Sweet Potato Harvest Yields Mixed Baskets

By Linda Breazeale
MSU Extension Service

After two challenging years in Mississippi sweet potato fields, farmers are hoping for a problem-free harvest over the next few weeks.

Stephen Meyers, Extension sweet potato specialist based at the Mississippi State University Pontotoc Ridge-Flatwoods Branch Experiment Station, said growers are cautiously optimistic as harvest begins.

"I'm hearing a wide range of yields from early harvests, which began the third week of August this year," Meyers said. "Much of the crop transplanted in May was exposed to abnormally cool weather. On the opposite end of the spectrum, hot, dry conditions in June caused some poor stands. Other fields suffered from too much rain in July and August."

Meyers said the state has 28,400 acres of sweet potatoes, up from 25,200 last year. Mississippi is second to North Carolina, which has about 90,000 acres, in sweet potato production.

"Some acreage increases are happening among existing growers, but some new growers are row crop farmers who have started producing sweet potatoes because of poor commodity prices," he said. "That has created more business for equipment fabricators because sweet potatoes require specialized transplanting and harvesting equipment."

Meyers said some producers have reported damage from wireworms and other pests, which has been severe in some fields. This problem may result in more potatoes going to processing, which also cuts into profits. Meyers said the overall quality of the 2016 crop is good at the harvest midway point, but he acknowledged that there is still a long way to go before the season concludes.

"Sweet potato harvest is a marathon, not a sprint," he said. "Most producers finished by the end of October, just in time to ramp up packing operations for the Thanksgiving holiday."

Extension agricultural economist Alba Collart said Mississippi U.S. No. 1 sweet potatoes average $23.19 per 40-pound carton wholesale. Last year, those cartons would have sold for about $23.27.

Collart said consumer demand for sweet potatoes has shown marked improvement in recent years.

"Consumption of sweet potatoes in the United States has increased from about 4.2 pounds per person in 2000 to about 7.5 pounds in 2014," she said. "Interest in organic sweet potatoes is also growing."

The economist said production value of organic sweet potatoes is increasing, mainly in California and North Carolina. This increase in production value is generating interest in organic production in Mississippi and other states that produce sweet potatoes.

Chase Rimmer, manager of operations and procurement for Penick Produce in Vardaman, said his company's organic acreage increased from 450 acres last year to more than 1,000 this year. He said the company is not likely to expand much next year.

"The price for organic potatoes is higher, but yields are lower," he said.

Rimmer said growers converting from cotton to potatoes will face a steep learning curve.

"The two crops have totally different equipment and production systems, including labor," he said.

Environmental Quality Incentives Program Accepting Applications

By Kavanaugh Breazeale
USDA-NRCS

The United States Department of Agriculture/Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) will have financial and technical assistance available for fiscal year 2017 to assist Mississippi producers with the implementation of conservation practices through the Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP).

NRCS accepts applications for EQIP opportunities on a continuous basis, however there are certain deadline dates set forth to rank applications in designated ranking periods. The deadline to sign-up to be considered in the first ranking period is November 18, 2016.

NRCS helps producers improve water and air quality, build healthier soils, improve grazing and forest lands, conserve energy, enhance organic operations and achieve many environmental benefits. All NRCS programs are completely voluntary and offer science-based solutions that benefit both the landowner and the environment.

"The Environmental Quality Incentives Program offers producers a variety of options to conserve natural resources on their properties," stated Kurt Readus, State Conservationist for Mississippi.

"This conservation investment helps improve environmental health and the economy of Mississippi's communities."

Applicants can sign up at their local NRCS office. Interested producers, farmers and ranchers can apply for EQIP and obtain more information at their local USDA/NRCS office. For more information about EQIP, visit the NRCS website: http://www.nrcs.usda.gov/wps/portal/nrcs/detail/ms/programs/financial/eqip/?cid=nrcs142p2_017159. TWO WEEKS, TWO WAYS TO TOUR!

HARVEST FEST 2016

Join the Mississippi Agriculture and Forestry Museum November 10-12 & 16-18, 2016 for the annual Harvest Festival. With two weeks and two ways to tour, you're sure to have a great time! November 10-12 will be Industrial Demonstrations week and November 16-18 will be Living History week. Small Town, Miss., comes to life during these dates from 9:00 a.m. until 2:00 p.m. with live demonstrations throughout the grounds that give visitors a glimpse of Mississippi's past and show the impact agriculture has made on our lives.

Industrial Demonstrations week will focus more on the Museum's larger mechanized artifacts and areas, such as demonstrations at the Bisland Cotton Gin, the oldest functioning cotton gin in America! There will also be demonstrations at the Sawmill, as well as an antique tractor display and a hit and miss engine demonstration.

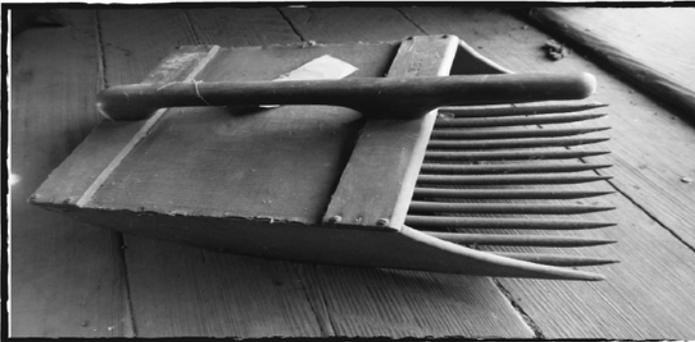

Living History week will concentrate more on "man-powered" demonstrations throughout Small Town and the Farmstead. Stop by the Blacksmiths shop, Print shop and the Cane mill for a visit with our interpreters and demonstrators in period clothing!

Both weeks will offer complimentary biscuits and syrup. Train, carousel and hay rides will be available for $1 per rider. Admission is as follows: Adults: $6 and Children (ages 3-18): $4.

The exhibits inside the Heritage Center gallery give visitors the opportunity to see how agriculture has changed throughout the years, from the methods and equipment used in farming with horses and mules to the invention of tractors. Visitors can discover the role that agriculture aviation has played in the agriculture industry at the National Agricultural Aviation Museum, housed inside of the Heritage Center. The model train exhibit, featuring three gauges of model trains depicting life along the rails in Mississippi, is also a must see.

Advertising Guidelines

The Mississippi Market Bulletin is published on the 1st and 15th of each month by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce. The Mississippi Market Bulletin is an important way for the Department to disseminate news and information about issues affecting Mississippi's agriculture industry and the Department's operations.

Through its classified advertising section, the Bulletin provides a forum for Mississippi residents to buy and sell agricultural related items while also giving statewide exposure to small farmers who might not normally have the economic resources for such widespread advertising. The Bulletin does not publish commercial or display ads and all items offered for sale must have been produced, raised, grown or operated on the seller's property. Businesses, corporations, dealerships, brokers or other commercial enterprises are not allowed to advertise in the Mississippi Market Bulletin.

Advertising rules and guidelines have been established for the Mississippi Market Bulletin in order to comply with regulations enforced by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce and to maintain the objectives of the publication. The staff of the Mississippi Market Bulletin reserves the right to edit, revise or reject any advertisement.

The Mississippi Market Bulletin assumes no responsibility for any notice appearing in the Bulletin nor for any transaction resulting from published notices. Advertisers are cautioned that it is against the law to misrepresent any product offered for sale in public notices or advertisements carried in any publication that is delivered by the United States Postal Service.

- In order to advertise in the Mississippi Market Bulletin you must be a subscriber. To place an ad, you must include your name, mailing address and account number that the subscription is listed under on each ad that you submit (this information will not be printed). Each subscriber is allowed to advertise two ads in the Bulletin, listing one ad per category.
- All listings must be agriculture related (raised, grown, produced or operated on your farm). At the top of your ad, write the category that the ad should be listed under. We reserve the right to edit, revise or reject each ad. Please print or type your ad.
- There is a 30-word limit for classified advertisements, this includes: price (on the item you are selling), your city, county and telephone number or name and complete address must be included in the ad if you do not list a telephone number. MDAC and MDE Celebrate Farm to School Week at Highland Bluff Elementary School

By Paige Manning
Director of Marketing and Public Relations - MDAC

The Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce (MDAC) collaborated with the Mississippi Department of Education (MDE) to celebrate the fifth annual Mississippi Farm to School Week at Highland Bluff Elementary School in Brandon, Miss. Students dined with special guests including Mississippi House of Representatives Education Committee Chairman John Moore, Mississippi House of Representatives Public Property Committee Chairman Tom Weathersby, Rankin County School District Superintendent Dr. Sue Townsend, Deputy Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce John Campbell, Mississippi Department of Education Director of Child Nutrition and Healthy Schools Scott Clements, Flowood Mayor Gary Rhoades, Flowood Police Chief Richie McCluskey, and the Mississippi farmers responsible for growing some of the lunch menu items.

During the celebration, farmers including Amanda Sanderson of Waynesboro, Louis Guedon of Churchill, Randle Wright of Vardaman, Glyn and Portia Holmes and Holmes County Food Hub representatives of Durant, Gil Thompson of Mound Bayou, Doug Davis of Yokna Bottoms Farm in Oxford, and Becky Beard representing the Mississippi Poultry Association visited third-grade classrooms explaining the importance of agriculture and eating healthy fruits and vegetables.

The classroom visits allowed students the opportunity to get to know the Mississippi farmers who grow the food that is served throughout the school year in their cafeteria. Students also enjoyed a petting zoo with typical animals that are found on farms and a farmers market with a variety of produce that can be grown in Mississippi. "Education reaches beyond the walls of the school buildings. When we give students the opportunity to learn from the "real world" such as the dedicated farmers from the great state of Mississippi, I believe we are fully enhancing the learning process," stated Rankin County School District Superintendent Dr. Sue Townsend.

"Farm to School in Mississippi is a success that deserves to be celebrated. It provides fresh produce to schools and an educational experience for students while promoting the state economy," said Scott Clements, Director of Child Nutrition and Healthy Schools for the Mississippi Department of Education. The Mississippi Department of Education and the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce have partnered for the past fourteen years to increase the amount of fruits and vegetables grown in the state that are served in lunchrooms across Mississippi. This program offers schools 17 varieties of Mississippi-grown fruits and vegetables including butterbeans, southern peas, sweet potatoes, yellow squash, butternut squash, zucchini, turnip greens, collard greens, cantaloupes, watermelons, cherry tomatoes, bell peppers, green beans, corn cobbles, cucumbers, blueberries and broccoli crowns. "I am proud of the partnership between the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce and the Mis-issippi Department of Education and the efforts made to purchase fruits and vegetables direct from farmers right here in Mississippi. This program has experienced growth in the variety and volume of Mississippi-grown produce offered to local schools over the past few years, which has benefitted both our farmers and local school districts," stated Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce Cindy

Third-grade students at Highland Bluff Elementary School in Brandon welcomed farmers and state and local officials to their school during Mississippi Farm to School Week. This celebration, a collaboration of the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce, the Mississippi Department of Education and the Rankin County School District, gave students the opportunity to meet the farmers that grow many of the fruits and vegetables that served in their cafeteria throughout the school year.

Hyde-Smith.

The Mississippi Department of Education and the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce took part in other farm to school celebrations throughout the state. Representatives from MDE and MDAC attended special events at Popp's Ferry Elementary in Biloxi, Jackson Elementary in Pascagoula, and Reeves Elementary in Long Beach.

2016 Mississippi State Fair Sets Attendance Record

By Rick Reno
Executive Director
Mississippi Fair Commission

Fair officials announced a record attendance of 733,151 fair goers for the recently completed 2016 Mississippi State Fair. This year's attendance is approximately four percent more than the previous record set in 2014 and an approximate 13 percent increase over the 2015 attendance.

We were blessed with 12 days of excellent weather which allowed a record number of fun-seeking children and adults to experience 62 great midway rides provided by North American Midway Entertainment, the expanded Kid Zone with camel rides and Magician Kid Davies. Fairgoers enjoyed over 108,000 delicious biscuits courtesy of Kroger, Blackburn Syrup and Prairie Farms served at the renowned Biscuit Booth and all of the wonderful 4-H and FFA livestock exhibits.

This year the Budweiser Pavilion was transformed into an open-air facility that hosted free concerts featuring national artists such as Travis Tritt, Boyz II Men, Alter Bridge, Frank Foster, Old Dominion, and many more local and regional performers.

We would like to extend a special thanks to the many volunteers who help make the fair a success and to the Jackson Police Department and to Hinds County Sheriff Victor Mason and his great staff of officers for providing a safe environment for all those who enjoyed the fair this year. We look forward to an even greater fair next year! We hope you will join us for the 158th Mississippi State Fair in 2017!
