent rain throughout the season. We were really dry for a while across northeast Mississippi and the Delta. But between days 70 and 80, we started catching some rains across both regions that helped make a nice crop."

According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture Mississippi Crop Progress and Condition Report, peanuts were pegging at 96 percent for the week ending August 7. Sixty-nine percent of the crop is in good to excellent condition.

Disease and insect problems have been minimal. However, late summer heat and humidity coupled with dense, bushy plants present perfect conditions for Southern blight, a soil-borne fungal disease.

"Year in and year out, it is our biggest problem in peanuts," said Sarver, who is also a researcher with the Mississippi Agricultural and Forestry Experiment Station. "For the last few weeks, most of my calls have been about Southern blight. There is nothing unusual about this year; we just have the right conditions for it to really take off.

"We've also seen a high level of defoliating caterpillars in the last month or so, but growers are treating both issues with proper fungicide and insecticide applications," he said.

The USDA Mississippi Acreage Report released June 30 estimates planted acres at 40,000. That amount is slightly lower than last year's 43,000 acres.

Sarver estimates harvest will begin around September 10 with good yields.

"That is a little earlier than usual to begin digging, but our spring warmed up, we got rains at the right time, and we had enough heat units to mature the crop," he said. "Yield should be better than last year, as well. Growers averaged 3,400 pounds per acre last year. We could get over 4,000 pounds per acre this year."

Brian Williams, Extension agricultural economist, said low prices for other row crops, such as soybeans and corn, in the last few years prompted growers to plant peanuts as an alternative.

"As a result, we saw a boost in acres for the 2015 crop, and while acres dropped off in 2016, they are still much higher than two years ago when statewide acreage was about 30,000," Williams said.

Estimated peanut prices for the 2016 crop are just over $360 per ton, down slightly from $380 per ton one year ago, Williams said.

"The increase in acres and production have substantially increased our peanut stocks, which have pushed prices down," he said. "However, it looks like we may have record peanut exports this year, which could eat into our surplus and provide a needed boost to markets."

Peanuts in this Monroe County field look good on August 10, 2016. Harvest is expected to begin around September 10, and yield may average more than 4,000 pounds per acre, up from the average of 3,400 pounds per acre last year. (Photo by MSU Extension Service/Kevin Hudson)

From Our Kitchen To Yours

The Perfectly Powerful Peanut!

*****

Peanut Butter Banana Bread

2 cups all-purpose flour
1 cup whole wheat flour
1 cup peanuts, chopped
1/4 cup wheat germ
1 tablespoon ground cinnamon
2 teaspoons baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
4 eggs, room temperature
2 1/3 cups sugar
3/4 cup creamy peanut butter
1/2 cup canola oil
1 tablespoon vanilla extract
2 cups coarsely mashed bananas (about 3-4)

In a medium bowl, combine flours, peanuts, wheat germ, cinnamon, baking soda and salt. Beat eggs in large bowl. Add sugar; beat until creamy. Add peanut butter, oil and vanilla; beat well. Add bananas, beat one minute. Stir in dry ingredients until blended. Spray two 9x5x3-inch loaf pans with non-stick cooking spray. Divide batter equally between pans; tap on counter to settle batter. Bake at 375°F for 55 to 65 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pans 10 minutes. Turn out onto rack; cool completely. Portion 32 slices when cool.

Sweet and Spicy Peanut Granola

3 1/2 cups dry oatmeal
8 ounces dry roasted peanuts
1/3 cup honey
1/4 cup molasses
1/4 cup peanut oil
1 tablespoon creamy peanut butter
1 tablespoon ground cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon ground allspice
1/8 teaspoon red or cayenne pepper
1 1/2 cups dried sweetened cranberries

Preheat oven to 350°F. Line baking sheet with aluminum foil and spray with nonstick cooking spray. In a large bowl, mix oatmeal and peanuts together. In a separate microwave safe bowl, stir together honey, molasses, peanut oil and peanut butter. Heat mixture in the microwave at 30-second increments, stirring at each interval until it becomes easy to pour. Pour mixture over the oatmeal and peanut mixture, and add spices; stir to combine wet and dry ingredients. Spread mixture onto the sheet pan and cook for 20-25 minutes, stirring halfway, or until the mixture turns brown and begins to crisp. Remove granola from the oven and cool slightly; stir in cranberries. Once completely cooled, granola can be stored in an airtight container for up to three weeks.

Spinach Salad with Roasted Peanuts

1/4 cup peanut oil
1 1/2 tablespoons red wine vinegar
3/4 teaspoon lite (reduced sodium) soy sauce
1 tablespoon honey mustard
1/4 teaspoon dill weed
1 1/2 quarts crisp washed spinach leaves, torn up if large
1 1/2 apples, quartered, cored and diced
1/2 cup dry roasted unsalted peanuts
2 tablespoons coarsely grated parmesan cheese

To make the salad dressing combine oil, vinegar, soy sauce, honey mustard and dill weed in a jar. Shake well. Arrange spinach on plates. Top with apple, peanuts and cheese. Shake dressing once more and drizzle over salad.

Crunchy Honey Peanut Chicken

1 tablespoon flour
1 teaspoon seasoned salt
1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
1/4 teaspoon dried tarragon
1/4 cup prepared mustard
2 tablespoon honey
1 cup unsalted dry roasted peanuts, finely chopped
4 boneless skinless chicken breasts
2 tablespoons butter

In a pie pan or shallow bowl, combine flour, seasoned salt, garlic powder and tarragon; mix well. In second pie pan, combine mustard and honey. Place peanuts in third pie pan. Dip each chicken breast in flour mixture; then honey mustard, and finally in peanuts to coat. Heat butter in 10-to-12-inch skillet; add chicken and cook over medium-low heat until cooked through and golden brown, four to five minutes per side.

Back to the Schoolhouse

By Erin Morin
Mississippi Agriculture
and Forestry Museum

September is here, and children across the state are getting into the back-to-school routine as summer draws to a close. Autumn is an exciting time for the Ag Museum, as we prepare for our several special events – like Pumpkin Adventure and Harvest Festival – as well as more field trips! While the Ag Museum is an educational experience all around, one of our exhibits is particularly “academically” oriented – the Small Town Schoolhouse.

In the 1920s, one- and two-room schoolhouses were prevalent throughout Mississippi, especially in rural areas and small towns. These schools typically had a wooden frame and were heated by a wood-burning stove. Most schoolhouses lacked running water and electricity; it was the teacher’s duty to prepare kerosene lamps and collect water from the well for the day. Teachers had many other duties as well, including whittling the quills for students to write with, all while facing the challenge of having to teach as many as eight grades at a time.

Lessons for the day centered on the “three Rs”: Reading, ‘riting, and ‘rithmetic. Teaching tools were essential to getting the job done. Reading was often taught with the help of “readers,” which were textbooks that contained literary excerpts, grammar lessons and exercises that children could work through independently while the teacher attended to other students. The most popular books of the time were the McGuffey Readers, a set of six books with increasing difficulty. Students would complete one reader for each grade

1-6. Writing primarily focused on penmanship. While this was considered an important skill to learn, paper could be expensive and difficult to obtain. In its place, children used individual chalk slates to practice writing. Older children would also use these slates to practice arithmetic. Younger children were taught simple arithmetic with an abacus, a wooden frame with strings of beads that children could slide to perform addition or subtraction. In the Small Town Schoolhouse at the Mississippi Ag Museum, you can see each of these three tools, McGuffey Readers, chalk slates and an abacus, for yourself.

If you are an educator interested in giving your own students a glimpse into the history of Mississippi’s educational development, we’d love to arrange a field trip for your school group. The Mississippi Agriculture and Forestry Museum is a fun and immersive educational experience for students of all ages, and we can accommodate groups of any size. We offer free Teacher Resource Packets to aid your planning. We are also taking reservations for our big fall events! Availability is limited for these special events, so don’t wait to secure your spot.

The Ag Museum is located at 1150 Lakeland Drive in Jackson and is open Monday through Saturday from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. In addition to our gallery and exhibit spaces, the Ag Museum also has room for your occasion, whether it’s a meeting, a wedding or other special event. Call (601) 432-4500, visit www.msagmuseum.org or email msagmuseum@mdac.ms.gov for information.

Know Your Mississippi

Mississippi Peanut Facts.

- 42,000 acres of peanuts were harvested in 2015 with a production value of $29 million.
- 168 million pounds of peanuts were produced in 2015.
- Peanuts have traditionally been grown only in south Mississippi but now they are being used as a rotational crop with cotton in the Delta.
- Peanuts are planted after the last frost in April through May. From planting to harvesting, the growing cycle of a peanut takes 4 to 5 months.

Advertising Guidelines

The Mississippi Market Bulletin is published on the 1st and 15th of each month by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce. The Mississippi Market Bulletin is an important way for the Department to disseminate news and information about issues affecting Mississippi's agriculture industry and the Department's operations.

Through its classified advertising section, the Bulletin provides a forum for Mississippi residents to buy and sell agricultural related items while also giving statewide exposure to small farmers who might not normally have the economic resources for such widespread advertising. The Bulletin does not publish commercial or display ads and all items offered for sale must have been produced, raised, grown or operated on the seller's property. Businesses, corporations, dealerships, brokers or other commercial enterprises are not allowed to advertise in the Mississippi Market Bulletin.

Advertising rules and guidelines have been established for the Mississippi Market Bulletin in order to comply with regulations enforced by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce and to maintain the objectives of the publication. The staff of the Mississippi Market Bulletin reserves the right to edit, revise or reject any advertisement.

The Mississippi Market Bulletin assumes no responsibility for any notice appearing in the Bulletin nor for any transaction resulting from published notices. Advertisers are cautioned that it is against the law to misrepresent any product offered for sale in public notices or advertisements carried in any publication that is delivered by the United States Postal Service.

- In order to advertise in the Mississippi Market Bulletin you must be a subscriber. To place an ad, you must include your name, mailing address and account number that the subscription is listed under on each ad that you submit (this information will not be printed). Each subscriber is allowed to advertise two ads in the Bulletin, listing one ad per category.
- All listings must be agriculture related (raised, grown, produced or operated on your farm). At the top of your ad, write the category that the ad should be listed under. We reserve the right to edit, revise or reject each ad. Please print or type your ad.
- There is a 30-word limit for classified advertisements, this includes: price (on the item you are selling), your city, county and telephone number or name and complete address must be included in the ad if you do not list a telephone number. Ads cannot be held over from one issue to another. You must submit them for each issue.
- Out-of-state residents are not eligible to advertise with the following exceptions: Out-of-state ads are allowed in the "Wanting To Buy" category. Out-of-state ads are allowed for individuals owning farm property within the state that is being offered for sale (consisting of 10 acres or more).

Rosetti Recognized as 2016 “Top Cop”

By Jessica Spears
MDAC Staff

The Mississippi Agricultural and Livestock Theft Bureau (MALTB), the law enforcement division of the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce (MDAC), recently recognized Investigator Nick Rosetti of Biloxi, Miss., as the agency’s “Top Cop.” The 2016 Police Memorial and Appreciation Day luncheon was held during Police Memorial Week at the Mississippi Trade Mart on the State Fairgrounds.

Many officers from the Jackson metro area and federal and state law enforcement agencies recognized their bureau’s “Top Cop” at the luncheon. Those who lost their lives in the line of duty during the past year were also honored. The Mississippi Center for Police and Sheriffs joined together with Central Mississippi Crime Stoppers, Jackson Police Department, Hinds County Sheriff’s Office, Mississippi Office of Homeland Security and other organizations to host the event.

Prior to his recent retirement, Investigator Rosetti was in law enforcement with the MALTB for 23 years. He was assigned to investigate crimes in District 8, which covers the six coastal counties. Rosetti had conducted numerous investigations such as timber, equipment and livestock theft, business burglaries and other operations. While working with the MALTB, he assisted multiple law enforcement agencies with arresting violators, and he presented many cases to grand juries.

The Mississippi Agricultural and Livestock Theft Bureau enforces laws to prevent the theft of livestock, timber and agricultural products and investigates all agricultural crimes.

Nick Rosetti (right) was recently recognized by Barry Coward, Director of the Mississippi Agricultural and Livestock Theft Bureau (MALTB), as the 2016 “Top Cop” recipient for the bureau. MALTB is the law enforcement division of the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce.

Facilities Management Advisory Committee Tours the Ag Museum

Agriculture Commissioner Cindy Hyde-Smith hosted the Facilities Management Advisory Committee and Mississippi Department of Finance and Administration staff at the Mississippi Agriculture and Forestry Museum. This committee, consisting of state legislators, tours state properties to assess building and grounds needs. During the tour, Commissioner Hyde-Smith shared facility maintenance needs of the Ag Museum and the Mississippi Farmers Market.

Commissioner Hyde-Smith Named to Class of the Country’s Top Outstanding Political Female Leaders

By Paige Manning
Director of Marketing
and Public Relations - MDAC

The Governing Institute has named Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce Cindy Hyde-Smith to its Women in Leadership Class of 2017. This leadership program brings together outstanding elected women leaders from across the nation to acknowledge their contributions, provide leadership development, and to mentor the next generation of women leaders to run for office. Commissioner Hyde-Smith is one of 25 women selected for this honor. The class was selected based on career and educational accomplishments, recommendations, a commitment to actively participate, and the goal of seating a diverse class in a number of categories. The Governing Institute established this program to encourage and support women in government.

Commissioner Hyde-Smith was elected as Mississippi’s Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce in 2011, and she is currently serving her second term in office. She is the first woman to hold this statewide position in the state. Prior to serving as the Ag Commissioner, Hyde-Smith represented District 39 in the Mississippi State Senate for 12 years. While serving as Senator, she was the Chairman of the Agriculture Committee for eight years.

Fall Flower & Garden Fest

By MSU Extension Service

The 2016 Fall Flower & Garden Fest will be October 14 & 15 at the Truck Crops Experiment Station in Crystal Springs, Mississippi. Crystal Springs is about 25 miles south of Jackson. Hours are from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. both days and food vendors will have food and drinks available.

This is the largest home gardening show in the Southeast with average attendance of 5,000 people over the two-day event. Featured in the three acre garden are winners of the prestigious All-America Selections award. Admission and parking are free.

There will lots to choose from -- ribeye steak sandwiches, catfish, BBQ plates, chicken, hamburgers, hot dogs and more. For dessert, there will be cookies, cakes and sweet potato sweets. The Chautauqua Garden Club will be selling homemade ice cream, and the Copiah County 4-H will serve hot and cold drinks all day.

For more information, contact your local Mississippi County Extension office, or call (601) 892-3731.
