New Year’s Resolution: Plan for a Successful Calving Season

By Dr. Jane Parish
Extension Beef Cattle Specialist
Mississippi State University

With the New Year comes a new calf crop for many Mississippi cow-calf producers. Calving season is getting started in many cattle herds around the state and can be a very intense time for producers. Here are a few simple management techniques that will help ensure a successful calving season.

Nutritional management

Adequate nutrition is critical during the last two months of gestation since most of the fetal growth occurs during this time. Keeping heifers separate from the mature cow herd is important from both nutritional and breeding management standpoints. Heifers are still growing and have higher nutrient requirements than mature cows. A beef female’s energy needs for maintenance, growth and lactation must be met before energy is used for reproduction.

A cow or heifer that has just calved will require additional nutrients for the first few months after calving. Having cattle in proper body condition at calving will positively impact rebreeding rates. Cows and heifers in thin body condition at calving time are slower to rebreed, produce less colostrum, and are less likely to wean a live calf. Effective nutritional programs match forage and feed resources to animal nutrient requirements.

Avoiding calving difficulty

Calves experiencing two periods of increased nutritional need, which are significant and must be accommodated or her performance for the rest of the year can be negatively affected. One of these periods, of course, is at calving.

In the first month of lactation, her protein and energy needs will increase by 0.7 lbs. and lbs. respectively. By the second month, as her level of milk production nears maximum, her protein and energy needs have increased 56% and 27% respectively.

Avoiding calving difficulty starts long before calving season with proper bull selection, proper heifer development and culling of females with extremely small pelvic openings. A calving ease bull should be mated to first-calf heifers. If a significant problem with calving difficulty has been experienced in the past, then it is time to reevaluate the herd sires being used. The old saying that a 60-pound live calf is better than a 100-pound dead calf still holds.

Avoiding calving difficulty starts long before calving season with proper bull selection, proper heifer development and culling of females with extremely small pelvic openings. A calving ease bull should be mated to first-calf heifers. If a significant problem with calving difficulty has been experienced in the past, then it is time to reevaluate the herd sires being used. The old saying that a 60-pound live calf is better than a 100-pound dead calf still holds.

Place cows and heifers ready to calve in a pasture where they can be easily viewed and checked often. Research indicates that nighttime calving feeding will result in most of the calves being born during daylight hours. It is a good idea to pay special attention to first-calf heifers since they are the most likely members of the herd to experience calving difficulty.

Check that all calving areas are clean and free of items that might injure cattle. Observe cattle frequently and have calf pulling and disinfectant supplies readily available. Calving assistance may be needed if reasonable progress stops after the feet or water bag appears. Contact a veterinarian if a calf cannot be safely delivered without help. After calving, monitor cows and heifers for retained placentas.

Calf processing

Once a calf hits the ground, make sure that it is breathing properly. Dip naval cords in a 7% iodine solution or use blue lotion spray to prevent infections. This is particularly important in heavily used calving grounds. Calves should be ear tagged at birth with a unique identification number so that they can be matched to their dams and properly identified for herd records. Calf birth date, sex and birth weight, if possible, should be recorded at calving for use in herd improvement programs.

Make sure that the calf nurses properly. Calves need to receive colostrum as soon as possible after birth to build calf immunity and resistance to diseases such as scours and pneumonia. With each passing hour, the amount of colostrum in the dam’s milk declines along with the calf’s ability to absorb colostrum. Know the signs of a sick calf: rapid breathing, scours, lowered head and ears, dry muzzle, inside of mouth cold to touch and abnormal posture to name a few. Move the cow-calf pair out to clean pasture as soon as possible to reduce disease exposure.

Spring Calving Cows Nutritional Needs

By Clay Wright
The Samuel Roberts Noble Foundation, Inc.

At this time of year, a spring-calving cow experiences two periods of increased nutritional need, which are significant and must be accommodated or her performance for the rest of the year can be negatively affected. One of these periods, of course, is at calving.

In the first month of lactation, her protein and energy needs will increase by 0.7 lbs. and lbs. respectively. By the second month, as her level of milk production nears maximum, her protein and energy needs have increased 56% and 27% respectively.

She is not only producing milk but also trying to prepare her body to breed again very soon. Without an immediate, adequate increase in nutrition at calving, a dramatic loss of body condition is common as she uses body stores to meet these new needs. The most common effect of inadequate nutrition after calving is low conception rate during the breeding season.

Possibly the most often overlooked nutritional need for a spring-calving cow, however, comes during the last 50 to 60 days of pregnancy. In the first seven months or so of gestation, building a calf does not require a lot of nutrients. In the last two months, however, the fetus makes 75% of its total growth. Additional protein, energy, and minerals are needed to build the calf and maintain the cow’s increasing weight.

The same ration that maintains a cow through most of her pregnancy will result in weight loss during the last two months. The fact is that if a cow is dropping condition in late pregnancy, whether rapidly or imperceptibly, she will not cycle as quickly after calving.

Beef – It’s What’s for Dinner

***************************

Beef Tenderloin with Wild Mushroom Grits

1 beef tenderloin roast center-cut (2 to 3 pounds)
3 tablespoons fresh thyme, chopped
4 teaspoons pepper
2 tablespoons butter
1 pound assorted wild mushrooms (oyster, cremini and shiitake), coarsely chopped
Salt and pepper, to taste
Cooked grits

Preheat oven to 425°F. Combine thyme and pepper; reserve one tablespoon for mushrooms. Press seasoning mixture evenly onto all surfaces of beef roast. Place roast on rack in shallow roasting pan. Insert ovenproof meat thermometer so tip is centered in thickest part of beef, not resting in fat. Do not add water or cover. Roast in oven 35 to 40 minutes for medium rare; 45 to 50 minutes for medium doneness. Remove roast when meat thermometer registers 135°F for medium rare; 145°F for medium. Transfer roast to carving board; tent loosely with aluminum foil. Let stand 15 to 20 minutes. Meanwhile melt butter in large nonstick skillet over medium heat. Add mushrooms and one tablespoon reserved seasoning; cook and stir about seven minutes or until mushrooms are tender. Season with salt and pepper, to taste. Keep warm. Carve roast into slices. Serve over cooked grits (according to package directions), as desired; top with mushrooms.

Saucy Beef with Baked Eggs

1 pound ground beef (93% lean or leaner)
2 medium jalapeno peppers, finely chopped
2 tablespoons minced garlic
2 tablespoons smoked paprika
1 tablespoon ground cumin
2 15-ounce cans no salt added or regular tomato sauce
6 large eggs
6 slices rustic-style bread, toasted
Fresh cilantro leaves

Preheat oven to 400°F. Heat large ovenproof nonstick skillet over medium heat until hot. Add ground beef, jalapeno peppers, garlic, paprika and cumin; cook eight to ten minutes, breaking beef into small crumbs and stirring occasionally. Stir in tomato sauce; continue to cook three to five minutes or until sauce is slightly reduced, stirring frequently. With back of spoon, make six indentations into sauce. Break one egg into each indentation. Place pan in oven and bake, uncovered, 16 to 17 minutes or until egg whites are completely set and yolk begin to thicken but are not hard. Spoon beef mixture and eggs evenly over toasted bread slices. Garnish with cilantro, as desired.

BBQ “Nachos”

1 pound cooked beef pot roast or brisket
1 package (20-24 ounces) frozen waffle fries
1 16-ounce can baked beans, drained
1/2 cup barbecue sauce
1 cup reduced-fat shredded mozzarella cheese
1/2 cup reduced-fat sour cream (optional)
1 green onion, chopped

Prepare waffle fries according to package directions. Shred beef pot roast with two forks. Combine beef and barbecue sauce in a medium saucepan. Heat beef mixture over medium heat for 10 minutes or until beef is heated through, stirring occasionally. Reduce oven temperature to 350°F. Top waffle fries with beef mixture, beans and cheese. Bake five to seven minutes or until mixture is heated through and cheese is melted. Top mixture with sour cream, if desired. Sprinkle with green onions.

Mediterranean Beef Pitas with Yogurt-Cucumber Sauce

1 1/2 pounds top round steak, cut 1-inch thick
1 1/2 cups nonfat plain Greek or regular yogurt
1 tablespoon minced garlic
1 medium cucumber
Salt and pepper
6 white or whole wheat pita breads
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
1 tablespoon fresh thyme, chopped
1/3 cup halved Kalamata olives
3 tablespoons crumbled feta cheese

Combine yogurt, lemon juice and garlic in medium bowl. Place beef steak and 3/4 cup yogurt mixture in food-safe plastic bag; turn steak to coat. Close bag securely and marinate in refrigerator six hours or as long as overnight. Meanwhile, cut cucumber in half lengthwise; cut one half crosswise into 1/4-inch slices and reserve. Chop remaining cucumber half into 1/4-inch pieces. Add chopped cucumber to remaining yogurt mixture; season with salt, as desired. Cover and refrigerate. Remove steaks from marinade; discard marinade. Place steak on rack of broiler pan so surface of beef is two to three inches from heat. Broil 13 to 18 minutes for medium rare (145°F) doneness, turning once (do not overcook). Carve steak into thin slices. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Spread pitas with hummus. Evenly top with sliced cucumbers, tomatoes and steak slices. Sprinkle with olives and feta cheese. Serve with reserved yogurt mixture.

MDAC Accepting Applications for Federal-State Marketing Improvement Program

By Paige Manning
Director of Marketing & Public Relations - MDAC

Commissioner Cindy Hyde-Smith announced the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce (MDAC) is now accepting FY 2017 proposals for the Federal-State Marketing Improvement Program (FSMIP).

FSMIP is funded by the United States Department of Agriculture and provides matching funds on a competitive basis to state departments of agriculture, state colleges and universities, and other appropriate state agencies. The purpose of the program is to assist in exploring new market opportunities for U.S. food and agricultural products and to encourage research and innovation aimed at improving the efficiency and performance of the marketing system. Eligible agricultural categories include poultry, livestock, dairy and poultry products; food, feed and fiber crops; fish and shellfish; horticulture, viticulture, apiary and forest products; and processed or manufactured products derived from such commodities. FSMIP also accepts proposals pertaining to nutraceuticals, bioenergy, compost, agroforestry products and products made from agricultural residue.

Federal funds awarded through FSMIP projects must be matched dollar-for-dollar by non-federal funds and/or in-kind resources. Funding will not be awarded to projects that solely benefit one individual or one agribusiness. Applications must be received by MDAC by 5:00 p.m. on March 13, 2017. For additional information about this program or to obtain application guidelines, contact Michael Lasseter at (601) 359-1120 or michaelL@mdac.ms.gov or visit the Alerts and Announcements section at www.mdac.ms.gov.

This timber report contains aggregated individual timber sale stumpage data. Many variables, such as raw material demand, mill inventories, buyer competition, quality, topography and weather, play key roles in determining local prices. Pine Sawtimber prices are based upon a 14-inch Diameter-at-Breast-Height (DBH) log size. Pine Chip & Saw prices are based upon a 10-inch DBH log size. The stumpage prices shown here are reprinted with permission from the Timber Owner Market Guide; a bi-monthly publication of Forest2Market (www.forest2market.com).

Mississippi Market Bulletin is published on the 1st and 15th of each month by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce. The Mississippi Market Bulletin is an important way for the Department to disseminate news and information about issues affecting Mississippi's agriculture industry and the Department's operations.

Through its classified advertising section, the Bulletin provides a forum for Mississippi residents to buy and sell agricultural related items while also giving statewide exposure to small farmers who might not normally have the economic resources for such widespread advertising. The Bulletin does not publish commercial or display ads and all items offered for sale must have been produced, raised, grown or operated on the seller’s property. Businesses, corporations, dealerships, brokers or other commercial enterprises are not allowed to advertise in the Mississippi Market Bulletin.

Advertising rules and guidelines have been established for the Mississippi Market Bulletin in order to comply with regulations enforced by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce and to maintain the objectives of the publication. The staff of the Mississippi Market Bulletin reserves the right to edit, revise or reject each ad. Please print or type your ad.

There is a 30-word limit for classified advertisements, this includes: price (on the item you are selling), your city, county and telephone number or name and complete address must be included in the ad if you do not list a telephone number. Ads cannot be held over from one issue to another. You must submit them for each issue.

Out-of-state residents are not eligible to advertise with the following exceptions: Out-of-state ads are allowed in the “Wanting To Buy” category. Out-of-state ads are allowed for individuals owning farm property within the state that is being offered for sale (consisting of 10 acres or more).
Online Auxin Herbicide Training Starts February 13

By Keri Collins Lewis
MSU Extension Service

Agricultural producers interested in purchasing auxin-containing herbicides intended for in-crop use on 2,4-D or dicamba-tolerant crops must complete mandatory online training.

The free, online educational training, offered by the Mississippi State University Extension Service and approved by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce (MDAC), will be available to producers starting February 13. This training will help growers safely maximize the benefits of these recently approved auxin technologies.

The self-paced online training may be accessed 24/7 at http://www.auxintraining.com via most devices, including tablets and personal computers. Producers must achieve a passing score of 70 percent or higher on tests related to each of the six training modules. Topics include off-target movement, tank cleanout, herbicide volatility and label details of name-brand technologies.

After successful completion of the training modules, producers will receive an email verifying proof of training from MDAC. To aid in efficient email notification, individuals completing the training modules should be prepared to provide an email address and their private applicant certificate number during the training registration process. People seeking to purchase auxin-containing herbicides intended for in-crop use on 2,4-D or dicamba-tolerant crops should print the MDAC email and take it with them to a licensed pesticide dealer.

In Mississippi, other conditions placed on the use of these auxin herbicides prohibit producers from applying herbicides in wind speeds in excess of 10 miles per hour. Applicators are required to keep application records. Licensed pesticide dealers are required to keep records pertaining to the sales of these herbicides. As with all pesticides, producers must also adhere to all label requirements specified by federal agencies.

For additional information about the training or access to the training modules, contact the MSU Extension Service at 662-325-2226. For information regarding the verification email or regulations governing auxin herbicides, contact MDAC’s Bureau of Plant Industry at 662-325-3390. The online training modules may be accessed at http://www.auxintraining.com, beginning February 13.

Greenhouse Tomato Course Set for March 7 and 8

By Susan M. Collins-Smith
MSU Extension Service

Greenhouse tomato growers and other interested individuals are invited to attend the 27th annual Mississippi Greenhouse Tomato Short Course March 7 and 8.

Experts with the Mississippi State University Extension Service, the Mississippi Agricultural and Forestry Experiment Station, and Auburn University will present the latest production information. Experienced growers and industry professionals from around the U.S. also will speak.

The short course will be at the Eagle Ridge Conference Center, located at 1500 Raymond Lake Road in Raymond.

The internationally recognized event teaches both production and business aspects of growing greenhouse tomatoes. It attracts participants from the U.S., Canada, the Caribbean and Latin America.

Topics include marketing, alternative crops, alternative heating options, using grafted tomato plants, budgets for greenhouse growers, components of the greenhouse system, greenhouse design and engineering, and using social media for business marketing. A pest management workshop will cover physiological disorders, pest management, diagnosing plant problems, and plant disease identification and control.

Participants also will tour a local, diversified greenhouse vegetable business that produces tomatoes, cucumbers and lettuce.

Exhibitors from across the U.S. and Canada will display and demonstrate their products. Advance short course registration is $200 per person and must be received by February 20. Registration at the door is $225. Credit cards are not accepted at the door. Registration includes coffee, refreshments, lunch both days, Extension publications, and a Greenhouse Tomato Short Course cap.

Advance exhibitor registration is $375 and must be received by February 20. Participants and exhibitors can register on the Greenhouse Tomato Short Course website or print a mail-in registration form at http://greenhousetomato.com.

For more information, visit the Greenhouse Tomato Short Course website or contact Rick Snyder at rick.snyder@msstate.edu or 601-892-3731. Mississippi growers can contact the local MSU Extension Service office.

Commissioner Hyde-Smith Works to Protect Grain Sorghum & Cotton Producers

By Paige Manning
Director of Marketing & Public Relations - MDAC

Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce Cindy Hyde-Smith announced approval by the United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) for the use of sulfometuron-methyl (CAS Reg. No. 946578-99-3) on grain sorghum and cotton in Mississippi. This specific exemption will aid in controlling the sugarcane aphid (Melanaphis sacchari), which is a destructive pest that can cause damage to the grain sorghum crop, and the tarnished plant bug (Lapys lineolaris), which is a destructive pest that can cause damage to the cotton crop.

The registered product receiving this exemption is Transform® WG (50% a.i. sulfonylurea), which is manufactured by Dow AgroSciences. Applications may be made by ground or air in accordance with all label directions. Expiration for this specific exemption will be October 31, 2017.

The Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce’s Bureau of Plant Industry has authority under Section 18 of the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act to obtain an exemption from EPA for a non-labeled use of a pesticide if significant losses of an agricultural commodity are likely and if labeled products are not available or effective.

For additional information, producers may contact the Bureau of Plant Industry at (662) 325-3390 or toll-free at 1-888-257-1285.
